THE GOLDEN YEAR.

"We sleep and wake and sleep, but all things move;
The sun flies forward to his brother sun;
The dark earth follows wheeled in her eclipse;
And human things returning on themselves,
Move onward, leading up the golden year.

"Ah, though the times when some new thought can bud
Are but as posts' seasons when they flower,
Yet sees that daily gain upon the shore
Have ebb and flow conditioning their march,
And slow and sure comes up the golden year.

"When wealth no more shall rest in mounded heaps,
But amil with freer light shall slowly melt
In many streams to fatten lower lands,
And light shall spread, and man be liker man
Through all the season of the golden year.

"Shall eagles not be eagles? wrens be wrens?
If all the world be falcons, what of that?
The wonder of the eagle were the less,
But he not less the eagle. Happy days
Roll onward, leading up the golden year.

"Fly, happy, happy sails, and bear the press.
Fly happy with the mission of the cross;
Knit land to lands, and blowing heaveward
With silks, and fruits, and spices, clear of toil,
Enrich the markets of the golden year.

"But we grow old. Ah! when shall all men's good
Be each man's rule, and universal peace
Lie like a shaft of light across the land,
And like a lane of beams athwart the sea,
Through all the circle of the golden year?"

LETTER FROM THE SEASIDE.

CAPE ISLAND, July 31, 1865.

Mr. Editor—After a few days absence, I am again by the sea-side. Railroad and steamer, last Saturday, brought more than the usual addition to the population, and many a visitor passed the night "looking at the stars," or resting on three chairs in the public room. The parlors were all appropriated to the ladies. The "United States" has a large share of Baltimore patronage, perhaps large the Congress and Columbia this season. It is well kept, the tables abundantly provided, and the attendance most prompt and satisfactory. A sharp appetite is one of the results of sea air and sea-bathing. Hops or balls are of nightly occurrence, commencing at 9 o'clock and continuing till 12.

The ladies do not display the elaborate toilet which renders the saloons at Saratoga and Newport so brilliant, but really the dear creatures look more charming in their simple attire and move about with more sylph-like grace, if with less regal grandeur. A Miss M—, of Baltimore, has sustained the claim of the Monumental city to precedence in beauty. In the surf a Philadelphia Naiad bears away the palm. Her graceful and agile movements, as she dives, or swims or float, attract the attention of the crowd of bathers, who are as much astonished by the boldness as interested by the skill of the accomplished young lady. It would be wise for others to follow an example so conducive to health and genial spirit.

Yesterday the church-goers were favored at the Episcopal Church by a visit from Bishop Odenheimer, who preached to a crowded audience, and announced the interesting fact, that a large Church will be commenced this year, and be ready for divine services early next summer.

At the Roman Catholic Church High Mass was celebrated. An amateur choir of ladies and gentlemen from Philadelphia assisted, and by their reputation as vocalists, attracted a large number of lovers of fine sacred music.

Secretary Seward attended the service at the Episcopal Church, of which he is a member. He is sojourning here with his family, seeking recreation from the exhausting duties of his office, and hoping to have his constitution strengthened by the ocean air. His face is much disfigured by the dreadful gashes received from the assassin Payne. At the conclusion of the service the whole congregation crowded around the distinguished Secretary, expressing their gratification at his presence and inquiring concerning his health.

At 4 P. M. of Sunday, the lawn of the Columbia House was crowded with visitors from all parts of the Island to witness the Sunday School Jubilee. About 400 children had been prepared to unite in this celebration. Several addresses were delivered, and the children united in singing a large number of sacred and patriotic songs, accompanied by Beck's fine band, which had volunteered its aid upon this occasion.

Mr. Seward was present and said a few words to the children, who were delighted to see and to hear so eminent a patriot, and to be assured that he felt an interest in Sunday Schools.

The Government vessels which brought the Secretary to the Cape are now anchored in the Bay, where they will remain until the distinguished visitor is required to return to Washington. To day they steamed out for a fishing excursion, gaily decorated with flags, firing a salute both going and returning as they passed the Club House in which Mr. Seward sojourns.

It will tantalize your citizens who cant get away, to know that it is not hot at the Cape, a pleasant breeze all the day, and a cool air all the night. This, and the exhilarating plunge into the surf every morning, and the charming stroll upon the shore every evening make sea-side life just the thing during the heated season.

Tell our friends to give notice of their coming, especially if they intend to bring their families. The hotels and boarding houses are full and have rooms engaged in advance till the middle of August. SEA SIDE.

LETTER FROM PRINCE GEORGE'S.

[Correspondence of the Baltimore Clipper.]
RAVENSWOOD, PRINCE GEORGE'S COUNTY, }
August 2, 1865. }

The Blessings to Maryland From the Freedom and Dignity of Labor.

If any skeptic about the efficiency of the war's lessons in inculcating loyalty to the Government still persists in his doubt, let him spend a few days in this region and mingle with the folks. The general repute of old Prince George's during the war, I believe, was that of a hot-bed of secession. This particular portion of the county did not quite deserve that stigma. The worst, probably, that could be said about most of those denounced as "Secessionists" was that they did not love "Yankees," as they arbitrarily styled all new comers, and preferred to go on in their own old fashioned ways. They, certainly, in the days of the old contests, had no love for the tire-eaters of the South, the nullifiers, or the baser factions who introduced repudiation of State debts and would have restored the African slave trade.

On the other hand, the better conditioned and more enlightened among my neighbors were, nearly all, Old Line Whigs, committed in open and unqualified hostility against all the doctrines of Calhoun, and against the corrupt practices of the vile adherents of the Southern school of modern Democracy. They had always a real love of the Federal Government, and a pretty strong inclining to have a vigorous Government; nor were they, in the least, disposed to dislike the "decent splendor" of the National authorities. But they did not relish the idea of the Administration of the Federal powers passing away from the slave-holding States. Somehow or other they fancied that their destiny was, forever, mixed up with the destiny of the latter; and that if, when the collision took place, they did not unite with the South, they would be crushed between the upper and nether millstone of the opposing sections—These illusions have gone away forever. And now I am confident that among the uppermost feelings of the families who had been the warmest sympathizers, from family ties and associations, with their "erring brethren," are those of joy and exultation over the fact that Maryland did not go with Virginia. The war has dispelled a thousand dreams, and idle and ignorant fancies; and uncovered more correct views both about the North and the South.

This is a naturally glorious country; and all it has needed to make it vie with Pennsylvania or Ohio, has been the freedom and dignity of labor on the farms, in the fields and in domestic employments. Like the South, generally, our best families have been under the influence of the traditions that the slaveholding aristocracy composed a kind of nobility, which even so great a philosopher as Edmund Burke, in his rich rhetoric, eulogized as the "Corinthian capital of polished States." That brilliant falsetto has had its day. The plain, massive, but simply attractive and sublime Doric, which supports the great social edifice of America, is labor, and the emblems of triumph in the arts and sciences and literature constitute the ornaments that should ever cap its columns!

NEW FANGLED OPPOSITION.

A change has come over the whole spirit of this region.

The opposition to the Government and to Andrew Johnson's administration, is to be found not among those who, during the war, inclined to sympathize with the rebellion, but, I regret to say, among certain professing Union men, who are dissatisfied or disappointed about something which the Administration has done, or something which it has refused to do. This opposition, like that got up about Federal appointments in the cities, is all "for hire and salary," and not for principle! It takes its cues from comparative new comers into Maryland—squatters on the border between the District of Colombia and a very narrow strip of Prince George's or Montgomery counties, adjacent thereto, but who now coolly claim the whole of our ancient and renowned Commonwealth for their own kingdom in the domain of politics, when, ever preference is made on geographical grounds.

THE LOOPHOLES OF RETREAT.

From this pleasant and elevated ground I can look down, to night, on the squabbles of the factions—

"——I hear the tumult and am still!"

A LOOKER ON AND AROUND THE CAPITAL.

[COMMUNICATED.]

Mr. Editor—I presume every producer in the community feels that the Government taxes are high enough; and it was no doubt the wish of those who enacted the laws that no unnecessary hardship should be imposed upon the payers of taxes through the Government agents.

Now the law allows a man ten days within which to pay his taxes, the true meaning of which is that he shall have ten days' notice; that is, that he shall be notified of the amount that Government calls upon him to pay ten days before he will be fined for not paying it. But the first notice he gets now is that he has ten per cent. additional to pay. The complaint of the payer is that the Government agents did not send him the notice before the ten days were out, so that he might have known the amount that was demanded, and saved the fine. The community is well disposed to pay the taxes, especially the loyal part of it, and that same loyal part has its feelings hurt, as well as its pocket, when it has to pay a fine to Government agents for their own neglect of either duty or courtesy, and eventually it reacts up on the Government. PRO BONO PUBLICO.

AFFAIRS IN WASHINGTON COUNTY.—We copy the following items from the Hagerstown Torchlight:

Left Town in a Hurry.—On Saturday afternoon two young bloods named George Shearerer and Claggett Fitzhugh, late of the rebel army, drove into town in a wagon, and stopped at the City Hotel, where they registered their names in large letters, as follows: Major George Shearer, Confederate States Army; Capt. C. Fitzhugh do After taking a drink at the bar they proceeded to call upon their acquaintances of former days, but were speedily waited upon by two members of the vigilance committee and politely informed, that if they consulted their personal safety, they would leave town as soon as possible. Acting on this mild suggestion they took their leave, and have not since been seen.

Painful Accident.—Our esteemed townsman, Mr. William Hall, met with a most painful accident on Tuesday, the 25th ult. He was on his way home from Emmittsburg, driving in an open buggy, when he was overtaken by a shower, near Monterey. To protect himself from the rain, he attempted to hoist an umbrella. A high wind was prevailing, and the umbrella was turned inside out and wrenched from his hand. His horse took fright at this, and began to plunge and kick in the most violent manner. The dash was broken, and Mr. Hall thrown between the single-tree and horse, with the lines wrapped around his body. In this perilous position he was dragged a distance of five rods, his head striking the turnpike at every bound.

Mr. Hall was terribly bruised and otherwise injured, but after his wounds had been hastily dressed, he insisted on coming home. He reached his house at ten o'clock at night, in an exhausted and fainting condition.

ARREST OF TWO COUNTERFEITERS AT THEIR WORK.

The Albany Argus of Tuesday says: "The old Museum building is situated on the corner of Fulton and Pratt streets, Troy. In the building there are a number of rooms let for different purposes. The business in all of these rooms was well known with one exception; and that exception, room No. 22, has for the last few weeks been the object of the detectives' attention. It was known to be rented by a man named Hall, and as the rent was paid punctually, no questions were asked. The windows were darkened with several layers of newspapers, so that the only means of working in the room was by artificial light. On Saturday three officers paid a visit to the room, and after listening and hearing muffled voices, for politeness' sake they gave a few gentle raps at the door.

No answer being given to this, they burst the door in, and found two men, one named 'Major' Hall alias George A. Hartman, and John Maloney. Hartman had two pieces of bank note paper in his hand when arrested. Neither offered any resistance. The officers then made a search and found, besides a great many bank bills, a bottle of very fine green ink, similar to that used by bank note printers.—On an examination of Hartman's portmonnaie, some documents were found which show that he has been employed as a Government detective. This was corroborated by the finding of a star such as is used by Government detectives.

Hartman and Maloney were both taken to jail, and the charge of forgery entered against them On Sunday, according to the usual custom, the Young Men's Christian Association held their prayer meeting in the jail, and as they filed out Maloney filed out also, and that was the last seen of him there. He is about six feet high, sandy hair and complexion, and at the time of his escape wore a pair of white pants. There are, it is understood, to be no more prayer meetings in the jail, as it is attended with too much risk to the safety of the prisoners."

HONESTY COME BY.—The late Mr. Cobden used to tell the following anecdote:—"When in America," said he, "I asked an enthusiastic American lady why her country could not rest satisfied with the immense unoccupied territory it already possessed, but must be ever hankering after the lands of its neighbors; when her somewhat remarkable reply was, 'Oh, the propensity is a very bad one, I admit; but we come honestly by it, for we inherited it from England.'"

A LA VALLANDIGHAM.—Masca and other Rebel emissaries in Europe are returning and making their residence in Canada, "waiting and watching over the border," as Vallandigham did once on a time. Biddell's valuable estate at New Orleans has been confiscated to the Government. Judah P. Benjamin is going to Australia to reside. Breckinridge, when last heard from, was on his way to Spain.

REAL ESTATE.

STATE AGENCY FOR THE DISTRIBUTION OF INFORMATION RELATIVE TO FARMS IN MARYLAND.

MARYLAND FARMS FOR SALE IN EVERY COUNTY,
From $1,000 to $50,000 and Upwards.

The following is a partial list of Farms I have now for sale, comprising some of the most desirable Tracts and Finest Routes in Maryland:

FARM of 181 Acres situated in Howard county, on the county road three miles west of the Relay House, 10 miles from the city of Baltimore. It is approached from the Washington turnpike on the south and from the county road from the west and north. The land is in good condition, twenty-five bushels of wheat per acre and other cereals in proportion, have been raised; has an abundance of pure spring water and is considered one of the healthiest places in the State; has an abundant supply of fruit of all kinds, about 2,500 trees just coming into bearing this season. The orchard of about 6 acres has a large supply of grapes of various kinds; raspberries, Lawton blackberries, gooseberries, currants, strawberries, dwarf pears, &c., &c. There are two streams of pure spring water pass through the place, watering every field one of which supplies a large pond from which the ice house is supplied with ice. The improvements are a stone rough cast dwelling, house 54 by 40 feet with very large back buildings built in the most substantial manner 8 years ago by the then owner for his own occupancy, and no expense having been spared to make it complete in every respect. A wide piazza extends the whole front of the house. The first floor consists of a parlor, sitting room, dining room, library room, large and substantial fire proof safe, and wide hall running through the centre of the house, ante room, large winter and summer kitchens, and wood house on same level. Second floor contains six large chambers in main building, two bed rooms, bath room, &c., in back building; every room except the parlor have large and very convenient closets; hot and cold water throughout the house, bells in each room, also gas pipes throughout the house; a large, dry cellar under the whole house; Chelson's largest size furnace, heats the entire house; cooking range, &c., in kitchen; in short, every convenience usually found in a modern built house. The house stands on an elevated position from which nearly all parts of the farm, and from its roof the city of Baltimore, as well as the surrounding country for many miles, can be seen, and is surrounded by oak, hickory and chestnut trees of large size, as well as a profusion of evergreens. The other improvements consist of an ice house 20 feet square, a new 50 feet by 40 feet ice, winter and summer dairy, one of the best constructed barns in the county, 61 by 50 feet, which is supplied with water, overseer's house, gate house, &c. The barn house and corn crib are of unique construction and considered to be superior.

FARM OF 119 ACRES on Mill Creek, two miles from Annapolis; 110 acres under cultivation, balance in Timber. The soil is rich, and adapted to the growth of grain, fruit and vegetables. Would make a fine truck farm. The improvements are, dwelling house of five rooms, and manager's house,
