THE WEEKLY CLIPPER.

Those who desire a complete synopsis of the news of the week, can get it by a resort to our Weekly Clipper, which makes its appearance punctually this morning, and which can be had at our counter with wrappers for mailing, or without, as may be desired. The particulars concerning the progress of the attempt at laying the Atlantic cable, the causes of its probable failure, with accounts of the disbandment of our forces on the Texas frontier, and other interesting details of news, will challenge attention, whilst as a careful compilation dealing with general topics it will be found to have no superior. It can be procured on the usually reasonable terms, and will be found an excellent paper to send to friends in the country or to those at watering places.

ASSUMPTIONS THAT SHOULD BE STERNLY REBUKED.

According to present appearances, and as a consequence of the slroitness of great traitors on the one hand, and the carelessness of easy-going Unionists on the other—the late broad distinction which existed betwixt patriots and rebels when the very existence of the Government was threatened, is likely to be done away with, entirely; and that criminal intent which waded in blood to the knees for the vilest purposes, will, as matters are tending, be considered rather meritorious than otherwise, whilst the men who defended our lives and all that was valuable besides, will be considered as the ones of all others who were in the wrong,—who were simply dupes in giving life and limb for their country.

And if any one wants proof that this is so, they have only to take a couple of instances which of late go to illustrate this view of the case, in the assumptions of Robert E. Lee and Wade Hampton—Conciliation, forgiveness, as exercised towards mistaken and ignorant men is one thing; toleration of insulting assumption on the part of leading and intelligent traitors is another. When we find men, who, as the Bible expresses it, should for very shame "put their hands on their mouths and their mouths in the dust," at the unutterable woes they have brought on the nation generally and their own section particularly, putting on airs, assuming that they have done their duty, standing on the merits of an attack on free government, the government which nursed them as ingrates into manhood and the power to attempt to stab it to the heart,—when such men, defeated, assume the bearing of true men who have done their duty, it is time to rebuke such audacious pretension; to remind such—that whilst the world stands and patriotism is honored, they can be regarded as only insolent pretenders, who have murdered and starved those who stood in the way of their evil designs. We abhor Wertz, Dick Turner and the other wretched tools of these men; yet we must remember that the atrocities these and other ferocious villains committed, were under the eyes of these very rebel leaders; that at no time, hardly, for years and months that Robert E. Lee, especially, had the sway of the military destinies of the rebel tyranny, could his determination to protect Union prisoners—had he so willed it,—have been disregarded. And yet, day by day, he could, from his luxurious quarters in Richmond, look on the very locality where these heart rending murders were being slowly and fiendishly consummated; whilst not a line is on record to show that he ever expressed any disapproval of such monstrous wickedness. An East India Rajah of the times when hatred of British invasion stimulated to the worst atrocities on the persons of prisoners, might blush to be put upon a par with these sanctimonious and "high toned" specimens of the "chivalry;" and their untold crimes and ineffable meanness in starving helpless men, should be piled mountain high upon their dishonored heads, whenever themselves or their partisans and admirers venture—as they are doing at present—to provoke comparisons. Let them "subside;" creep away into some corner; court some obscurity if they indeed wish for the reconciliation of the sections; and let them daily thank Fortune or Fate, or whatever or whoever controls their destinies—for the Almighty by his Word sanctions none of their past inhuman cruelties—that there is leniency enough somewhere, to keep their necks out of that halter to which they have in the past consigned so many noble defenders of the Union.

But let us look into these evidences a little, beginning with Robert E. Lee, and a report of his expressed views as given by the Petersburg Express. It seems he had applied for "pardon"—not on his own account—O, no! but on account of certain of his dupes. He assumes merit for what he has done; but is it not fortunate that he has not some men to deal with? We quote:

"Had the General considered his own "feelings alone, he would have died sooner "than humble himself and a just cause by a "seeming admission that it was wrong. His "application was one more proof of his "love for his country. There were thou-"sands of high toned young men in the "South who meditated expatriating them-"selves, and who, when asked why they "did not seek for pardon, replied, that "until General Lee had done so they "would not. After a long struggle with "his inclinations, believing that these "young men ought to be saved to the "country whose future they were so well "qualified to adorn, and by participating "in the rights of citizenship, to guide "and shape, the General has done vio-"lence to his own feelings and made the "request. Still he had made no abject "submission, but had accompanied the "petition for pardon with a full statement "of those things which made his past con-"duct seem to him right and proper, and "ha I avowed his unchanging devotion to his "former principles."

Here's a petition for pardon now, if that is a fair abstract of it, about as remarkable as anything else amongst the many extraordinary occurrences in the same line which have set men to wondering of late. No repentance expressed; no regret for the treacherous and criminal part he has acted in causing the destruction of thousands of lives and millions of property, but he makes the appeal for pardon as if in scorn and derision of the Government he expects to grant it. And this is not all. Having—as he assumes—acted quite a meritorious part, we are told—further on—that he "expects to be restored to the "full enjoyment of all the rights of citizenship." That will do. We shall next look, if such "rights" are conceded, to hear of Breckenridge as having indignantly demanded them from over the water, and shall along with that consider Mason, Slidell, Jacob Thompson and George Sanders as injured innocents.

We have alluded to Wade Hampton as to another of these assailants of the Government who expects not only to be "let alone," but to be further confided in as a guide in public affairs down South. He too, takes it for granted that he has acted a most meritorious part; and he dares to speak of Union men, of those who refused to join him in his wicked and murderous attempts to destroy the Government, as those who "skulked in the hour of danger;" as not true men; and lands traitors who have shared with him the "glories" of the rotten and tumbled down confederacy! Now these men were traitors, or they were not. If it is a crime to overthrow the Government, then verily were they of the guiltiest; and they should be thankful that the blood they have shed in torrents has not been already visited upon them. And for a man like this, who for months and years circled round and round the loathsome prison-pens where true patriots were kept by his aid to starve and die by hunger and freezing, to be tolerated, nay, to be lauded for assumptions like these, is a deadly wrong to every Union soldier who went out to battle to save the country. The Government should rebuke it; should sternly repress it; for let these sentiments gain currency a little further, and that monstrosity might not be hard to realize,—the candidacy of Robert E. Lee for the Presidency of the United States!

Finally, we insist that it is high time that the Government at Washington took active steps to fix conclusively the status of the great traitors it has at its disposal. Theoretically, there is a crime known to the Constitution as "Treason!" But so long as only petty traitors and assailants of it are made amenable to the specified penalty; so long as the men we have indicated, with scores of others, flout the Unionism which has made such sacrifices to save the country, so long will patriotism seem at a discount, and the best interests of the nation be in peril. An opposition is being created by all this, that can be considered no trifling matter, as things look now; and it is for the Government therefore, to consider what is due to itself in maintaining its position in the respect and affections of the people who are to be depended on at last as its sturdy defenders against all factious assaults.

HOMŒOPATHIC MEDICINES.

HUMPHREY'S HOMŒOPATHIC SPECIFICS had their origin in a great public want—medicines for all the needs of life. Curatives that father, mother, nurse or traveler, could always have by them, and always rely upon—as simple that mistake can not be made in the selection—so harmless that all may use them with impunity—and so efficient that all may rely upon them with safety. Such they have proved. Thousands of families use them daily for all the ills and ailments of every day life, and rarely are seriously sick, or have need to call a physician.

Thousands, with some single specifics have cured themselves of serious chronic diseases of years standing, and upon which they have spent hundreds in vain, and among the million who use them, none question their purity or efficacy.

PILLS THAT ARE PERFECT.

There are many good pills in the world, we hope, for the sake of humanity, but the pills that are really "perfect" because they are aperient, tonic, laxative, stimulant, counter-irritant, sudorific, and alterative at the same time, are Radway's Regulating Pills, sold everywhere, and for only 25 cents a box. With these rare pills in your house, you can do without purging by means of other pills or powders. You can do without salts, seidlitz, castor oil, citrate of magnesia, senna and manna, and so on. You want none of these. Radway's Regulating Pills are a substitute for the whole of them, and, what is better, may be taken with safety and comfort by the most delicate woman as well as the robust man. They are the only vegetable preparation existing which will answer the place of calomel, regulating the action of the liver, without making you a live-long victim to the use of mercury or blue pill. They open the bowels in a proper and wholesome manner, being composed of the extracts of suitable medicaments. They do not purge violently, like the drastic pills of aloes or Croton or Harlem Oil, or elaterium, by irritating the coats of the intestines. They are wrought into the "perfect" pill of the age, and when taken keep all the secretions in a healthy condition, compel all the organs to do their duty with regularity, purify the blood, and secure that inestimable blessing, sound health. There is nothing like Radway's Regulating Pills for the cure of all disorders of the stomach, liver, bowels, diseases and bladder; for nervous diseases, headache, costiveness, indigestion, bilious fever, piles and all derangements of the internal viscera. For 25 cents a box you have in those pills a panacea for some of the most painful and dangerous of all diseases. Sold by Druggists.

N. B.—Dr. Radway's pills are elegantly coated with gum, are free from taste or smell, and peculiarly adapted for the use of all those averse to taking pills. A child can swallow them with ease; they are mild, soothing and healing in their operation, they purge disease from nightly from the system. Every family should keep them in the house.

IF YOUR FOOD OPPRESSES YOU, and you are troubled with a bad stomach and costiveness, a relief is at hand in Tarrant's Effervescent Seltzer Aperient. Testimonials of the highest character on each bottle.

Sold by all druggists. jy30-2w

Sold by Seth S. Hance, 108 Baltimore st., and Druggists everywhere. Ask for Dr. Strickland's Anti-Cholera Mixture.

TWO BAD CASES OF PILES CURED BY DR. STRICKLANDS PILE REMEDY.—Mr Glass of Janesville, Wisconsin, writes for the benefit of all who suffer with the Piles, that he has been troubled for eight years with an aggravated case of Piles, and his brother was discharged from the army as incurable, (he being quite paralyzed with the Piles.) Both these distressing cases were cured with one bottle of Dr. Strickland's Pile Remedy. The recommendation of these gentlemen, beside the many testimonials received by Dr. Strickland, ought to convince those suffering, that the most aggravated chronic cases of Piles are cured by Dr. Strickland's Pile Remedy. It is sold by Seth S. Hance, 108 Baltimore st., and Druggists everywhere.
