

Eques" which prompts these lies abroad. Within two days he has given us extracts from German Gazettes, and this day he presents an anonymous letter from Heidelberg, and to give it the more credit, he assures it to be an official bulletin from Clairfont.

The letter is of the 19th and 20th, but so full of nonsense, ignorance and contradiction, that none but an emigrant could have dictated it.

At one time the foolish fellow speaks of the bridge of Manheim being broken by the French themselves, by which they would destroy the only means of communication with the centre of the army; at another time it is the Austrians who destroyed the bridge by launching into the stream some timber which the French, a few leagues higher up, had thrown into the Rhine.

The silly elf seems not to know what part of the world Manheim is situated in, and much less, that by the situation and length of that town, the French, if they would withdraw, might be out of the reach of the Austrians.

PITTSBURG, January 2.

A party who had been out surveying lands near the Scioto, have returned: one of the gentlemen reports, that during the time he was there, he had frequent intercourse with hunting parties of Indians, who treated him with great friendship, and with the best their camp could afford. He supposes there must have been upwards of 200 warriors in that quarter.

We learn by a gentleman from Greenville, that general Wayne had returned to that place from the Lakes; and that he had built three garrisons in advance of the former out posts. It is still rumoured that the army will winter on the banks of the Ohio.

AUGUSTA, December 5.

A gentleman just arrived from St. Mary's has favoured us with the following intelligence: That on the 21st of October last, 300 men of land forces, and three armed vessels, under the command of colonel Howard of the Spanish forces, moved up the St. Mary with intention to invest or dislodge general Clark from his camp in East-Florida; whilst captain Fauche, with a detachment of his troop of militia dragoons, was marching up said river, on the Georgia side, to prevent the refugees from rallying or forming a camp on the territory of the United States:—But on their arrival at and opposite Temple, they learned that general Clark's men had dispersed, and the general himself given over the enterprise. It is supposed in consequence of the peace between France and Spain.—Colonel Howard and captain Fauche had a friendly intercourse during their continuance at and opposite Temple, and the Spanish officers seemed well pleased with the measures adopted by the governor of Georgia.

We hear from good authority, that on the 6th ult. two Indians, one named George, a Creek, and son of the Hallowing king, and the other his uncle, a Cherokee, were treacherously murdered at Fort Washington, Franklin county, by two of the soldiers who were enlisted for the defence of this state.

CHARLESTON, December 3.

Two ladies the daughters of the late comte de Grasse, came passengers in the barque William, from Salem.

By a gentleman who arrived on Sunday from the Havana, we are informed, that the Fierme, a 74 gun ship, and a frigate, which the chevalier Mavo and some other French officers kept possession of in the name of the king of France in the year 1793, when the disturbances broke out in the West-Indies, are now in that harbour and are repairing to be delivered up to the republic; the officers and crews, he understood were in pursuance of an article of the treaty between France and Spain, also to be delivered up.

ALEXANDRIA, January 9.

Yesterday presented a scene which for savage desperation hardly has its parallel. Between 5 and 6 o'clock in the morning the family of Messrs. Korn and Wisemiller was alarmed with the cries of murder in the upper story of their dwelling, but before those who were up in the house had more than half way ascended to the apartment from whence the cries issued; they were met by a negro woman who had but just breath to make them understand that her husband had attempted her life, and pointing to her throat, where there was then a razor sticking, fell dead at their feet—to complete the dreadful catastrophe; the perpetrator, immediately on the woman's getting out of the room, threw himself head foremost, from the garret window of a three story house to the pavement, putting a period to a life, the termination of which exhibited a phrenzy not to be accounted for, and a spectacle too horrid for description. The parties were upwards of 60 years of age.

BALTIMORE, January 19.

On Sunday arrived the brig Dispatch, capt. D. Anderson, from Jeremie, which he left on the 25th of December, at which time the inhabitants were under arms, expecting that evening to be attacked by the brigands. None of the British armament, that he could hear of, had arrived in any part of the West-Indies, but from the accounts which had been received, were daily looked for.

Mr. Farran, who arrived in the brig John, on Sunday, from Berbice, informs that the negroes employed by the British to act as pioneers to the expected forces, had been disbanded; a circumstance which had originated a report that the West-India expedition was given up; that he was at St. Bartholomew's on the 23d ult. when sugar was selling there and at St. Thomas's at 12 dollars per barrel; coffee 16 1/2d. per lb.—and that he was in sight of St. Vincent's two days, and could easily see the Caribbean and French camp, at the distance of about two cannon shot from the British, the latter of which, as he was informed by the lieutenant of a British ship of war who boarded him, consisted of about 3000; skirmishes took place frequently; but both parties were afraid to attempt any thing decisive.

RAN away, on the 11th of September last, a small negro man named JERRY, about five feet five or six inches high, appears to be religious and about thirty years of age, of a yellowish complexion, has lost some of his foreteeth, and has some warts on his belly, a round face, a tolerable flat nose, a broad mouth, short neck, small legs, and sometimes a stoppage in his speech, he undertands plantation business, is a shoemaker, and knows something of carpenters work; it is uncertain what cloaths he has with him; it is likely he has changed his name, and may pass for a free man, or has a forged pass and will attempt to go to Baltimore or George-town, or escape to Pennsylvania.
