

ment were sufficient—that they should be paid as these acts directed, unless when urgent occasions prevented it—and that every encouragement would be given to volunteers as well as to seamen in general—to the 6th, they said that that must be the effect of his majesty's clemency alone; and concluded with informing them of his majesty's pardon, and a recommendation to the officers to bury in oblivion all that had passed.

After admiral Buckner had delivered the foregoing letter to the delegates of the fleet, they were allowed only ten minutes to return an answer; in place of doing which, they took to their boats, went into the harbour, and brought out all the gun-boats lying there to the Great Nore; they then, as they say, to show their independence, fired at the fort of Sheerness. The delegates then sent for answer, "that nothing could be settled till three of the lords of the admiralty came down to Sheerness."

Two days after, on the 24th, they received a letter from admiral Buckner, repeating the offer of pardon, telling them that the admiralty had refused to hold a board at Sheerness; and that they did not mean to encourage a repetition of demands by a further concession—and expressed a hope that they would avail themselves of his majesty's pardon, rather than expose themselves to those consequences which would follow.

An answer, signed Peter Parker, president, was sent on shore, declaring their determination not to come to any accommodation, until the lords of the admiralty appear at the Nore, and redress their grievances.

The last letter from Sheerness, brings the pleasing intelligence of the probability of the disturbances at the Nore soon being at an end. The delegates had specified their wants, which were now reduced to an advance of two months pay, to purchase cloaths, and his majesty's pardon. Commissioner Hartwell undertook, if the sailors should be all agreed as to their request, to proceed to London with their petition, and he expressed himself not doubtful of obtaining for them the pardon which they solicited.

BALTIMORE, August 4.

Most agreeable—if true.

From the NORFOLK HERALD of July 29.

Yesterday arrived the schooner William, captain Linnel, from Grenada, which place he left the 4th of July, in company with the schooner Nancy, Palmer, of and from New-London. On the 9th inst. while in company with the above schooner, about 6 leagues E. of St. Croix, was brought to by two French privateers, which had left Guadaloupe the day before on a cruise—they sent their boats along side the two schooners, and carried the captains, with their papers and letters, on board the privateers; after examining them, they told them that they had particular orders not to stop or disturb any American vessels, and were very sorry they had put them out of their course, and treated them with every civility. One of the French sailors that came on board the William had taken a small pig, and was carrying it away, but the captain of the privateer ordered him to return it, and threatened to punish him severely if he did the like again. On searching the William, they found 600 dollars which the mate had in his care; on which they observed that there was no need to hide it, as they should take nothing without it appeared to be English property. One of the privateers was a sloop or cutter, mounting fourteen 6 pounders and 120 men; the other was a ship of twenty-two 6's and 191 men. They informed they were cruising for the English convoy that was to leave the West-Indies by the 24th inst. While captain Linnel was on board the cutter, she carried away her main-boom and bore away for Porto-Rico.

A respectable merchant of this city received a letter from Philadelphia by this day's mail, enclosing a handbill from the office of the Philadelphia Gazette, which he has obligingly favoured us with. The following are its contents:—

BROWN'S GAZETTE, EXTRA.

This evening arrived the ship America, captain Ewing, from Hamburg.

Captain Ewing failed on the 13th June. On the 15th passed through admiral Duncan's fleet of 18 sail of the line, in a state of perfect organization and obedience—An officer of the fleet informed captain Ewing, that Mr. PITT had been dismissed from office, and that all disturbances on board the British flag had ceased.

Off Dover, captain Ewing was boarded by a boat from the shore, the master of which corroborated the foregoing intelligence.

Captain Ewing informs, that an immediate peace was expected at Hamburg, between France and England.

To the VOTERS OF ANNE-ARUNDEL COUNTY.

GENTLEMEN,

AS the time for electing representatives to the next General Assembly is not far distant, I feel it my duty thus to give public notice, that I do not intend to be a candidate on the occasion. Having met with your confidence and support at the four last elections, and having no reason to suppose that I should not again experience the same favour, it is with great reluctance I am obliged to decline so honourable an appointment—but a variety of circumstances, entirely of a private nature, and such as need not be here set forth, compel me to request you on this occasion to substitute some one else in my stead. Doubtless several candidates will offer themselves and be solicitous of the office, and, probably, some of them with qualifications vastly superior to any I can boast of, in which case the county will derive advantage from my resignation. Accept, gentlemen, a tender of my sincere thanks and gratitude for the flattering distinction heretofore conferred on me, and be assured that the prosperity and welfare of the citizens of Anne-Arundel county will ever be a favourite wish of my heart.

I am, gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
HORATIO RIDOUT.
