

Coxe, who being first duly sworn, did declare and say, that in the evening of the 22d September, 1800; they were in company with the rev. Mr. And. Steele, of the parish of St. Pauls, in South-Carolina, and minister of the Presbyterian Church in that district, that he stated to and before them various matters and things in manner, form and substance, as is by him stated under his proper signature, in the letter directed, "Tench Coxe, Esq;" hereunto annexed, relative to the conversation of the said Mr. Steele, with the rev. Dr. Dana, of New-Haven, Connecticut; concerning the declarations of Mr. Adams, now president of the United States; that the rev. Mr. Steele, did say, that he would reduce his information to writing, and furnish it in that form the next day; that he also said that he was present when a messenger arrived from some citizens of Hartford, (Connecticut) to Dr. Dana, to inquire and ascertain whether Mr. Adams had really made the declaration stated in the last lines of the letter, viz. "We shall never have liberty or happiness in this country, until our first magistrate is hereditary," and that Doctor Dana in his hearing, did desire the messenger to assure the gentlemen at Hartford, that Mr. Adams did make that declaration to him the said Dr. Dana. Two of the deponents, William Barton and Tench Coxe, further say, that the name of the writer of the annexed letter was by the said writer requested to be kept out of the newspapers, and they all declare that he appeared by all he said, to make the communication from a sense of duty to his country. Mr. Steele, also said that Dr. Dana is the father of Mr. Dana, a Connecticut member of congress, and that the doctor is a Federalist.

Also personally appeared before me, William Bausman, Esq; one of the justices, &c. the undersigned William Dickson, of Lancaster, printer, who did on his affirmation declare, that the original letter of the rev. Mr. Steele; hereunto annexed, was delivered to him by the said Mr. Steele in the morning of the twenty-third of September, instant, and that he preached lately in the Presbyterian Church in Lancaster, in consequence of an introduction of him to some of the elders by Dr. Perkins of Connecticut, that the said Mr. Steele, had mentioned to him, before the delivery of the letter, the declarations therein subscribed to Mr. Adams, and that he desired the letter, which was unsealed to be delivered to Mr. Coxe.

Mr. Barton is prothonotary of Lancaster county; Mr. Dickson is one of the elders of the Presbyterian Church in the borough of Lancaster; and Mr. Coxe, secretary of the land office of Pennsylvania; all respectable characters.

That Mr. Adams uttered the sentiment that "we shall never have liberty or happiness in this country until our first magistrate is hereditary" no man can doubt who will freely exercise his reason.—This is an electioneering manœuvre. The information is from a source so respectable that it must be believed by every candid man.—

It may be material to remark that Mr. Adams, several years ago, uttered a similar sentiment in the chamber of the senate in Philadelphia. He there declared, in the presence of two of the senators from New-England and Virginia, that "he hoped, or expected, to see the time when one of these senators, and his friend, would be convinced, that the people of America could not be happy without an hereditary chief magistrate, and a seat that should be hereditary, or for life."—Mr. Taylor, the senator from Virginia, alluded to, gave me this information at Richmond in the year 1796; and I have lately obtained authority from Mr. Langdon, another senator alluded to, through a friend, to the same effect. He writes, that Mr. Adams did make the declaration in the senate chamber in the presence of Mr. Taylor and himself.—

If then it be true, that a formal and regular report was made in the year 1791, by the lords of the British privy council, to the king of Great-Britain, on the American politics, government and trade; in which those lords expressly declare, "that a party in favour of Great Britain was formed in America" which no man can doubt:—If there is a strong party in our government devoted to the interest of Britain, and wishing to establish monarchy here; which every well informed man believes;—and if the chief magistrate of the nation has declared, that "we shall never have liberty or happiness in this country until our first magistrate is hereditary," of which we have the most unequivocal testimony;—every true American must concur in the opinion, that it is necessary that the republican energy of America should be exerted to counteract and annihilate the influence of these parties, and to prevent the re-election of a man who is an advocate for hereditary government, or every thing valuable acquired by the revolution may be lost for ever.

Mr. HYDEN,
Dentist,

RESPECTFULLY informs the ladies and gentlemen of Annapolis, that he makes and fixes natural and artificial teeth in the newest manner, without drawing the old stumps or giving pain; and on the most reasonable terms—Cleans and restores teeth to their native whiteness, or fills defective teeth so as to prevent their further decay—Removes the blackness if ever so long contracted, and the tartar so injurious to teeth; and performs every necessary operation on the teeth and gums, in which he will engage to give satisfaction or no pay will be required.

He also makes and sells a much approved coral tooth powder, for cleaning and preserving the teeth; and antiscorbutic elixir for the scurvy on the gums.

As the time of his residence in this city will depend on the prevailing sickness in Baltimore, those who wish for his assistance are requested to call in season, where operations on the teeth and gums shall be treated with every mark of delicacy and tenderness.

Any person wishing to be waited on at their place of abode, will please to send a note to his lodgings at Mr. Pzaco's, Fleet-street.
