From the National Intelligencer of June 27. Two important decisions have been made in the H. of Representatives yesterday, the one a refusal to agree to any repeal or modification of the non-importation-the other, a postponement until the next session of the hills for laying the war taxes. It appeared to be the opinion of those who voted for this postponement that it would not be detrimental to the public service, in as much as the taxes were not necessary for the service of the present year, and could be considered at the next session in time to put them in ope-ration for the service of the ensuing year. This latter decision will have the effect to shorten the present session, which we are induced to believe will not extend beyond the next week. It is thought, that an act will pass before adjournment for re-assembling Congress in the late and of October or beginning of Novemb.

THE STATE OF THE CITY. "Under an impression that the citizens who assembled yesterday at the mayor's office, would have made a statement somewhat like official, of the transactions of Monday evening, we postponed giving an account of that very extraordinary and alarming proceeding.

It is our painful duty to record, that on Monday last, between eight and nine o'clock in the evening, a number of persons, citizens of Baltimore, armed with axes, hooks and other instruments of destruction, assembled at the office of the Federal Republican in Gay-street, a wooden building belonging to Mr. Robert Oliver, of this city, broke into the house, threw the types, printing presses, paper, &c. into the street, and destroyed them and levelled the house to its foundation. One of the persons thus engaged, while in the act of knocking out a window, fell with it into the street, and was killed on the spot. The mayor of the city, the judge of Baltimore county court, the judge of the court of oyer and terminer, and several magistrates and military officers were present, and witnessed this dreadful outrage, which their peaceful efforts were insufficient to prevent, although it was generally known during the preceding day that the attack was The following is a list of laws passed by the General Assembly of this state at June sesmeditated.

Capt. Lester of the brig Indian Chief, arrived at this port last evening from Madeira, and informed us that on the 18th instant he spoke the homeward bound English fleet from Jamaica, under convoy of a frigate and brig of war, consisting of one hundred sail of Merchantmen, and that on Tuesday last, capt. The Commodore immediately shaped his course for the English fleet under a crowd of sail, with a fair wind.
