

In Council,

Annapolis, Jan. 24, 1814.
Previous to the appointment of contractors for the several counties in this State, the Executive are desirous of receiving proposals from such persons as may be disposed to furnish supplies for the Militia. Each contractor is to furnish supplies for the county for which he is appointed. Every ration is to consist of one pound and a fourth of a pound of beef, or three quarters of a pound of pork; eighteen ounces of bread or flour; one gill of rum, whiskey or brandy; and two quarts of salt, four quarts of vinegar, four pounds of soap, and one pound and a half of candles, to every hundred of rations. Forage for cavalry, 14 lb. hay, 3 gallons of oats, or 2 gallons of corn. It is expected that those who will engage to provide the same, will forward their terms as soon as possible to the clerk of the council. Bond and security will be required for faithful performance of their duties.
By order,

PROPOSALS BY GEORGE SHAW.

For Printing by Subscription, a NEW WORK, ENTITLED, THE OFFICE AND DUTY OF A JUSTICE OF THE PEACE.

Illustrated by a variety of useful Precedents. By J. E. HALL, Esq. Counsellor at Law, and Professor of Rhetoric and Belles Lettres in the University of Maryland.

The want of a guide in the execution of the highly important duties of a Magistrate has long been felt. At the instance of several intelligent gentlemen in the commission, and members of the bar, the present editor has been induced to undertake the task of supplying such a work. He has adopted the judicious plan of Dr. Burn's Justice of the Peace as a model. In this work it will be collected, the crime is first defined; the decisions of courts of justice are next collected, interspersed with such statutory regulations as have been established by parliament; and the section is concluded with such precedents as the particular subject requires. So in the present work, the editor, after defining the crime, and collecting a few leading cases from the best authorities, has added such provisions as were to be found in the acts of congress and the laws of Maryland. It is expected that the work will be comprized in an octavo volume of six or seven hundred pages. The price shall not exceed five dollars. It will be put to press when there is a sufficient subscription to pay the expense of publication. Gentlemen who wish to have the book may address the subscriber. Those who purchase, a number of copies for the purpose of selling again, will be allowed a liberal discount.
GEORGE SHAW, Annapolis. Jan. 26, 1814.

PROPOSALS

For publishing in the City of Baltimore, A NEWSPAPER, TO BE ENTITLED, THE

Baltimore Correspondent,

AND Merchants, Manufacturers & Mechanics DAILY ADVERTISER.

BY THOMAS HOWARD HILL, PRINTER. The proposed paper will be published daily (at noon) in order to circulate the earliest intelligence which may be received by the mails. It is proper that the intended editor should declare his intentions as to the manner in which he means to conduct the publication of "The Baltimore Correspondent." He pledges himself that it shall be held abstract from all party, and be conducted upon the most impartial principles—that it shall comprize the following articles, viz: all foreign and domestic news of the day; a regular detail of naval and military events; a correct and regular journal of the proceedings of the national legislature as also those of the different states, and all documents that may be submitted to them for consideration. And in the absence of the above general named intelligence, he will insert useful notices of the progress of commerce, (internal and external,) of manufactures, and of mechanics, as indeed it is solely devoted to their advancement. A price current (corrected weekly) will be inserted upon the most convenient day.

The utility of such a newspaper at the present time is most certainly obvious to those acquainted with the time of the arrival of the great mail; and as it is the wish of the editor to make the contemplated paper as useful as possible, he promises to use his utmost exertions in collecting intelligence that may be useful and interesting to those who may favor him with their support.

TERMS. "The Baltimore Correspondent" will be printed on a half sheet super royal, at five dollars per annum, payable half yearly in advance—the paper for the country at three dollars in advance. Advertisements to be inserted on the usual terms unless otherwise contracted for by the year. Arrangements are now making to anticipate news by letter.
January 12, 1814.

20 Dollars Reward.

Runaway from the subscriber, on Tuesday the 4th inst. a negro man by the name of CHARLES, formerly the property of Mr. Gassaway Rawlings. He is a stout able fellow, about 30 years of age, 5 feet 10 or 11 inches high, stutters very much when talking, he has a wife at Mr. William Stewart's quarter, Fingall. His clothing when he went off was a round over jacket, made of green half thick, given to him this fall, a spotted avandown under jacket much worn, white filled country cloth trousers a good deal mended, coarse shoes & yarn stockings, a white hat with a broad brim; as he has other clothing he may change to suit his purpose. Charles is an old offender; in the life time of his former master he often took these trips, and when away he got acquainted on Elk-Ridge & Baltimore; he was taken up some years ago and confined in Frederick goal; he has a brother in George Town, living with Mr. Thomas Gault. It is supposed he may endeavor to get to some of the above places, and pass as a free man. Whoever takes up the said fellow, and delivers him to me, or confines him in any goal so that I get him again, shall receive the above reward. All persons are forbid harbouring the said fellow at their peril.

New Novel,

Just received and for Sale by GEORGE SHAW, Price in boards one dollar.

SAINTELLIE, Or, the Victim to the Arts and Sciences, AND HORTENSE, Or, the Victim to Novelty and Travel.

A novel, in two volumes, translated from the French of Mad. Genlis— BY A. HARRISON.

To which is prefixed, a Tale of the celebrated M. FOUQUAN—Entitled, Claudine, or the Savoyarde.

"Perhaps it would be saying enough, to recommend this work to the American reader, to announce it as the production of the prolific mind of Madam Genlis, whose writings, by the mere buoyancy of genius, maintain a distinguished post at the summit of French literature. It is not, however, by the charms of style, or that correct delineation of character, so manifest in the writings of this lady, that they have thus found their way to public admiration; it is by the fine precepts of morality which they inculcate, the art of the conduct of a novel subservient to useful and instructive aim, and of imparting to the whole that fervid glow of moral enthusiasm, which sets off in such high relief the gross and hideous aspect of vice."

LEGISLATURE OF MASSACHUSETTS.

Answer of the Honourable House to his Excellency's Speech. My I please your Excellency, The House of representatives sincerely condole with your excellency in the loss which the Commonwealth has sustained, by the death of late Chief Justice, whose private character was adorned by all the virtues of domestic life, and whose genius and erudition displayed the performance of his official duties, form a distinguished era in the Jurisprudence of Massachusetts.

The people of this commonwealth by the reasonable assertion of their right to investigate political measures, have checked a disposition manifested in some portions of our country, to stifle fair inquiry, suppress the freedom of speech of the press, and thus to protect the evils of misgovernment, screen the errors or vices of a ruling party from exposure.

We are glad to be informed that a portion of the arms which this State is entitled to receive from the national government has at length been supplied, and shall inquire into causes of the neglect which has vented the state from receiving whole number intended for it.

While the privations and burthen of a war, deemed by the great nation of our fellow-citizens to be both wicked and unjust, and still more numerous class, war and inexpedient, have been sustained with a patient respect for constitutional principles; its origin not to be forgotten—it should the contrary, be held in perpetual remembrance, as a warning once deluded people, against yielding to the dominion of passion, which a weak or wicked administration may take advantage to inflict them in the deepest national calamity.

The British orders in council the casual abuses arising from practice of impressment, have not to be considered by impartial as the causes of the present These were probably, mere pretexts for precipitating the nation into the gulf of a fatal policy, to the of which its authors had been expelled by their own passions. real causes of the war, must be traced to the first systematic abandonment of the policy of Annapolis, and the friends and members of the constitution; to cable animosity against those and their universal exclusion all concern in the government country. To the influence of less foreigners over the press, deliberations of the national government in all its branches.—To the loss of commercial states, their prosperity, fear of their power, contempt for their pursuit, ignorance of their true character, importance—to the cupidities of states for the wilderness, and for the miserable aborigines, a violent passion for conquest, an infatuated persuasion that bearing provinces were enemies of our institutions, and would come an easy prey to the arms of raw and boastful soldiers; and above all to delusory mates of the relative power sources of France and Great-Britain, and a determined hostility the latter, as the firmest party power. These will be viewed by the present generation as posterity as the sources of evils; and the pretence of securing the freedom of commerce of seamen, by regulations compel both merchant and renounce the ocean and the feignsions will be regarded as the est delusion ever attempted ing partly upon the credulity intelligent people.

The recent act of the national government interdicting commerce with the British colonies, is a measure which will be viewed by posterity as the source of evils; and the pretence of securing the freedom of commerce of seamen, by regulations compel both merchant and renounce the ocean and the feignsions will be regarded as the est delusion ever attempted ing partly upon the credulity intelligent people.
