

worthy the nation's confidence... political errors, we shall not be... last to pay him that respect which is due his character—as president.

For the Maryland Gazette.

What have we gained by the war? This is a question which many people ask, and every body is unable to answer. It is certain, however, that we have not gained the Canada, nor yet the Indian lands, nor have we gained free trade and our rights. Every thing which we pretended to be fighting has been given up, and the joy of the nation at the return of a peace, even upon such terms, clearly proves, that this war, which was said to be very popular, was in truth very much opposed to their wishes.

It has been for years the opinion of many of our good people, that it was a part of our religious duty, to hate and abhor the English nation, and indeed to abuse the people of that country heartily and sincerely; and to wish all manner of evil to them, was the test of patriotism, so much so that he was distinguished for his hatred of them was worthy of trust and confidence, though he might be utterly destitute of all other merit.

PROVINCIAL PARLIAMENT OF LOWER CANADA. HOUSE OF ASSEMBLY.

Wednesday, March 1.—A message from his Excellency the Governor in Chief, acquainting the House of the Ratification of a Treaty of Peace between His Majesty and the United States of America, in consequence of which an humble address was presented to His Excellency the Governor in Chief, thanking him for his said message; which message was referred to a Committee of the whole house.

Kingston, March 5.—Yesterday an elegant fête was given on board his Majesty's Ship St. Lawrence, by the officers of the wardroom to the party of Kingston and its vicinity.

The entertainment commenced at one o'clock with an exhibition of fireworks and dancing. About eight o'clock, when upwards of ninety ladies and gentlemen descended to the middle deck at this beautiful spot, fitted up in an appropriate manner, and partook of a sumptuous dinner, after which dancing recommenced, and with the assistance of a late supper kept up the brilliant liveliness of their (to us) judicious novel scene of festivity to an early hour the next morning, when all retired highly gratified with the hilarity of the occasion and the polite attentions of the entertainers.

We understand a superb entertainment will soon be given by the inhabitants to the officers of the Navy.

By his Excellency Sir George Prevost, Baronet, Captain General and Governor in Chief in and over the Provinces of Lower Canada, Upper Canada, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, and their several dependencies, Vice Admiral of the same, Lieutenant General and Commander of all his Majesty's forces in the said provinces of Lower Canada, and Upper Canada, and New Brunswick, and their several dependencies, and in the islands of Newfoundland, Prince Edward, Cape Breton and Bermuda, &c. &c. &c.

A PROCLAMATION.

Whereas a Treaty of Peace and Amity between His Britannic Majesty and the United States of America, was signed at Ghent, on the 24th day of December last, by Plenipotentiaries respectively appointed for that purpose, and that said Treaty having been duly ratified and confirmed as well by His R. H. the Prince Regent, for and on the behalf of his Majesty, as the President of the United States of America by and with the advice and consent of the Senate; and the signing and ratification of such treaty as aforesaid, having been officially communicated to me, and also the Exchange of Ratified Copies thereof, between Anthony St. John Baker, Esq. the American Secretary of State, in the behalf of the Government of the said United States, at Washington, on the 17th day of February last.

AFRICAN SLAVES.

All the slaves captured on the coast of Africa by our cruisers, must be carried into the colony of Sierra Leone. The mode of disposing of them on their arrival reflects great honour on the agents of this country. Those who do not enter the army or navy are placed in villages, according to their respective countries, and have lands allotted to them. Eight villages have been actually formed of these people. The houses are built according to the mode practised in their respective countries, and great progress has been made in cultivating their lands. There are thus settled no less than 2000 captured Negroes, of whom 800 are children and, in consequence of their juvenile ignorance, they are under the instruction of proper school-masters & mistresses, who have been sent for that purpose from this country, and will receive the further assistance of the Blacks Boys, who also lately sailed from London, after being qualified as teachers under the British System of Education in the Borough School; there is, therefore, every prospect that these individuals will soon become a most important part of the population of that infant colony; & that under heaven, great blessings will be derived from their education, religious instruction and moral improvement. Many of the inhabitants of these villages have already made great advances in civilization and have become useful mechanics.

GENERAL MOREAU.

On the 4th November, a grand funeral service was celebrated at Dresden in commemoration of Gen. Moreau. Prince Regent, all the authorities, and the Russian and Saxon troops, assisted on the solemn occasion. At each corner of the temporary tent, a soldier in full uniform appeared, lowering the colours of Austria, Russia, England, and Prussia. At the end of the religious ceremonies, a procession took place to the spot where General Moreau was mortally wounded on the 27th of August, and where a military monument is erected. The urn containing his two amputated legs was carried by Saxon grenadiers, escorted by several detachments from the garrison. These troops formed a hollow square about the monument, which is formed of one block of granite; surrounded by poplars. After a consecration of the monument by the clerical part of the procession, the box was deposited therein; and repeated salvos of artillery and small arms terminated this affecting funeral ceremony.

COMMUNICATION.

As the drinking of spirituous liquors is in a great degree the ruin of many of our inhabitants, (particularly our young men) I would advise those who frequent Taverns and Ale Houses to refrain from this evil practice. The only way to attain this object, is to keep clear of bad company, which is a very easy task to perform, if you wish to avoid it. By associating with those addicted to drinking we are imperceptibly led also to drink, and thus are often brought into scrapes and quarrels, which may ruin a man's reputation forever. "Evil communications corrupt good manners;" we should, therefore, endeavour to avoid them, and get into good company, where we may establish a character to lead us through the world without fear. Should we continue to frequent Taverns we would not only ruin our health but our character also. Consider seriously upon these things, and always keep in mind, that when a man's character is once lost, it is a hard task for him to regain it.

A DRUNKARD REFORMED.

From the Troy Budget of Tuesday.

The Court Martial for the trial of General Wilkinson, having closed the examination of the witnesses on the 4th inst. adjourned from time to time (the General not being ready) till last Friday, to give him an opportunity to digest the testimony and to prepare for speaking in his defence. At which time, the court convened, and Gen. Wilkinson delivered an able defence, in writing, which occupied all that day and the next. It is expected that the Court will not be long making up their decision, which will not be made known to the public until it has undergone the inspection of the war department.
