AN INTRODUCTION to the CRITICAL STUDY AND KNOWLEDGE OF THE HOLY SCRIPTURES.

By THOMAS HARTWELL HORNE, M. A.

It will be printed from the London Edition of 1823, in four very large octavo volumes, it will contain numerous maps and fac similes of biblical manuscripts, and in short every thing that is contained in that edition, and will be very neatly printed on good paper. The first London edition of this work was published in 1818, the second in 1821, the third in 1822, the fourth in 1823. So great a sale of so large a work on such a subject, is the best evidence that can be offered of its value. There has yet been no American edition.

Vol. I. contains a Critical Inquiry into the Genuine, Authenticity, Uncorrupted Preservation, and Inspiration of the Holy Scriptures.

Vol. II. in two parts, treats, first on Sacred Criticism; including an Historical and Critical Account of the Original Languages of Scripture, and of the Cognate or kindred Dialects; an Account (with numerous Fac Similes) of the principal manuscripts of the Old and New Testaments, &c. &c. In this part of the work, the History of the Authorized English Version of the Bible is particularly considered. The various Readings, the Quotations from the Old Testament in the New, the Poetry of the Hebrews and Harmonies of the Scriptures, form a portion of this part.

Second Part.—Of the Interpretation of the Scriptures. Subsidiary Means for ascertaining the Sense of Scripture, viz. Analogy of Languages, Analogy of Scripture; Scholia and Glossaries; Subject-matter, Context, Scope, Historical Circumstances, and Christian Writers.

These discussions are followed by the application of the preceding principles—to the Historical Interpretation of the Sacred Writings; the Interpretation of the Figurative Language of Scripture; the Spiritual Interpretation of the Scriptures; the Interpretation of Prophecy; of Types, of the Doctrinal and Moral Parts of Scripture, of the Promises and Threatenings therein contained; and the Inferential and Practical Reading of the Sacred Writings.

Vol. III. contains an Outline of the Historical and Physical Geography of the Holy Land. The Political and Military Affairs of the Jewish and other Nations incidentally mentioned in the Scriptures. Sacred Antiquities of the Jews. The Domestic Antiquities, or the Private Life, Manners, Customs, Amusements, &c. of the Jews and other nations incidentally mentioned in the Scriptures.

Vol. IV. is appropriated to the Analysis of Scripture.

Price $12.—After publication the Price will be sixteen dollars. January 1825.

BY HIS EXCELLENCY SAMUEL STEVENS, GOVERNOR OF MARYLAND,

A Proclamation.

Whereas authentic information has been lodged in the Executive Department of the said state, that a horrible murder was committed on Monday the fourth day of April instant, in a woods belonging to Captain John Cooper, near the Philadelphia and Baltimore post road, in Cecil county, on the body of EVELINA CUNNINGHAM, by a person or persons unknown. And whereas it is of the first importance to society, that perpetrators of such offences should be brought to condign punishment, I have thought proper to issue this my proclamation, and do, by and with the advice and consent of the council, offer a reward of THREE HUNDRED DOLLARS to any person or persons who shall apprehend and lodge in any goal, so as to be brought to justice, the person or persons who committed the above act.

Given under my hand, and the seal of the state of Maryland, this twentieth day of April, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and twenty-five. SAMUEL STEVENS.

A Description of the supposed Murderer.

A person (name unknown) about 28 or 30 years of age, believed to have a scar on his chin, dark complexion, dark eyes and hair, about five feet ten inches high, wore a dark green surtout, black or dark coloured pantaloons, black fur hat nearly new, had a linen knapsack strapped upon his back. The murderer robbed her of her stockings, which were black worsted, and her comb.

Ordered, That the foregoing be published twice a week for four successive weeks in the two Annapolis papers; the Patriot, the American, and the Federal Gazette, Baltimore; the Elkton Press; Board of Union, Belle-Air; and the Aurora, and Franklin Gazette, Philadelphia.

By command of His Excellency, THOMAS CULBRETH, Clerk of the Council.

BASHAW is a beautiful silver grey with black flowing fore top, mane and tail, about sixteen hands high, of fine form and just proportions, possessing great strength, and of lofty carriage; paces, trots and canters free and easy—This Horse was got by the Dey of Algiers, and his dam a Highlander Mare; thus showing, he is of the stock of Arabian Horses so well known and justly esteemed for the turf and saddle.—In point of figure, and excellence as a sure foal getter is surpassed by no horse in the country.

From the New England Farmer. TICKS IN SHEEP.

It is a common thing for sheep to be infested with ticks, which frequently prove very troublesome to them, especially in the spring season of the year. But the pain and vexation which they cause the sheep is not the only evil which they occasion; or the poor animal, when previously annoyed by these obnoxious vermin, are, almost continually, combating their assaults, but instead of overcoming the enemy or effecting any thing more than a momentary relief from their suffering, they gradually pull out and waste their wool, and in this way diminish their fleece, to the no small loss of the owner.

As great an evil as this may seem to be, the remedy is both simple and easy. Boil a small quantity of tobacco, perhaps what grows on one good thrifty stalk would be enough for half a dozen sheep, in so much water as when it is sufficient y boiled, there shall be two or three gallons of liquor; let it become sufficiently cool, then open the wool along the centre of the neck and back of the sheep, and with a bunch of tow or some other spongy substance, put on the decoction until the skin becomes thoroughly moistened therewith, and in a short time the ticks will all be destroyed, and the sheep, instead of pulling out and wasting their wool, by fruitless exertions of self defence, will become easy and contented, and suffer their fleece to remain to be taken off by the shearer.

For many years I have taken this method with my sheep, just before the time of their lambing, and have always found it to have the desired effect. I very much dislike the foolish practice of chewing, snuffing and smoking the poisonous weed, at least no better reason can be given for so doing than to show or force of habit, yet I actually raise a few plants for the benefit of my sheep, and would recommend to every one who keeps these useful animals to do the same. A YEOMAN.

ESCAPE FROM THE INQUISITION.

Translated for the N. York Daily Advertiser.

The following highly interesting and romantic story is from a French work entitled "Historical Sketch of the principal political and Military events produced by the revolution in Spain, by M. Louis Jullien," published at Paris in 1821.

The Spanish Captain Van Halen, a native of Cadix, and particularly known for his zeal in propagating secret associations, had begun in 1817 to disseminate their liberal principles among the inhabitants of the city of Murcia, where he was in captivity. His devotion to this subject could not long remain unpunished; he was soon denounced and conducted to prison. His papers which had been seized, proved that he had been in correspondence with all the secret societies in the kingdom. Being thus convicted of two crimes at once, the local authorities considered the matter too important to be submitted to their decision, and Vanhalen was transported under a numerous escort, to the prisons of Madrid and committed to one of the most obscure dungeons in the acquisition. Preparations were made for his trial, but as he had declared, from the first moment of his arrest, that he would give no answer to the charges against him, unless in presence of the king, and this resolution having been several times reported to the King, Vanhalen was at length brought by the tortures he had undergone in his captivity, nor by the almost certain prospect of a speedy and cruel death, instead of imploring the favour of Ferdinand, he devoted the brief interview to presenting him with a picture of the ruinous situation to which he had been reduced by his ministry. He declared to him that all Spain was filled with secret societies; that persecutions, imprisonments, and scaffold were vainly employed for their destruction; that no human power could succeed in attempting to defeat their object; that the persons of whom the societies were composed had never proposed any project against the life of the king, nor even against his rank or dignity; that in placing him on a throne supported by the laws, and by the love and confidence of the people, his power would have been raised to the highest degree of stability—in short, that in order to secure a happy result, it might perhaps be sufficient in the king would, of his own free choice adopt the spirit of these very societies, and place himself at their head.

He demanded him to require from the court of Rome, the revocation of the censures she had pronounced against them; above all things he would reject the narrow and sanguinary interest of his councillors; and then have at his disposal an invincible army, which he might indeed despair to reduce to servitude, but which, while it remained free, would also be the more devoted and the more faithful.

At this kind of language, in which the ministry were not accustomed to deal, Ferdinand betrayed more surprise than irritation. The character of that prince had appeared in no insupportable light, so contrary in different situations of life, that we should be afraid to decide whether the edification with which he treated Vanhalen was the effect of compassion or of profound dissimulation;—It is certain, however, that he enquired, with an appearance of the warmest interest concerning the privations he had suffered in prison; and enquiring
