Thus while the Adams party have got in the returns from Portage, Trumbull, Cuyahoga, Geauga, their strong counties in the Western Reserve, and we have many strong counties for Jackson, yet to hear from them? We will not undertake to say that Campbell the Jackson candidate for Governor is elected; but we may say with perfect confidence that if he is not, he has come so near to it as to leave the Adams party no hope for the election of the Adams Electoral ticket on Friday next.

New-York. The following estimate of the electoral votes which Jackson will receive in New-York, is taken from the Albany Argus. A letter from one of the best informed politicians in the state of New-York, to a gentleman in Baltimore, says, "in this state our success is absolutely certain. The calculation in the Argus, may be implicitly relied upon." Here it is—

Table with 3 columns: County, Jackson, Adams. Rows include Suffolk, Queens, Kings, Richmond, Rockland, New-York, Putnam, Westchester, Dutchess, Orange, Ulster, Sullivan, Columbia, Hamilton, Albany, Green, Delaware, Schohaire, Schenectady, Otsego, Chenango, Broome, Herkimer, Montgomery, Saratoga, Washington, Franklin, Essex, Clinton, Warren, Oswego, Jefferson, St. Lawrence, Lewis, Madison, Cortland, Onondaga, Cayuga, Tompkins, Tioga, Ontario, Seneca, Wayne, Yates, Monroe, Livingston, Warren, Genesee, Orleans, Chataque, Erie, Niagara.

From England. By the packet ship Pacific, (bracketed, at New-York from Liverpool, the editors of the Evening Post have received Liverpool papers to the 16th September. Of the harvests of the United Kingdom, the London Courier says, "Throughout England there is not a single paper which does not represent them, within its locality, as abundant and above the average of years. In Scotland they are everywhere proportionate, and as to Ireland, exultation is expressed in every quarter at the surpassing nature of their produce. The fact of a declension of prices under such circumstances, ceases to be a phenomenon. It is the natural result of abundance, no longer doubtful, no longer even prospective, but secured."

Richard Garrbrill. Has removed his Store from No. 71 to No. 217 Baltimore street, the store lately occupied by Mr. Benjamin Harrison, where he has on hand a large and general assortment of Dry Goods, which he offers at wholesale and retail on the most reasonable terms. Country merchants and others will find to their advantage to call and examine his stock. Baltimore Oct. 23. 4w

In the mean time it is said, that frequent conferences have been held between Lord Heytesbury and the Russian Minister, Count Neessade, who repeated the assurance that Russia was not contending for conquest and would not make them, that she only insists on the strict fulfilment of the treaty of Alcockman, the entire freedom of the navigation of the Black Sea, and a compensation for the expenses of the war she has been obliged to undertake for these objects.

One circumstance which shows pretty conclusively that the Emperor has met with much more vigorous resistance from the Turks than he was prepared for, is the fact of his having accepted the proffered assistance of the Servians, which it is said he has hitherto only waiting for the entrance of a Russian force into their territory to rebel against the Porte. General Geissmar, commanding in Lesser Wallachia, has received powerful reinforcements for this purpose, and is about to transfer the war into Servia. The return of the Emperor's army from Odessa to the Danube, will be delayed till September.

An article from Constantinople, of the 14th August says, that the Sultan is determined on making the most obstinate resistance, and that the war is becoming every day more national. On the 29th about 8,000 horse is to be assembled, under the immediate command of the Sultan himself. There is a semi-official statement quoted in the Journal des Debats, of the 14th, from which it is asserted that the most costly military armaments still subsist in France, England, Austria and Russia; and that the three former powers continued to rely upon the positive assurances given by the Emperor Nicholas, that he neither meditated, nor desired the destruction or diminution of the Turkish empire.

British Agricultural Report for August. The corn harvest, finished in the southern counties, is now at its height in the north and in Scotland in the south, considerably beyond the season. The weather, however, and the weather prospect, this finishing business, in former unpropitious course. The new wheat will have more bulk than weight, and will tell for more quantity than quality. In fact, really fine and dry wheat, from its extreme scarcity, will command almost any price. Full three fourths of the crop of wheat has received damage, little or much, from a continually varying temperature, and from excess of humidity, and good old dry wheats, without the admixture with which the new will not grind, must be indispensable even in the spring. With some favourable exceptions, the Continent harvests have been nearly as unfavourable as our own.

Average of Wheat in England, for the six weeks ending Sept. 12, 61s. 1d.

Mr. Green.

Be pleased to give the following communication a place in your paper. About two months since Maj. John Mercer of West River, asserted his belief that Henry Price, a highly respectable coloured man, of this city, had lent assistance to the escape of one of his charges, and thinking the circulation of it would do serious injury to his character, solicited my professional services with a view of examining the charge, and convincing the public that he was not guilty. In conjunction with Maj. Mercer, I have investigated the whole matter, and am free to say, that the investigation has resulted in a conviction of Price's entire innocence. The subjoined letter contains Maj. Mercer's coincidence.

H. NICHOLSON.

Washington, Oct. 22, 1828. To Joseph H. Nicholson, Esq. Dear Sir: I avail myself of the first leisure moment, since my arrival here, to address you on the subject of my suspicions, that Henry Price had been accessory to the escape of one of my servants, who absconded on my farm sometime during the months of April last. In making the communication to you, that upon as full an investigation of the affair as was practicable, I am induced to believe that my suspicions were unjust, I have been governed not only by a sense of justice towards Price, but by a belief and desire, that the same benevolent feeling which prompts you to take so much interest in advocating his innocence, will induce you to make such use of this communication, as will effectually relieve him from the imputation as far as I have been instrumental in inducing it.

With great respect, Your friend and obd. servt. JOHN MERCER. Oct. 30.
