The Philadelphia Souvenir,

Published every Wednesday, embellished with twenty elegant Quarto Copper Plate engravings of remarkable views, celebrated persons, & quarterly plates of the fashions.
Now that the winter of our discontent is made glorious summer by the Sun of Jackson, or in other words the storm which being now dispelled, the publisher deems it advisable to commence the New Year, to return his thanks to his patrons for the favours already bestowed, and inform them, and the public, that he enters upon his duties with renewed prospects of rendering it still more interesting than at any former period. He has completed his arrangements, and is now in the receipt by every packet which arrives here or at New York from England, of the most interesting periodicals, from which he will be able to furnish his readers with the latest literary productions of merit, instead of receiving them second hand from publications in this country; for those who attach an importance to the Protean changes of fashion, he has been induced to add La Belle Assemblee, which is believed by the gay world to hold the "mirror up to nature," and which will enable him to present them in taste and fashion, which all changes in taste and fashion, and from it to select the elegant engravings with which it is adorned to grace the pages of the Souvenir quarterly; no short no expense has been spared that will be likely to add to the value of our publication. But whilst our attention is thus directed to what transpires in Europe, it shall not permit us to neglect NATIVE MERIT, and we shall freely select from American publications what seems adapted to our purpose, and last but not least, we have succeeded in enlisting in our interest many valuable correspondents, both in this country and in Europe, whose productions would do credit to any publication, and were we at liberty to give their names to the public, would add lustre to any work to which they were attached, in short no exertion will be spared to render "The Souvenir" in all respects worthy the patronage of the public, both as a cheap and elegant emporium of useful and interesting information, and a valuable repository of choice specimens of Miscellaneous literature. Strict attention will be bestowed on its moral tendency, and a constant watchfulness preserved over the cause and interests of virtue.
A portion of the contents will be as follows:
I. Tales, original and selected; Essays, moral, humorous and scientific; Poetry, original and selected from the best American and Foreign literary publications; Biographical Sketches of distinguished persons, male and female; Anecdotes, Bon Mots, &c. The original matter necessary for this department of our paper will be furnished by individuals who are advantageously known to the public through the medium of their literary productions.

Swain's Panacea

For the cure of Scrofula or King's Evil, Syphilitic and Mercurial Diseases, Rheumatism, Ulcerous Sores, White Swellings, Diseases of the Liver and Skin, General Debility, &c. and all diseases arising from impure blood. It has also been found beneficial in Nervous and Dyspeptic complaints.
Price Two Dollars per bottle, and Twenty Dollars per Dozen.

TO THE PUBLIC.

In consequence of the numerous frauds and impositions practised in reference to my medicine, I am again induced to change the form of my bottles. In future, the Panacea will be put up in round bottles, fluted longitudinally, with the following words blown in the glass, "Swain's Panacea—Phileda."
These bottles are much stronger than those heretofore used, and will have but one label, which covers the cork, with my own signature on it, so that the cork cannot be drawn without destroying the signature, without which none is genuine. The medicine must consequently be known to be genuine when my signature is visible; to counterfeit which, will be punishable as forgery.
The increasing demand for this celebrated medicine has enabled me to reduce the price to two dollars per bottle, thus bringing it within the reach of the indigent.
My panacea requires no encoiumium; its astonishing effects and wonderful operation, have drawn, both from Patients and Medical Practitioners of the highest respectability, the most unqualified approbation, and established for it a character, which every pen, dipped in gall, can never tarnish.
The false reports concerning the valuable medicine, which have been diligently circulated by certain Physicians, have their origin either in envy, or in the mischievous effects of the spurious imitations.
The Proprietor pledges himself to the public, and gives them the most solemn assurances, that this medicine contains neither mercury, nor any other deleterious drug.
The public are cautioned not to purchase my Panacea, except from myself, my accredited agents, or persons of known respectability, and all those who will consequently be without names, who shall purchase from any other persons.
Wm SWAIN.
Philadelphia, Sept. 1828.
From Doctor Valentine Mott, Professor of Surgery in the University of New-York, Surgeon of the New-York Hospital, &c. &c.
I have repeatedly used Swain's Panacea, both in the Hospital and in private practice, and have found it to be a valuable medicine in chronic, syphilitic and scrofulous complaints, and in obstinate cutaneous affections.

From Doctor William P. Dewees, Adjunct Professor of Midwifery in the University of Pennsylvania, &c. &c.
I have much pleasure in saying, I have witnessed the most decided and happy effects in several instances of inveterate disease, from Mr. Swain's Panacea, where other remedies had failed—one was that of Mrs. Brown.

Philadelphia, Feb. 20, 1823.
From Doctor James Mease, Member of the American Philosophical Society, &c. &c.
I cheerfully add my testimony in favour of Mr. Swain's Panacea, as a remedy in Scrofula. I saw two moderate cases perfectly cured by the use of the equal remedies had been used without effect—those of Mrs. Campbell and Mrs. Campbell.
James Mease, M. D.

THE HORSE-SHOE LEAP.

I was once travelling in the main road which leads to what is called "Shaker Ferry," on the Kentucky river. As I wound my way down the tremendous cliffs, through a road which had been rendered passable by the industry and perseverance of the little community, from whom the ferry had derived its name, I was struck with the splendid and magnificent scenery which presented itself, involuntarily stopped to examine for a minute, the wonderful works of Him who "maketh the mountains skip like lambs." The time and scene were enough to kindle up sacred thoughts and feelings in a homely, less enthusiastic, or less religiously inclined than mine, for I could not contemplate the power of that being, whose word is Omnipotence. The sun was yet some distance from his evening horizon, but rising to the immense height of the hills which girdled in the river, the light below, appeared to be fast sinking to his night's repose; and his beams they fell upon the tall peaks of the mountains, gave them a most vivid and splendid appearance, here, shot a mountain, whose dome appeared to reach the clouds, and then, the fast running up by its side, as if seemingly wishing to excite as a rival, as its rival; here at a distance, some hundred feet started up, each a mountain, content with being noticed, even if last—then, in the distance, the rough and cedar-covered top of another, and another, appeared and glittered in the sun, and like the pillars of Heaven's arch, and reflecting the light of the sun, and colouring the light of day, first to receive his morning sun, and the last to be tinged with parting glories. After admiring while the magnificence of the scene, I was compelled to make the most of the light, and dismounting, my great horse down the declivity, I was obliged to stop a few moments on the bank of the stream, and to look about which I saw other peaks, and the other side. Here, I saw a magnificent mountain, and I saw, now presenting itself full to view; it has formed part of the

MISCELLANY.

The following beautiful hymn, written by the Rev. Mr. Pierpont, of Boston, was sung at a meeting of the Massachusetts Charitable Association, held in that city on Thursday, the 5th ult.
Loud o'er the savage chills,
O God, the night wind roars,
And howl's in the wild
He bows him and adores—
Thou seat him there,
As to the sky
He lifts his eye
Alone in prayer.
Thine inspiration comest
In skill the blessing falls!
The field around him blooms,
The temple rears its walls,
And saints adore,
And music swells
Where savage yells
Were heard before.
To honour thee, dread power,
Our skill and strength combine;
And temple, tomb, and tower,
Attest these gifts of thine;
A swelling dome
For pride they glide,
For Peace they build
An humble home.
By these our fathers' host
Was led to victory first,
When on our guardless coast
The cloud of battle burst:
Through storm and spray,
By their control,
Our navies hold
An humble home.
Their thundering way,
Was led to victory first,
When on our guardless coast
The cloud of battle burst:
Through storm and spray,
By their control,
Our navies hold
An humble home.
Great Source of every art!
Our homes, our picture halls,
Our thronged and busy mart
That heaves its granite walls,
And shoots to heaven
Its glittering spires,
To catch the fires
Of morn and even.
These, and the blessing forms
The brush or chisel gives
With this, when marble warms,
With that, when canvas lives,
These all combine,
In countless ways,
To swell thy praise;
For all are thine.

THE HORSE-SHOE LEAP.
I was once travelling in the main road which leads to what is called "Shaker Ferry," on the Kentucky river. As I wound my way down the tremendous cliffs, through a road which had been rendered passable by the industry and perseverance of the little community, from whom the ferry had derived its name, I was struck with the splendid and magnificent scenery which presented itself, involuntarily stopped to examine for a minute, the wonderful works of Him who "maketh the mountains skip like lambs." The time and scene were enough to kindle up sacred thoughts and feelings in a homely, less enthusiastic, or less religiously inclined than mine, for I could not contemplate the power of that being, whose word is Omnipotence. The sun was yet some distance from his evening horizon, but rising to the immense height of the hills which girdled in the river, the light below, appeared to be fast sinking to his night's repose; and his beams they fell upon the tall peaks of the mountains, gave them a most vivid and splendid appearance, here, shot a mountain, whose dome appeared to reach the clouds, and then, the fast running up by its side, as if seemingly wishing to excite as a rival, as its rival; here at a distance, some hundred feet started up, each a mountain, content with being noticed, even if last—then, in the distance, the rough and cedar-covered top of another, and another, appeared and glittered in the sun, and like the pillars of Heaven's arch, and reflecting the light of the sun, and colouring the light of day, first to receive his morning sun, and the last to be tinged with parting glories. After admiring while the magnificence of the scene, I was compelled to make the most of the light, and dismounting, my great horse down the declivity, I was obliged to stop a few moments on the bank of the stream, and to look about which I saw other peaks, and the other side. Here, I saw a magnificent mountain, and I saw, now presenting itself full to view; it has formed part of the
