

he was accordingly placed in a room in the third story, overlooking the yard. Clough had been permitted to have a candle in his room, in order to enable him to write in the evening. This candle, on Friday night, previous to being visited by the Sheriff, he placed in the chimney, and arranged his blanket before it, in such a way as to hide all the beams of the light. An iron spoon, which he probably found in the room, and which was not known to be in his possession, he had converted into a saw, with which he released himself from his chains. Having these matters all arranged, when the Sheriff retired, Clough took his candle, and bore away a portion of a window sill, an ordinary wooden frame, by which he tore away the sash, making an opening of six inches by ten, through which he escaped, a short time before day break. His safe descent to the yard, was effected by means of his blanket, which he had converted into a rope, and which he had fastened to the top of the wall. In the yard, he procured two boards, used by the Sheriff to cover celery beds, and by making a kind of bridge, he was enabled to reach the high wall. His escape was discovered soon after daylight, and the Jail bell being immediately rung a large number of citizens, amounting perhaps to five hundred in all, assembled and started in pursuit. Every barn and building in the neighbourhood was searched, and the country for miles round scoured, until evening, without success. The prosecution was taken to guard all the outlets, in every direction from the town, so as to retard his capture, soon or later, certain. Clough was first seen by a coloured man in a swamp, on the Rancocas river, about one mile west of Mount Holly. It was in the dusk of the evening, and as the fugitive gave an unsatisfactory answer to the enquiries of the man, the latter resorted to force. He was first overpowered by Joel Hollingshead, and then by Milvine, the latter resident of Mount Holly, and well acquainted with Clough. The prisoner denied his name, said he was guilty of Philadelphia, but allowed himself to be arrested, without offering resistance, though he had an axe in his possession. He had on a same dress that he wore in the prison. On the day previous to his escape, Clough had purchased a pound of crackers. These were found in his possession when arrested. It appears he had secreted himself in a swamp during the whole day, and when he was about pursuing his journey by night, he appeared to be much fatigued with his exertions. In the early part of yesterday, he was tracked in the vicinity of the spot where he was afterwards found. He wore stout pumps, and the course he took from the Jail, was plainly observable in several places adjoining the town. From several circumstances connected with Clough's escape, the supposition that he was aided by confederates, is rendered probable. Inquiries are now on foot, to sift this matter to the bottom.

CURIOS EFFECTS OF LIGHTNING.
We learn from Waltham, that during a severe thunder storm on Monday the 8th inst. in the afternoon, the Waltham Factory struck with lightning.—The fluid passed down the rod on the small Factory until it reached the part of the roof, to which the furnace pump is attached. It then separated, a portion of it passing through the roof, and quite a hole, in the pump pipe. Another portion passing along the roof until it reached the dressing room window, where the copper pipe was resting almost upon the glass; it passed through the window, breaking the glass in two places, and melting the end of the pipe; the remainder of the charge passed into the furnace, and there it was picked. There is a pipe which leads from the forcing pump at the bottom into a size room, to convey water; and another which leads from the boiler in a woolen web machine ground to the large Mill, to convey steam. This pipe ends near the furnace, and it is said to have passed down the pump pipe, it struck the boiler, and knocked off some of the bolts which secured it to the furnace. The steam then went up the hot air pipe on the floor, and a number of pieces of cotton waste, which were split the cap on the top of the water shaft, and passed down the water shaft. Two mills were in operation at the time; no person was in the least injured.

MELANCHOLY SUICIDE.
We learn that an inmate of one of the principal boarding houses in the lower part of Broadway, N. Y. was yesterday morning discovered dead on the floor of his room. He had his throat cut with a penknife, the blade of which was found broken off and remaining in his neck, and the haft lying by his side. He deceased who is about 40 years of age, a gentleman of wealth from the Island of Jamaica, whence he arrived in this city a few days ago, having been induced by a recent visit to take a sea voyage as a means of relieving a severe domestic affliction. Subsequently to his arrival he had remained cheerful and active, and appeared to have become excited, and was said to dwell on his misfortunes. He had counted his companion proposed a visit to his garden, and by this and other means he had, he thought, succeeded in averting the mind, and left him late at night in a state of apparent tranquility; but on calling at the room the next morning, found him as above described. Verdict of the coroner's jury, suicide.

A CURIOSITY.
A gentleman of New Haven (Conn.) has several volumes of the first newspaper that was ever published in England. It was commenced in 1556, and is entitled "The English Mercury," which, by authority is imported at London, by Christopher Baker, late of the Queen Elizabeth's printer.

bearing man, from the canal, reached on Sunday afternoon, sick, and died of the second case, that we have had here. Our town continues unusually quiet.

considerable anxiety has been caused by the Cholera had exhibited itself in the vicinity of the Warm Springs, we deem it proper to lay before the public the information contained in the following extract of a letter.

Warm Springs, 3d July 1833.
The symptoms of Cholera in the Cow pastures have totally disappeared, and the opinion now is, that it was not the cholera which carried off the labourers on the 7th. There are nearly three hundred at the White Sulphur, and considerable numbers at the other watering places. An Allegan states that the Cholera is going in Kanawha county.

Perrysburg, Esq.
Within our knowledge, but seven years from Cholera have occurred within the limits of this city during the last week ending this morning, making, in all, 39 deaths, the commencement, (June 11th.)

Lexington, Ky. July 15.
With feelings of profound gratitude for all wise Providence, we can now state that our city has again become perfectly healthy. There is at this time, no appearance of that dreadful scourge, with which we have so severely visited, in any part of the city. The last death occurred, on Wednesday evening, on the 10th inst., of a woman of Major John Telford.

CHOLERA.
For the information of our absent friends, we state, that the Cholera, as epidemic has ceased to exist in this city; we have not heard of a single case for a number of days; the deaths that now occur are various diseases, and the majority are among the coloured population. The accounts from every part of the state, are happy to observe, represent it to be on the decline, and we are in hopes that it will not be in our power to announce its entire appearance from this region.

THE CHOLERA.
Williamsport, Md. July 20.
Cases of cholera among the canal hands are occasionally occurring since our last; but we work may now be said to be quite clear of the disease. Its fluctuations depend very much upon those of the weather, and the care of those to whom it has yet been confined.

Kanawha County, Va.
The Charleston Banner of the 11th gives particular account of the cholera, which prevailed in that town and its vicinity. From the 1st to the 9th July, there were 9 deaths of the Kanawha Salines—at Charleston 5, in addition to which, some deaths have occurred among the blacks at the Salines, not feeding, however, according to the best information we can obtain, 4 or 5. The Banner was unable to state with precise accuracy the cause of confirmed cholera, which had proved fatal to the country; but it presents the opinions of the physicians, as far as it had collected them. Dr. Patrick reports 13 cases within the week, but no deaths—those remaining convalescent. Dr. Rogers, 7 cases, of which 1 died, 3 have recovered, 3 convalescent. Dr. Patton, 8 cases and 2 deaths. Dr. Mann reports at Coalbridge, 3 cases, no deaths. Dr. Street reports at the K. Salines, the number of marked cases at 22—of which 7 were fatal, 20 of cholera morbus and spasmodic cholera 4—deaths 4. Dr. English reported 21 patients with spasmodic Cholera, 7 of whom died. The number of cases of premonitory diarrhoea, I have no means of stating with exactness; 70 I find, but it must greatly exceed that number. I have found no difficulty in arresting the disease in this stage, with Dr. Patterson's Prescription. 30 grains Rhei, (Rhubarb) 5 of Calomel, and 1 grain of Sal. Morphia, or Ipecacuanha, made into a powder or bolus and taken, followed in 6 or 8 hours, with a dose of oil. I have seldom found it necessary to repeat the dose, which would be necessary, if the watery dejections continued.

The Banner adds for Wednesday, July 10, 3 new cases only have been reported in the last 48 hours—no deaths.

The Lewisburg Allegan of the 12th states, that the cholera was abating on the Kanawha—and that it had not approached nearer to Lewisburg than the Kanawha Licks.

Pittsburg, July 19.
CHOLERA.
From Monday, the 8th instant, until Monday the 15th inst. there were 8 deaths of cholera in this city; and from the last named day, until Thursday, at 10 o'clock, A. M. one death. The patients in the hospital have all been discharged, and no new applications for three days.

CHOLERA AT SHELVILLE, TENN.
A correspondent, who writes us from Shelbyville, under date of Tuesday, July 9, at 10 o'clock A. M. furnishes us the list of deaths by cholera to that afflicted town. 62 whites, 27 blacks—89.

Our correspondent adds—These deaths have occurred in this town since Saturday morning, June 29th, and most of them prior to Monday evening, July 1. The disease seems now to be disappearing, though the inhabitants have not yet commenced moving back.—The very few who have remained here from the commencement are in good health, though we have undergone the utmost fatigue and hardship. Indeed there are several men here whose names should be mentioned to the world as the champions of humanity, viz:—Wm. McGee, Thomas Philips, John T. Williams, Dawson Gutrage, David M. Williams, Henry Thompson, Capt. W. B. Watkins, Capt. John Ringstaff and R. Wellou, Esq. They have laid out and buried white and black, male and female, under the most trying circumstances. Some of them have comparatively no interest here, and have been prompted only by the consideration of humanity. Language indeed fails in uttering their praise. Our Doctors who survived deserve much credit. These things are true. I have been an eye witness from the beginning to this moment.

By reference to our obituary head to day, it will be seen that two more of the passengers of the steam-boat Reindeer died of Cholera, in this town, last week. We also learn that another negro woman, belonging to Mr. John Drew, of the Cherokee Nation, died on board of her, of the same disease, after she passed up, in 7 or 8 hours after the attack. This makes nine of the passengers and crew of the Reindeer who have been cut off by this disease since she left New Orleans, or rather since she left Vicksburg, where it is thought it was contracted from passengers taken on board at that place, among whom it first developed itself.

These deaths produced some little alarm among our citizens, at first, but as the disease has not spread, it has entirely subsided, and our town remains as healthy as usual.

CHOLERA.
From Salem, in this state we learn, by a gentleman of this town who passed through that place on Monday last, that the inhabitants had fled to the country with the exception of a few families, and that about forty deaths had occurred. Several of the most respectable citizens of the town were labouring under the disease. The paper in Salem has ceased to be published.—Indiana Democrat.

FOREIGN.
LATER FROM FRANCE.
The packet ship Sully from New York from Havre, brings Paris papers to the 30 June. An extra sheet from the office of the New York Courier, supplies us with the following intelligence:
Under date of the 31st Mar, the correspondent of the Journal du Havre writes as follows:
It is not without cause that the governments of Germany and Italy fear a general explosion in their respective countries. The administrations there, instead of exerting themselves to allay the general ferment that exists, and acting up to the opinions of the age, seek only, in a system of persecution, the means of suppressing that revolution which is ready to break out. A traveller who has just traversed all the countries bordering on the Rhine, has given us some details on this subject, which show the height public discontent has attained. The ideas of independence prevailing among the people, and even the peasants, are manifest in the election of members of the liberal party for the legislative bodies now again called together. The parliamentary opposition expected by the High Diet from this source is considered so dangerous, that deliberations have already been held at Frankfurt for the purpose of considering on the means of giving military aid to Baden and Wurtemberg, in case those governments should think it necessary to dissolve the Chambers which are now in session. In that case the Diet will issue a decree, not ordering, it is true, an unlimited suspension of the Constitutional Legislature of the different German states, but giving each government the power to adjourn that action of the national representatives now so much required by the interest of those countries. This project, before being presented at Frankfurt, had been discussed at Vienna and Berlin, and the High Diet will take it into consideration on the return of M. Munch Bellinghausen.

The situation of the Italian peninsula appears more precarious even than that of Germany, for, judging by the discontent which prevails in Savoy, a general explosion will shortly take place. In that country, no excuse having yet been found for the introduction of Austrian troops, King Albert has hitherto had to depend on his own resources alone, and he has managed so to displease the army, that a general mutiny has occurred in the Sardinian regiments. In consequence of this military conspiracy numerous arrests have been made without any interference on the part of the people, but the last letters from Chambery and Turin, announce that the inhabitants are in motion, and some citizens have been arrested by the Sardinian police.—The court of Turin, alarmed by the reports to receive some Austrian auxiliaries in the country; but the French cabinet, having received information that negotiations were on foot for this purpose, had strongly opposed it and declared that France would send into the Sardinian territory as many troops as they received there from Austria.

That said Candolle transferred and assigned to complainant, among other property, the said piece or parcel of ground, leasehold interest, and term of years, upon certain trusts in the deed in that behalf set forth.
