MISCELLANY.—Although the purposes of our sheet may appear to be confined to the several leading subjects which may have been stated, we doem it proper to say, that there constantly is, in addition to these, a considerable space allowed for Miscellaneous matter, such as Tales, Poetry, Ancedotes, Legerden.am, an Epitome of News, Places of Annusement, Staustics, Agriculture, Domestic Economy, Valuable Receipts, &c. Also, a republication of the best and most popular of the old English and American Sporting and National Songs, Set to Music; besides many other matter, regarding which an interest is supposed to exist.

ET By the above explanation, it will be seen that the Gentleman's Vade Mecum is particularly designed as a companion for the patrons of the Turf; the Drama; Sporting, the Fashiona, &c. It is worthy of notice, that its patrons in the course of one year, will be furnished with from forty-fire to fifty popular Plays or Farces—the price of which, separately, at one of our bookstores, would be at least Thirteen Doller:! PROSPECTUS.

THE Subscriber proposes to publishe in Upper siarlbro', Prince George's county, Maryland, a weekly jeurnal, to be called

THE BULLETAN.
In undertaking to supply this acknowledged desideratum to the populous and intelligent district in which the subscriber has the fortune to reside, his hope of ultimate success finds not its origin in sanguineness of temperament, out proceeds from the emment advantages of its location. Published in the metropolis of a large and wealthy county, sit uated equi-distant from the State and National capitals, facilities of an early commu-nication of whatever may interest its natrons. are particularly afforded to the Editor; and though he may not hope to present to his friends much foreign information through the medium of his columns, not derivable from other journals, it is still certain that intelligence of a local nature, incleasing to all, and important to many, and otherwise unattamable, will by this means be communicated. It will also offer to those whose means are inadequate to the expense of the larger jour-nais, at least a synoptical view of all the important information they contain; and he trusts that those of literary taste may sometimes find in its columns, articles not unworthy of the employment of their leisure. As the plan of every publication which is to find its success in popular emport, must first be exposed before public patronage can be expected, the Editor would here mark the outline of his derign, with the full knowledge that it will constitute an ordeal, by which, to determine both its merit and the fidelity of its prosecution.

The Editor proposes to adapt his paper to the wishes of those by whom he is immediately surrounded, and among whom he coust naturally find a majority of his patrons: he knows them to be intelligent and inquiring .- The Literary department, shall, therefore, be asliterary department, snail, therefore, siduously regarded, and the most approved domestic and foreign periodicals resorted to for belies lettres notices. He knows them to be patriotic, and that they feel a deep interest in the welfare of our common country. It Lty, his columns shall afford whatever intelligence of a political character may be calcula ted to interest them. No man, with the fa-culty of thought, is at this crisis neutral in reference to the party distinctions now prevailing in this country, and the Editor does not wish to disguise his political sentiments—they are in opposition to the measures of the present nistration. But having neither the temper nor the mative of a partisan, his comments upon party movements shall be characterized by frankness of argument, not violence or abuse and as it never has been his practice, so shall it never become his habit to deal in political invective or party virulence. He will cheer-fully lend the aid of his columns to communications from all parties-reserving to himself the privilege of rejecting such as are objectionable for personal ailusion or indecorous lan-guage. In addition to the advantages of appropriate political and literary selectious, his trusts alse to tempt into exercise whatever of native talent may surround him, and with such aids he may not presumptuously hope to render his paper useful and interesting. He asks not the patronage of his friends long . than his efforts merit and repay it, as he wisers no to owe that favour to personal feeting, which would be denied to his editorial labors.

The BULLETIN day in each week. Terms of subscription 25 per annum.

House to day at-half past 12 e'clock.

The clerk of the Council delivered the following communication from the Executive:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT. Annarous, December 30th, 1835. Gentlemen of the Senate.

And of the House of Delegates, It has again become our welcome duty to lay belore you a general view of the proceedings of the Executive Department of the Government during the past year, and to suggest for your consideration such measures as appear to us important to the happiness of our fellow citizens or the prosperity of the republic. In the outset, we must be permitted to pay a just tribute to the enlightened wisdom of the last General Assembly, who struck out, from the difficulties with which those important subjects had been previously embarrassed, the most hap-py expedient for giving a new and powerful in
