Hint Roosevelt May Consider Nice as "Liberal Republican"

Quiet as it has been kept, President Roosevelt spent several hours with Gov. Harry W. Nice at Government House, Monday, and it was Harry and Frank behind closed doors.

This Presidential visit to Annapolis following his Denton speech, where he was luncheon guest. A special camp was built to enable him to enter Government House with a few personal friends, including Postmaster General James A. Farley and President Charles Ford of the University of Maryland.

Nice Certain He and Leser Will Win Out

Callaway Says "We Can't Afford to Lose Advantage"
"I am certain that Judge Leser and myself shall be almost unanimously nominated for the U.S. Senate and the Republican voters of Maryland."

Thanked Executive
During the visit, President Roosevelt slipped Governor Nice on the back and they struck up each other familiarly as "Harry" and "Frank." The President thanked the governor for having invited him to Maryland, in view of the fact that there had been so much criticism and talk of "inviting" and reference to him as a "carpet bagger."

No Resentment
The governor stated that he was glad that he has been able to conduct his campaign without personal animosity, and that it will end without resentment to anyone.

Second Surmise
A second surmise was that even if Tydings wins in the general election, all the Federal patronage would be taken from him and Senator Radcliffe and administered by a third party. And since nobody in Maryland stands closer to the New Deal than Curley Ford, this surmise points to him as that third party.

Bishop Flipper Is for Bryant

Says That He Is the Best Man in the AME Church

By LORETTA ERVIN (Exclusively to the AFRO)
ATLANTA.—Because he refused to serve as president of the board of the AME Sunday School Union does not mean that he is not with Ira T. Bryant, Bishop Flipper, senior Bishop of the AME Church, stated in an exclusive interview for the AFRO-AMERICAN this week.

Best Man in Church
"Ira Bryant is the best man in the AME Church," the senior Bishop said. "He is honest and he has not published any lies about the Bishops. If they are lies, why don't they sue him?"

Not on board as president is serve on the board as president is because the Bishops, including myself, asked to join the Sunday School Union charter changed. At present, and under the present

Mitchell Party Takes Station

Bridal Group of 200 Puts on 45-Minute Show That Fills Lobby
By LULA JONES GARRETT
BALTIMORE.—Two hundred guests who followed the newlywed Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Mitchell to the Pennsylvania station as they enroute for New York, put on a forty-five-minute show that brought even the station attendants from their booths and drew practically every person in the station Wednesday night.

Never before had Pennsylvania Station witnessed such a wedding party. Not soon again will Baltimore witness such a sight. For a brief time, the station took on the air of a Metropolitan theater, as some of the country's outstanding stars burst into song and romped every part of the building, even from the street, people poured in, not jovially, but with rapt attention as the bride and bridegroom were surrounded.

On Arm of Husband
The former Juanita Jackson, in pale yellow wool suit, chic doll hat and veil of Chateau wine, with wam-colored shoes, gloves and bag, tripped into the station on the arm of her new husband, in the wake of several porters and fairly snowed with luggage, shortly after 8 o'clock.

Forty-five minutes before train time, she and Mr. Mitchell had just come from her home, where in a receiving line they had been delighted by about two thousand guests, who despite a downpour of rain, had stood in line outside the house for more than an hour to greet the couple, as of necessity, guests filed slowly into the Duaid Hill Avenue home.

At Pennsylvania Station, they were surrounded in the lobby, which was filled with the bride and party and guests to see them off, and fairly snowed with scores of pounds of rice.

But it was a picture drawn from the Vienna of pre-World War when Anne Wigmore Brown, wife of Senator Brown, was in the midst of the festive swing into a song.

The gay crowd demanded "Summer Time" and Anne, looking like a dream come true in dusky pink tulle, with a blob of

Asks Body Changes

Wants No More Youths Admitted Before Reforms

Complete Grand Jury Report on Page 16.
A sweeping report by the retiring grand jury, presented to the foreman, Frank Udoff, this week, makes seven recommendations regarding Cheltenham School for Boys.

The report asks the following reorganization of the personnel of the institution: Replacement of incompetent employees with trained persons, a committee to be appointed by the governor to prepare plans for physical improvement of the place, appointment of a full-time physician.

That the presiding judge of the Supreme Bench give the next grand jury power to investigate and disciplinary powers.

That no more boys be committed to the institution until these changes are made and that the whole institution in its future reorganization be patterned after the Maryland Training School for Boys.

Proposes Bill
Mr. Udoff, retiring foreman of the grand jury, is a candidate for the State Legislature from the Fourth district on the Democratic ticket.

He has made a pledge that if he is nominated, he will introduce a bill early in the legislature, calling for a complete reform at Cheltenham with a complete colored personnel along the line recommended by this grand jury report.

Minister Mum; Groom Says Own Wedding Vows

Democrats Seen in Confusion as Voting Nears

Confusion in headquarters and organization was evident in Democratic circles as groups of workers prepared to get out the biggest primary vote in the history of the party this week.

While the O'Connor forces are making no great effort to go after the colored vote, reporters found the Jackson headquarters organized to work in each precinct. Each district, with offices and staff in the 1400 block N. ... avenue.

Tydings Brand of Democracy

Said Senator Tydings:
"South Carolina is the rock-ribbed Democratic Gibraltar of America and its vote of confidence in Senator Smith is in line with its traditional heritage. The country has a splendid Senator in Senator Smith, one who has the interest of the people at heart and one who will always be a credit to his State and to the nation."
Well, let us see what kind of rock-ribbed Democracy South Carolina has.
In South Carolina, only 13 per cent of the citizens eligible to vote, do so. In the rest of the States throughout the country 62 per cent vote.
In South Carolina, where the races are about equally divided in population, 89.7 per cent of the appropriation for education goes for whites, while only 10.3 per cent goes for colored.
Just before a vote on the Antilynching Bill during the recent filibuster, Senator Tydings walked into the Senate chamber with his arms around two "rock-ribbed Democratic" Senators leading the fight against the Antilynching Bill.

Faces Quiz on Assault Count

Alfred Kild, 27, of 1017 N. White Street, was held at the Northeastern police station on Tuesday for investigation of assault charges pressed by Miss Catherine Daugherty, wife of 1308 E. Madison Street.

Secret service men demanded that Isaac Brown, 41, of 580 Oxford Street, be held for investigation after they learned of his arrest for disturbing the peace. The original complaint was filed by Eugene Walters of 1510 Orleans Street.

Ruben Johnson, 51, of 413 N. Bond Street, was fined $5 and costs by Magistrate Fox, charged with disorderly conduct.

Class-Breaking Costs: Arrested of breaking glass on the highway and obstructing free passage, Miss Lily May Nance, 36, of 833 Hartford Avenue, and Elizabeth Jackson, 30, of 1433 E. Fayette Street, were fined $5 and $10 respectively.

On charges of Miss Evelyn Quickly of 1744 E. Eager Street, 29, of 1515 E. Monument Street, was held.

TO THE COLORED VOTERS OF MARYLAND... UNITED STATES SENATOR WILLARD E. TYDINGS

Was Your Friend in 1930. He is the same friend today. Read what the AFRO-AMERICAN had to say in an Editorial on May 17, 1930:

"When Maryland's senior senator, Millard Tydings, voted 'nay' on the Parker confirmation, he uttered a word that the colored voters of Maryland should remember in the coming election. 'Back of Senator Tydings is the Democratic party of this State which selected him for nomination and supported him for election.'"

"Without Senator Tydings' vote the Supreme Court would now have as a member a North Carolina Federal Judge who has—to use the words of Mr. Oswald Garrison Villard's 'Publicity'—'expressed his readiness to deny to an entire group of our fellow Americans participation in elections and in administration of the country.'"

"With the proposition to place such a man as Judge Parker on the bench of the Supreme Court to which questions affecting the liberty, and pursuit of happiness, by colored people are constantly referred, we saw in Judge Parker another Roger B. Taney crying aloud: 'The Negro has no rights which the white man is bound to respect.'"

"There is no question but that Senator Tydings saved Maryland and in so doing saved the nation. For a change of one vote would have resulted in the confirmation of Parker."

"The AFRO-AMERICAN has repeatedly pointed out that in the question of politics, the issue is not Democrat or Republican, but it is the man."

"When the Democrats give us a man like Senator Tydings, they are our friends."

2 in Gun Duel; 1 Dead, Suspect Under Arrest

Dying Man Refuses to Name Opponent or Help Police

A gun battle allegedly between George Hammond of 1517 E. Fayette Street, and John Thompson, 24, of 806 N. Stricker Street, ended with the death of Hammond in the Johns Hopkins Hospital on Monday.

As they met at Fairmount Avenue and Dallas Street, each on Monday morning, the men opened fire on each other, police reported.

When requested on his dying bed to name his assailant, Hammond allegedly said, 'That's for the police to find out.' He also refused to disclose the nature of his disagreement.

Thompson was later arrested by officers of the Northeastern police district, photographed, and held for action of the coroner.

Found in his alleged victim's clothing were two keys on a key holder, a small pocket, and a pawn ticket in the name of John Doyle for redemption of a three-piece suit. The body was removed to the morgue.

Roy Bond Asks Voters to Keep Judge Robinson

Roy Bond, Baltimore attorney and fraternal leader, issued a statement today asking voters to keep Judge John Robinson of the Third Circuit Court district and urging his re-election.

Judge Robinson's district embraces Harford and Baltimore counties, and Mr. Bond's statement was directed at voters there.

Facing Break

The attorney said that Judge Robinson was impartial on the bench and without racial prejudice, and drew his conclusion from the long 'good relations' he has had with the jurist.

It also noted that the judge's newspaper was liberal and the jurist helped secure high school facilities for Havre de Grace, Bel Air and Towson children.

Bond Is $500 for Taking 30c

Gerald Clark, 16, of 703 Tissue Street, was held under a $500 total bond for stealing thirty cents from Arthur Ward of 641 Pierce Street in the Western district, Tuesday.

FIRST FALL BRIDE

MR. AND MRS. GERMAN CULVER, as they came down the aisle of St. Peter Claver Catholic Church, following the ceremony that united Elizabeth Walker of Baltimore and the Washingtonian, Thursday, September 1.

Miss Elizabeth Walker Is Bride of Germaine Culver

BALTIMORE—Miss Elizabeth M. Walker, daughter of Mrs. Henry M. Walker and Mrs. Anna Annapolis school system, became the bride of Germaine Culver, of Wilmington, Del., Mrs. Elton Martin of Detroit, Mich., Mrs. Maceo Thomas of New York City.

The Rev. Father Roy, S.S.J., performed the ceremony at ten o'clock that morning. Pittsburgh Toomey was at the organ.

The bride, who wore embroidered white French marquisette, with matching hat, carried a white prayer book. She also wore her great-grandmother's wedding ring, which was engraved with the names of Marie Chase and William M. Conklin, who were married in Martinique, France, June 1, 1815.

The groom was attended by Mrs. Howard Payne of Washington, who wore yellow chiffon with matching hat and carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

The bride's costume consisted of a gown of coral satin, with accessories to match; her only jewelry was a pearl brooch, an heirloom worn by her great-grandmother when she married. Her corsage was a bouquet of gardenias and lilies of the valley.

Do You Want A Baby? It is a well known fact that "Complete joy and happiness in married life is brought about by children and that lack of children is one of the greatest causes for discontented marriage. Also that woman who was intended for motherhood, but too often is disappointed because of functional weakness. During an experience of more than 40 years specializing in the treatment of functional weakness, I have developed a simple home method which has brought new hope. Happiness has been brought to many who were childless because of functional weakness. Thousands have written me the most glowing letters of gratitude, in such cases. Now I want other women suffering from functional weakness to learn about this splendid method and how it may be used in the privacy of the home.

Gadabouting in Baltimore— 1500 Guests, Notables, See Jackson-Mitchell Nuptials

Some fifteen hundred guests with a goodly sprinkling of the country's notables, gathered here Wednesday, to see Juanita E. Jackson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keiffer A. Jackson, and until recently director of youth work for the N.A.A.C.P. sweep down the aisle of historic old Sharp Street M.K. Church to become the bride of Clarence M. Mitchell, Jr., executive secretary of the St. Paul (Miss.) Urban League.

The ceremony took place just at dusk Luther Mitchell, organist of the Young People's Forum, sent forth the first notes from the organ. Lights from hundreds of candles flickered from their holders and palms and lilies with which the church was banked and the bride party swept down the aisle, lined with constables.

Dr. W. A. C. Hughes, Sr., director of Negro work of the Methodist Episcopal Church, who married the bride's parents twenty-eight years ago, officiated at the ceremony.

The trio was composed of Misses Lucy Holt and Grace Woodridge and Mrs. Beatrice Drake. The bride entered on the arm of her father. Her gown was made of white slipper satin with Schnapperehl sleeves. A light basque bodice buttoned to a heart-shaped neckline and a full skirt which drifted into a sweeping train. Her veil was that of her sister, Marion, a recent bride, and was of bridal illusion attached to a crown of tulle. She carried an arm full of white Madonna lilies.

Her matrons of honor were her sisters, Mrs. Karl E. Downs of Pasadena, Calif., and Mrs. C. Lycurgus Kiah of Cambridge, Md. They wore gowns of Mexican turquoise taffeta.

While the bodies of the attendants' frocks were fashioned after that of the bride's, the skirts in the colonial manner, were hoop-skirts. Miss Downs and Mrs. Kiah wore in Mexican turquoise taffeta. Four of the bridesmaids, Mrs. Theodosia Henry of Cincinnati, Ohio, Misses E. Louise Smythe of Austin, Texas, Ida Louise Jones of Atlanta, Ga., and Inez Alexander of Waterbury, Conn., wore trumpet gold frocks, similarly fashioned as those of the matrons.

Miss Ruth Dryscoll Bride of Dean Redd

AUGUSTA, Ga.—Miss Ruth Dryscoll, city school teacher, was married to George N. Redd, of Baltimore, Md., August 24, at Dallas, Texas.

Mr. Redd is dean of the college of liberal arts in Texas College, Tyler, Texas, and will be on leave of absence during the present school year to complete requirements for the Ph. D. degree at Columbia University. Mrs. Redd will accompany him.

The ceremony was performed at the home of Professor and Mrs. C. H. Eby, who served as best man and matron of honor, respectively. President Dominion H. Glass of Texas College officiated at the marriage.

Wears Coral Satin The bride's costume consisted of a gown of coral satin, with accessories to match; her only jewelry was a pearl brooch, an heirloom worn by her great-grandmother when she married. Her corsage was a bouquet of gardenias and lilies of the valley. The matron of honor wore a gown of peach net and lace. Her accessories were peach, her bridesmaids wore tulle and roses. The brynn home was decorated with lilies and baskets of gladioli.

HERE'S SMITH'S HOTEL, BALTIMORE, ONE-TIME POLITICAL CENTER

Exterior of Smith's hotel, 435 Druid Hill Avenue, where the late Thomas Smith, Democratic chief, made his headquarters. It is one of the landmarks of Baltimore. Through its doors for the past thirty years have walked the State's leading politicians and the nation's most prominent theatrical, boxing, and sporting personages.

Here is Mr. Smith's favorite bedroom in his hotel at 435 Druid Hill Avenue. He stayed here (No. 3) at times after his wife died when he did not feel like going to his Reisterstown Road home. Here candidates for governor, Senator, mayor, and lesser officers came to Mr. Smith for very private conferences.

Lobby in Smith's hotel showing clerk's desk, pigeon holes for mail, and cashier's cage. Many callers to see Mr. Smith have waited their turn seated in four chairs at right. Visitors included State and city officials as well as people from all walks of life.

Auto Hits Pole, 2 Dead, 4 Hurt

When a car driven by Oscar Berry, 30, of 588 Orchard Street, crashed into a telegraph pole on the Washington Boulevard near the Patapsco River Bridge on Friday night, two passengers were killed and four others were seriously injured.

The dead are Miss Irene Ennis, 18, of 557 Dolphin Street, and Manuel Truitt, 18, of Pennsylvania Avenue near Biddle Street. Both were pronounced dead upon arrival at the University Hospital.

Those injured were Henry White, barber of Biddle Street near Madison Avenue, lacerations of the forehead, and scalp; Miss Dorothy Leatherberry, 18, of 1210 Park Avenue, internal injuries; Miss Margaret Hicks, 20, of 2124 Pennsylvania Avenue, abrasions of the head, left elbow, and right shoulder.

Miss Doris Wallace, 21, of 557 Mount Street, a possible fractured leg and internal injuries; Miss Ennis suffered head injuries, and Truitt died from hemorrhage. Berry, the driver, received slight cuts and bruises on the face.

Driver Cited Berry was cited in the Western police district as a reckless and drunken driver. When he lost control of the car it swerved, sideswiped one telegraph pole, sent into the middle of the road, and crashed against another.

Holdup Victim Goes to Hospital

Harry King of 703 Franklin Street told officers at the North-west police station that he was attacked by three would-be hold-up men at Greenwillow and Wilmer Streets, Sunday night.

The robbery was unsuccessful, but King was forced to seek treatment at the University Hospital for minor injuries.

After reporting a fight with four unidentified men during which he received cuts on his face, Robert Hughes, 24, of 853 Mulberry Street, was charged with disorderly conduct, Sunday.

Flight a Mystery The charges were brought by the arresting officers, who said that Hughes was unable to describe his assailants at Fremont Avenue and Bradley Street, and could not tell what caused the fight.

After a dispute in a cafe at 1228 Pennsylvania Avenue, Avon Watkins of 1111 Carson Street, was arrested for cutting George Lowe, 50, of 605 W. Lafayette Avenue.

Lowe was treated at the Provident Hospital for a deep wound over his left eye.

Gets Year for Taking 5 Suits

Accused of taking five men's suits valued at $3.00 apiece, stolen from a neighborhood clothing store at 220 E. Pratt Street, Leonard Milton, 23, was sentenced to a year in the house of correction, Wednesday.

In arresting Milton, officers fired two shots over his head during a chase. They said that Milton dropped the bundle of clothes at their approach and ran.

Two Get Year in Typewriter Theft

Charged with stealing a typewriter from a printing establishment where he was employed, Nimus A. Louden, 46, and his accomplice, Willie Parker, 24, of 922 N. Calhoun Street, were sentenced to one-year jail terms in criminal court, Wednesday.

Suspect Faces Numbers Charge

Arrested in a tap room at Redwood and Eatow Street, allegedly with a bag of numbers slips and dreambooks, Wilbert Byrd, 39, of 632 W. Lanvale Street, was held under $500 bail, Tuesday.

His alleged accomplice, Washington Brown, of 512 N. Carrollton Avenue, was released, although Byrd testified that Brown made the collections.

Sergeant J. Wilson of the Western district said he suspected the two immediately upon seeing them together, as Byrd had been arrested on similar charges.

When the men got in their car, they allegedly sped away at the officer's approach. Byrd was arrested when he returned to the tavern.

Driven to Steal Judge Ponders Incest Charge Against Man

Charged with embezzlement of $50 from a wholesale delicatessen company at 5 S. Lloyd Street, where he worked as a truck driver, Howard Young, 40, was given three months in the House of Correction in criminal court on Wednesday.

Young excused his deed by saying that he was a "henpecked husband" and that his wife goaded him into the theft by her repeated demands for money to be sent to a daughter in New York.

According to testimony, Young, the truck, and the $50 all disappeared on July 8 after Young made a collection in Washington for his employer.

He admitted spending the money. He had been sentenced three times on similar charges.
