Problem Of Handling Mexico Taft Legacy To Wilson.

NO INVASION IS INTENDED

Four Thousand Men Being Rushed To Southern Port As A Precautionary Measure — Two Other Brigades Get Orders To Hold Themselves In Readiness—Situation On Border Regarded As Serious.

Washington, Feb. 22.—Centering their efforts upon getting to the point of the Mississippi Valley...

This brigade, numbering 4,000 men and equipped with the heavy guns of the Mississippi Valley...

Within five days the whole brigade will be in camp at Galveston and be ready for an expedition into Mexico.

The main purpose of the expedition is plain on its face. It is not intended to invade Mexico...

It will be for President Woodrow Wilson to determine whether such an expedition should be dispatched...

Up to today the War Department has declined to counter the threats...

It has been decided that this is a greater period of time than can properly be allowed to elapse before dispatching the expedition...

Therefore, it was with the purpose of setting this time that orders were issued today for the shipment of the Fifth Brigade...

Orders were also issued to General Carr to prepare the Fourth Brigade...

Meanwhile the First Brigade, which is being equipped at Camp Gretna...

WILSON GIVES UP SEAT

Lets Woman Have It And He Stands In Crowded Train.

RAPS THE ROAD MANAGEMENT

President-Elect Expects To Stick Close To White House For Several Months After Inauguration.

[Special Dispatch to the Baltimore Sun.] Princeton, N. J., Feb. 22.—When Governor Wilson returned from New York to Princeton today he had to stand up.

From New York to Newark he had a seat in the smoking car, but at Newark he was crowded out and stood in the aisle.

At Newark he stood in the aisle. So did a lot of other people, and at every station somebody would come along and jam the President-elect in the back with a suitcase...

Though the next President was recognized, nobody offered him a seat, and that matter nobody offered a seat to any of the women who had to stand.

The conductor came along to punch his ticket for the third or fourth time the Governor, who was being away by the incoming passengers...

At New Brunswick he bought a seat and dropped it into his bag.

The conductor turned red, but made no answer. When the train got to Metuchen the Governor saw a woman...
