SERGT. F. J. PLUM DEAD The Sun (1837-1985); Jul 21, 1913; ProQu pg. 3 (1837-1985)

FRANK J. PLUM

SERGT. F. J. PLUM DEAD

Succumbs To Long Illness, Following Attack Of Pneumonia.

ON THE FORCE FOR 25 YEARS

Was In The Northwestern District During Policy Fight And Was Witness In Ward Trial.

Sergt. Frank J. Plum, of the Northeast-ern district, whose critical condition was announced in THE SUN yesterday, died yesterday morning at his home, 1722 West Lafayette avenue. Suffering with pleurisy from which complications developed, he went to St. Joseph's Hospital, where an operation was performed and last month he was sufficiently improved to be transferred to his home. Bright's disease developed, was sumiciently improved to be transferred to his home. Bright's disease developed, however, and last week there came a change for the worse. Sergeant Flum was 53 years old, having been born February 27, 1860. On May 1, 1888, he was appointed a probationer and a month later was made regular and as-signed to the Northwestern district. He was appointed sergeant on May 12, 1897, and in June, 1909, was transferred to the Northeastern district, where he had since been stationed. Flum was one of the chief witnesses in the trial of Capt. Bernard J. Ward by the Folice Board in 1909, which resulted in Ward being dropped on January 1, 1910. A counter charge was brought against Flum during that trial in which it was alleged that the Sergeant had demanded "protection" money from a woman on Me-Culloh street.

Surgeant Plum had completed 25 years of active service. He first came before the people of the city prominently in the policy crusade of the nineties. His beat in the Northwestern district embraced the strong-beld of the policy game managers, as well years policy crusade of the nineties. His beat in the Northwestern district embraced the strong-hold of the policy game managers, as well as the houes of the rabid devotees of the game, the negroes. He raided the policy "joints" time and ngain, but each time the cases collapsed. Plum charged "tamper-ing" by "inside" interests. Sergeant Plum, bestdes his widow, Mrs. Annie M. Plum, leaves four children-Frank J. Plum, a policeman in the West-ern district; Mrs. R. J. Mackall, John G. Plum, of Cumberland, Md., and Miss An-nie Plum. A brother, Emil G. Plum, of Washington State, also survives. The funeral will be held tomorrow morning from St. Martin's Catholic Church, Rev. Carroll C. Smyth officiating. Burial will be in Lorraine Cemetery. The pullbearers will be selected today by the Police Board from among his for-mer mates on the force.