

Governor Mandel To Go To London

Governor Marvin Mandel will leave Baltimore today to join Maryland's World Trade Mission at the London Container Exhibition.

While in London, the Governor will tour the exhibits, where the Maryland Port Authority is sponsoring a trade booth, and will be host of a reception and trade presentation for United Kingdom businessmen and port officials. He is expected to return Wednesday.

The World Trade Mission is an effort by Maryland businessmen to promote economic development abroad.