

Incendiarism in Montgomery.

[Special Dispatch to the Baltimore Sun.]

ROCKVILLE, Md., Feb. 8.—The people of Darnestown are alarmed at the presence in that locality of one or more persons evidently bent on incendiarism. Recently an attempt was made to burn the store and residence of John Jones by setting fire to a sack containing inflammable material which had been placed close to the wood-work of the building, but the flames were discovered before much damage had been done. H. Cissell had a large quantity of straw and fodder set on fire and destroyed and the family had great difficulty in saving the residence. A few nights ago Clyde Griffith, returning home late from a dance, discovered a pile of kindling wood at the corner of the house all ready to be set on fire. He saw two men run off.
