

FOUR HUNDRED POUNDS REWARD.

July 2, 1779.

RAN off, on Sunday night the 11th inst. from Onancock, in Accomack County, Virginia, sundry NEGROES, three of whom, belonging to the Subscriber, he can only describe, viz. JESSE, a tall yellow fellow, about 28 years old; ISAAC, a dark well-set fellow, a shoe-maker by trade, about 25 years old; and AKRAM, a dark short thick set fellow, about 22 years old. They went off in a large boat, calculated for 9 oars, of the whale-boat construction, her inside painted red, and has a white bottom, her frame cedar and mulberry, and her foremast step of oak, painted red. It is believed the above-described Negroes have been influenced away by infamous Myfter and Carbine, and that their intentions are to plunder, the boat being well calculated for that purpose. It is supposed they lurk frequently about the straits and islands up the Bay; Hunger River, and Pocomoke, are probable places for them to rendezvous — I will give One Hundred Pounds for each Negro, and One Hundred Pounds for the boat, and pay the charges of conveying them to me.

ISAAC SMITH.

N. B. It is probable, they may change the colour of the paint; she is a very long boat; they took off one sail, but may have more.
