

FIVE HALF-JOES REWARD.

RAN AWAY, last October, from the Nottingham Forges, on the Great Falls of Gunpowder, Baltimore County, in Maryland, a Malatto Fellow, named HERCULUS, about 40 years of age, six feet high, or better, stout well-made, thin boney face, and a remarkable scar on one of his legs, or perhaps it may now be sore, as his legs were often so; a Forge-Carpenter by trade, an ingenious fellow; he stammers in his speech, and particularly, when taken by surprise, he is hardly able to speak at all. He has run away several times; and says, he has been back among the Dutch, and they use him very kindly, and pay him good wages. He went off this time with a Negro Fellow, who passes for a free man, and it is supposed he will attempt to do the same. His apparel cannot be particularized. All persons are forewarned, not to hire, conceal, or carry off said Negro, at their peril. Whoever takes up, and brings home said Negro; shall receive the above Reward, paid by HENRY HOWARD.

Feb. 28, 1782.