

Baltimore, July 8, 1783.

Ran away, on the 11th of June, instant, from the subscriber, living in Dorchester County, on the Eastern Shore of Maryland, (near Cambridge) a Negro Man Slave, named JONATHAN, about 32 years of age, 5 feet 4 or 5 inches high, has a yellow complexion, speaks quick, is very artful, subject to running away, and when taken, is fertile in expedients to effect an escape; it is said he passes for a free man, and that he has been lately seen working at Mr. Moore's mill, in Baltimore-Town. He had on and took with him, a pea-green-coloured broadcloth coat, a kersey vest and breeches, and a tow shirt, with other articles of apparel; but it is probable may change his dress.—Whoever takes up said Slave, and secures him so that the subscriber gets him again, shall have FOUR DOLLARS Reward, besides what the law allows, with reasonable expences, paid by JOHN ANDERTON.

☞ Whoever takes up said Slave, it is hoped will have him properly ironed and confined in a gaol, as nothing less can secure him.—Frequent opportunities may be met with at the County-Wharf, Baltimore, to convey a line of information to

J. ANDERTON.
