President National Bar Association of the United States.

HON. J. C. NAPIER,
Honorary member James C. Napier
Lawyers' Association, Senior member
Nashville Bar, Member National Bar Association.

The National Bar Association was organized in the year 1925 with purposes similar to those of the James C. Napier Lawyers' Association, organized in the year of 1933, except that the National Bar Association offers to protect the civil and political rights of all citizens of the several states of the United States. This organization has made itself felt throughout the length and breadth of these United States.

The James C. Napier Lawyers' Association, in addition to the relationship its members bear to one another as professional practitioners, is interested in the intellectual advancement together with proper human relations among the members of this organization and between the members of this organization and the general public. In its entertainment of the National Bar Association from August 1 through August 4, 1935, it attempts to carry out the policy of the National Bar Association in making this Convention a Convention for the people. To this end, it invites the public to all of its sessions.--Walter S. Walker.
