MILES W. CONNOR, President

Convention Song

HELP TO BUILD A CHRISTIAN WORLD

Mighty is the task which every man is given
If the Christian banner is unfurled.
Each must shoulder arms against the force of sin
And help to build a Christian World.

CHORUS

Help to build a Christian world, Help to build a Christian world.
In this glorious battle you may have a share
Help to build a Christian World.
Help to build a Christian world, Help to build a Christian world.
If you'd have God's kingdom come to us on earth,
Help to build a Christian World.

God designed that youth and age with hearts aglow
Though the darts of sin at them are hurled,
They shall catch the vision of a better day
And help to build a Christian World.

Beautiful and spacious are the earth and skies.
Wonderful the waters round them curled,
Yet the glory of it all is not complete
Till we build a Christian World.

"Who gives himself to the task of guiding youth in Christian ways is rendering the greatest service which mankind can give. This life which touches other lives and breathes into them the spirit of hope, faith and love; which by its ennobling touch raises souls from the drab lowland of mere physical existence to a mountain of divine inspiration where they become aware of their real relationship to God and their fellowmen—such a life is truly working with God in building a Christian World. This is the life of the consecrated church-school teacher."

The Unchanging Word

"Never can the Bible grow old and out of date, nor can custom ever steal its perennial freshness and infinite variety. One of the oldest books we know, it is yet of the most modern and matches and meets all the experiences and needs of our day and life.....To know this book is in itself an education. It broadens the brain, kindles the imagination, purifies the heart and transforms the life."

James H. Snowden in "Outfitting the Teacher of Religion."
