ARCHIVES OF MARYLAND

Edited by BERNARD C. STEINER AND J. HALL PLEASANTS, M. D.

Published by authority of the State

VOLUME XLV (State Council Series, Volume 6)

JOURNAL AND CORRESPONDENCE OF THE STATE COUNCIL, 1780-1781.

This volume of the Archives is now ready for distribution. The attention of members of the Society who do not now receive the Archives is called to the liberal provision made by the Legislature, which permits the Society to furnish to its own members copies of the volumes, as they are published from year to year, at the mere cost of paper, presswork, and binding. This cost is at present fixed at one dollar, at which price members of the Society may obtain one copy of each volume published. For additional copies, a price of three dollars is charged.

The forty-fifth volume of the Archives of Maryland is the sixth volume in the sub-series of state documents relating to the period of the Revolutionary War. The Council Proceedings were copied from Liber C. B. No. 24, and the correspondence of the Council from Liber No. 78; both of these are contemporary copies of which the original rough minutes and drafts are in the keeping of the Maryland Historical Society. The letters and reports to the Council are from two sources in the possession of the Society; namely, the three series of bound volumes of manuscripts known familiarly as the Black, Brown and Red Books from the color of their bindings; and a mass of bundles of manuscripts arranged in chronological order by Charles Fickus some five years ago. These sources are more fully described in the introduction to Volume 43. Material drawn from the bound volumes is identified in the margin of the present volume by name of series and number of document, while papers taken from the second source are located by a date reference only. The marginal references showing the date and source of each document are an innovation in the editing of the series, begun with this volume. As in other recent volumes of the Archives, much space has been saved and, we believe, no interest lost by the excision of formal headings and conclusions of letters. The preparation of the copy was begun and carried out by the late editor of the Archives of Maryland, Bernard Christian Steiner, from copies made by Miss Lucy Harwood Harrison and the publication of the volume has been effected by Dr. J. Hall Pleasants, with the assistance of Charles Fickus and Miss Carolina Virginia Davison.

The introduction is by Lawrence C. Wroth, Esq., and contains a bibliography of the writings of Dr. Steiner.

THREE FOUNDATIONAL SERVICES OF MARYLAND TO THE AMERICAN SYSTEM OF GOVERNMENT.

ADDRESS OF DECOURCY W. THOM ON FEBRUARY 13, 1928, AT A MEETING OF THE MARYLAND HISTORICAL SOCIETY,
AT ITS HOME, 201 W. MONUMENT STREET,
BALTIMORE, MD.

History records the persistent effort of group after group of mankind to make this, that, or the other progressive step in the march of civilization. Nearly always one person led in that advance. But occasionally more than one individual has led the van. For example, Darwin and Wallace simultaneously announced the origin of species and Newton and Horrocks worked out separately but at the same time the mathematical truths about gravitation, and so on, and so on. Thus did civilization strain forward until it attained unto the form and the populations and the developments and the problems that were extant in the early part of the seventeenth century. Most countries in the civilized world were then seething forward with development. Modernness had begun to reign. In our mother country, Great Britain, the chiefest evidence of that modernness was a fierce and underlying yearning for individual Christian liberty. All factions desired a National Church. The question was, should that Church be Roman, Anglican or Puritan; should it be governed by Bishops or by Presbyters; were the theological doctrines of Trent, of Augsburg or of Geneva to rule in Great Britain? For the religious compromise of Elizabethan days, with its "Act of Supremacy," its "Act of Uniformity" and its "Thirty-nine Articles," had lost general favor and irked the zealous adherents of Rome or of Geneva. The Church of Rome was firm as crystal in its tenets, and the Genevans—the Presbyterian Church—were equally set in its doctrinal beliefs. In the swing and sway of the popular mind throughout the past few reigns—through the sometimes barbarous though mainly statesmanlike handling of religious questions under the great Elizabeth—through Mary's doings—through the tolerant protestantism of James and the narrowness of Charles—through the flux of all those troublous times—there remained steadfast, militant, girding for the fray, the two opposing absolutisms—the Roman and the Genevan, which latter became in England the Puritan. Now, the Roman party was united. The Puritan consisted:—

First, of the Evangelical Churchmen, or Conforming Puritans, who accepted Episcopacy, but not the "right divine" of kings:

Secondly, of the Presbyterian, demanding exclusive ascendancy, and that the National Church be modeled precisely as John Calvin's Commentaries set forth; and the Presbyterian Church asserted its "right divine" no less stoutly than the Stuart kings asserted theirs:

Thirdly, of the Independents or Congregationalists, destined, because of their votary Cromwell, their victories in battle and their individuality, congregation by congregation, to predominate in the Puritan triumph.

The Anglican party became submerged after a concentrated effort to subjugate the Calvinistic spirit in the Reformed Church of England, or, as Archbishop Laud put it, "to have recognized the Divine Origin and rights of Episcopacy, the Apostolic succession, the necessity of a visible Church, the doctrine of sacramental grace and the propriety of order, decency and reverence in Christian worship."

In the fierce struggle of the creeds the Roman lost first to Puritan; whereupon the Independents, led by the mighty Cromwell and asserting individualism as contrasted with the "right divine" of Presbyterianism, became the triumphant faction of the triumphant Puritans. All England was distraught. Sweet kindness from man to man was banished, because of doctrinal differences. Though the gentle Founder of Christianity had belonged to no denomination, and preached such broad and inclusive doctrine as the Sermon on the Mount, the Christians of England, in the days of Charles the First, grew to slaughter one another, because of petty differences in religious views. What a revolting spectacle to the thoughtful student of modern times! It tintured the political troubles under James I and Charles I, which may be said roughly to have resolved themselves into the various phases of the efforts of those kings for absolutism in opposition to the struggle of noble Englishmen to preserve the glorious precedents which, broadening slowly down, had come to make the English Constitution the freest then extant.

Such were the times—restless, bitter, furious, intolerant. Was there no refuge from such a welter? Did the lands beyond the seas offer no forgetfulness? Nay, they called for active spirits to subdue them; Peace for the troubled conscience, Refuge from warring friends, Rest for the tired worker in old questions, and Dynamic work for one's family, for one's native land, and for the race, lay yonder beyond the broad Atlantic main. So, it seems to me, must have called the opportunities of this Continent, especially to the two earlier Calverts.

Sir George Calvert, trained man of affairs, ex-Secretary of State, of an adventurous turn of mind, one who had been a convinced Protestant, and had become an equally convinced Romanist, undismayed by his disastrous failure in trying to settle his grant of Avalon, in Newfoundland, determined to found a colony, which came to be called Maryland. He there designed tolerance of all Christian religions; he designed for himself abstraction and interest in founding here an enterprise far removed from the wrangling of his old associates; he designed here to nurse the fortunes of his family; but, above all, he, the veteran statesman, designed to establish so far as might be the Utopian settlement dreamed of by the good and great Sir Thomas More, where separation of Church and State, freedom of religious worship according to any Christian form, and manhood suffrage could be practiced. Sir George Calvert, created Lord Baltimore in 1624, died two months before the Charter of Maryland passed the Great Seal, and it was granted to his eldest son Cecilius, second Lord Baltimore, who was fully sympathetic with all his father's plans and "trod in his paths." Upon both their minds had shone the Utopian views of the great Chancellor Sir Thomas More, through the curious happening, that his great-grandson, Father Henry More, who, like all the Chancellor's descendants, venerated all his views, was the close comrade of the first Lord Baltimore when Secretary of State, and, it is believed, both his chaplain in his retirement and the tutor of his son Cecilius. Under all these ameliorating influences, then, did Cecilius, second Lord Baltimore, calm and statesmanlike and steady and of sturdy businesslike disposition, take up the task of settling his Palatinate of Maryland. Tolerance, Peace, Success were the main motives actuating him. Charles the First, who granted the charter, was a Protestant, Cecilius Calvert was a Romanist. The charter called for freedom of religious worship according to any Christian form. Cecilius Calvert's letter of instructions to the little band of two hundred colonists in the Ark and the Dove inculcated that same tolerance in religion; and that one hundred and twenty-eight of the two hundred colonists took the oath of "allegiance," just prior to embarking, proves that number to have been Protestants; and as the other seventy-two are not recorded as so declaring themselves, we may conclude that they were Romanists. These seventy-two, who had "forsaken the ship" prior to the administering of the oath of "allegiance," re-embarked at the Isle of Wight, but many others who had disembarked with them did not join the little squadron. Turn to Volume V, Archives of Maryland; Proceedings of the Council, 1667-1687, pp. 267-268, and read what testimony Charles, third Lord Baltimore, son of Cecilius, and from 1661 till 1675 resident Governor of Maryland, gave in writing in 1678 to the Lords of the Committee of Trade and Plantations as to the toleration exacted by the colonists before sailing, and explaining why it would be dangerous to scrutinize the religious complexion of the colonists in Maryland and asserting that making exhaustive scrutinies "would certainly either endanger Insurrections or a General Dis-peopleing of the Provynce, which is at present in great peace and Quiet, all persons there being secured to their content, for a quiet enjoyment of everything that they can Reasonably desyne. The Reason why such scrutinyes would be thus Dangerous, is that vizt, That at the first planteing of this Provynce by my ffather, Albeit he had an absolute Liberty given him and his heirs to carry thither any Persons out of any of the Dominions that belonged to the Crowne of England who should be found wylling to goe thither, yett when he came to make use of this Liberty, He found very few who were inclyned to goe and seat themselves in those parts. But such as for some Reason or other could not lyve with ease in other places. And of these a great parte, were such as could not conforme in all particulars to the severall Lawes of England relateing to Religion; many they were of this sort of People who declared their Wyllingness to goe and plant themselves in this Provynce, soe as they might have a Generall Toleraccon settled there by a Lawe by which all of all sorts who professed Christianity in Generall, might be at Liberty to worship God in such manner as was most agreeable with their respective Judgement and Consciences, without being subject to any penalytes whatsoever, for their soe doeing, Provyded the Civill peace were preserved. And that for the securig the civill peace and preventing all heats Feuds, which were generally observed to happen, amongst such as differ in opynions upon Occasion of Reproachful Nicknames and Reflecting upon each other's Opynions, it might by the same Lawe be made Penall to give any offence of that kynde. These were the condicions proposed by such as were willing to goe and be the first planters of this Provynce, and without the complying with these condicions, in all probability, This Provynce had never beene planted. To these condicions, my ffather agreed, and accordingly soon after the first planteing of this Provynce, these conditions by the unanimous consent of all who were concerned, were passed into a Lawe and the inhabitants of this Provynce have found such effects from this Lawe and from the strict observance of it as well in relation to their Quiett as in Religion to the farther peopleing of this Provynce That they looke on it, as that whereon alone depends the preservation of their Peace Their Propertyes and their Libertyes. This beinge the true state of the case of this Provynce it is easy to Judge what consequencyes might ensue, upon any scrutinyes which should be made in order to the satisfyeing theis particular Inquiries."

Plainly the Colony of Maryland was intended by its owner and the colonists to be "The Land of the Sanctuary," and not in any sense a polemical ground. Today the blessed recognition of the fact, that the spirit of belief, and not its formal expression, is the solemn need of every human soul has swept gloriously forward, but two and three-quarter centuries ago, that truism found affirmation in no country, save the little Colony of Maryland.

Cecilius Calvert, Second Lord Baltimore, and the first Colonists of Maryland thus first founded in what is now the United States, indeed, first founded in the English-speaking world, absolute freedom of religious worship in any Christian form. That is the first and unaccompanied foundational service rendered by Maryland to our American system of government. I make that assertion with full confidence, for, when it fell to me to write the following inscription for the base of the Cecilius Calvert statue which is standing upon the western steps of the Baltimore City Court House I submitted that inscription to such historians as William Hand Browne, Woodrow Wilson and others. They unanimously affirmed it. There, then, is inscribed the proud pronouncement:—

of Maryland and Avalon in America who on November 13th, 1633, with the co-operation and assent of the first Colonists proclaimed in England and on March 25th, 1634, established in the Palatinate of Maryland for the first time in the English speaking world Freedom of Religious Worship according to any Christian Form and separation of Church and State."

But in addition to this and then leading in Christendom Maryland was at the same time well forward in the van of the great world army pressing on towards that greatest earthly goal—Individual Christian Liberty constitutionally protected. And Cecilius Calvert and the first Colonists had Maryland proclaimed and practiced and enforced thorough separation of Church and State just as absolutely as that was proclaimed and practiced in a limited number of other governments. Here then is Maryland's second foundational service to the American system of government. Though not the absolute first leader here as she was in her first foundational national service, yet was she herein splendidly to the fore. But in her third great foundational service to our American system of government she alone led the way again. I refer to her leadership in demanding the fullest practicable recognition of the individual voter when the Colonies had become independent of Great Britain. Maryland had not forgotten the first of her great triumvirate of basic principles of government—the right of every free man to one vote. True, that after the year 1678, increasing population had obliged her to substitute representation for personal attendance of the voter in the Legislature to cast his vote. Such representation assumed various phases. They are interesting but we need not tax our limited time tonight with analyzing them. Let us rather examine precisely and illustratively when and how Maryland initiated the movement which became successful nationally in 1787 in impelling towards duly proportionate representation in State Legislatures and towards a specified balance of representation between Senate and House of Delegates in the normal American State.

Maryland would not join the American Confederacy until 1781, nor the United States until 1788. In those years, respectively, she had gained her two great demands in modern times, first that the Northwest Territory—that is, the lands lying north of the Ohio, east of the Mississippi, south of the Great Lakes and west of Pennsylvania, and from which have since been formed the following States, Ohio (in 1802), Indiana (in 1816), Illinois (in 1818), Michigan (in 1835), Wisconsin (in 1848), and Minnesota east of the Mississippi (in 1858)—should be treated as National property to be parcelled out by Congress into free, convenient and independent governments republican in form and in keeping with the spirit of the “ Ordinance of 1787.”

And the success of the second of those great modern demands of our gallant State is shown by Article 2 of the Ordinance of the Northwest Territory of 1787, as follows:—“ The inhabitants of the said territory shall always be entitled to the benefits . . . of a proportionate representation of the people in the Legislature.” This principle was put into effect in the first Constitution of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota. Those Constitutions required not only proportionate representation in the Legislature but specifically ordered that in the State Senate in Ohio, in Indiana, in Illinois, “ the number of Senators . . . shall never be less than one-third nor more than one-half of the number of representatives ” (in the lower House). See, respectively, Sec. 6, Art. I.; Sec. 6, Art. III, and Sec. 5, Art. II. And Michigan decreed “. . . the Senate shall, at all times, equal in number one third of the House of Representatives, as nearly as may be.” See Sec. 2, Art. IV. And Wisconsin decreed, “ The Senate shall consist of a number not more than one third nor less than one fourth of the number of the members of the Assembly ” (the lower House). See Sec. 2, Art. IV. And to end the roll call Minnesota decreed, “. . . but the representation in the Senate shall never exceed one member for every 5000 inhabitants, and in the House of Representatives one member for every 2000 inhabitants, which is to say the Minnesota Senate was decreed to be 40% as large as the lower House.

The twin principle of proportionate representation so far as was practicable in swiftly growing States and of an upper House about one-third as large as the lower House, thus induced by Maryland, became the recognized American way to apply State by State that chiefest American principle of government, the rule of the qualified majority. That twin principle spread rapidly and blessedly. The United States of America are today forty-eight in number. In thirty of them the Senate is as nearly as is practicable one third or more as large as the lower House. In ten other States the Senate is one-half or more as large as is the lower House. Those thirty-eight States govern themselves in the characteristic American way. Many of those thirty-eight States were formed rather late in our history; but despite that handicap they contain (according to the last obtainable American census figures, those of 1920) 80,106,638 people; that is to say, 76% of the population of Continental America. And they paid in 1926 $1,693,455,297 income tax; that is to say, 78% of the total income tax paid in Continental America. And those same thirty-eight States contain ten of the thirteen largest American cities, namely, New York, Chicago, New Orleans, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Minneapolis, Detroit, Cleveland, St. Paul and Indianapolis. Those cities through the incidence of the principles of the Northwest Ordinance of 1787 forced on the American Nation by Maryland the Colony and Maryland the State, enjoy representation in their State Legislature as far as is practicable, in accordance with their percentage of the population of their respective States, whose Legislatures, as I have said, are composed of a Senate containing as far as is practicable one third to one half as many members as there are members in the lower House. Clearly that typical American system of city and county representation in their State Legislature has helped them. The helpful participation of these ten cities in upbuilding their various States on the above scale is important to consider from a national governmental standpoint because within different ones of those ten cities in those States live, first, a majority or a very large proportion of the population of their respective States, and, secondly, their aggregate population (see census of 1920) amounts to 12,512,314, which was almost 12% of the population of Continental America in that same year. Since then the cities of Continental America have grown to contain about 52% of its population. The remaining 48% live in the country. It is interesting to consider what is today the prevailing feeling of that city population compared with that of the country population concerning the constitutional wisdom of, say, the Eighteenth Amendment. But let us consider a few concrete Maryland illustrations from some official figures of the year 1926 as to lawyers and doctors and for the year 1923 as to industries:—

In Baltimore City live, say, 2000 lawyers, and in Maryland counties, say, 500.

In Baltimore City live, say, 1300 doctors and in Maryland counties, say, 1700.

In Baltimore City the out-turn of industrial business was $654,766,001, and in Maryland counties $248,880,221, most of which latter figure is related to industries contiguous to Baltimore City. To what proportion is that illustrative cross-section of Maryland's population assured voting influence in her legislative determination of what is best for Maryland? The assent of the Maryland Senate is requisite to adopt any Maryland law. The City of Baltimore, which contains more than half of the population of Maryland, has in the Senate only six votes out of twenty-nine. That choke point is constantly at work in restricting the full influence of such kind of matured experience as I have indicated. But the ten cities I have named are, by their various States in consequence of the "Ordinance of 1787" inaugurated through Maryland, allowed in due proportion to their population to help produce State laws. Their States are developing splendidly. Maryland started two hundred years before most of them, thrived relatively while she practiced virtually the principles I have set forth in this paper, but coincident with the gradual abandonment of those principles has dwindled in comparison with such of those thirty-eight States practicing the methods of government I have indicated, and which have existed one-third or more as long as has Maryland,

I say, not only in population, and so in number of representatives in the National House of Representatives (we once had nine and now have but six), but also in general national power in conventions of the whole people. Maryland continues to be best located of all locations on tidewater in the United States to grow wealthiest and most populous through manufacturing, which is the normal way to such growths in a city. Some eighty years ago Maryland's choicest manufacturing location—Baltimore City—was more populous than the then city of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. But today Philadelphia numbers well over two million inhabitants and is the greatest manufacturing city within our national boundaries, while Baltimore City numbers little more than 800,000, inhabitants, and the whole population of Maryland is less than four-fifths of the population of Philadelphia. Maryland suffers thus because she will not utilize for herself the effective spirit of government which through her introduction has so greatly benefited each of the thirty-eight States I have indicated. The typical American system of city and county representation in their Legislatures which I have set forth in this paper smacks of the fact that the National Convention which in 1787 formed the Constitution of our country adopted in secret session by a vote of six States to five States the following resolution offered by Mr. Wilson of Pennsylvania in order to make the Senate of the United States as numerous as the House of Representatives:—"That the same proportion be observed in the election of the second house" (the U. S. Senate) "as the first" (the House of Representatives). That plan had to give way to having only two Senators from each State rather than have the smaller States remain outside of the Union. That submission was under the guise of the sovereignty of each State so to be represented and did not touch the case of any American county or city, neither of which is sovereign. However, the concession of two United States Senators to each State and the counting of three-fifths of the negro population in calculating the population of any State to be represented in the National House of Representatives, and the perpetual forbidding of slavery in the Northwest Territory, and the acceptance of Maryland's demands concerning the Northwest Territory, removed the four chief difficulties in forming our National Constitution. So adopted it was on September 17, 1787.

But was Maryland veritably the originator and causative agent in creating that great "Ordinance of 1787," and was that ordinance of vast importance?

Herbert B. Adams, who was professor of history in Johns Hopkins University, answers the first two of those questions in that "best of his papers," "Maryland's Influence Upon Land Cessions to the United States." He wrote on page 22 of that pamphlet:—"The first move that was ever made in Congress towards the assertion of national sovereignty over this western country was made by Maryland. On the 15th of October, 1777, exactly one month before the Articles of Confederation were proposed to the Legislatures for ratification, it was moved "that the United States in Congress assembled shall have the sole and exclusive right and power to ascertain and fix the western boundary of such States as claim to the Mississippi or South Sea, and lay out the land beyond the boundary, so ascertained, into separate and independent States, from time to time, as the numbers and circumstances of the people may require. Only Maryland voted in the affirmative." And on page 24:—"The credit of suggesting and successfully urging in Congress that policy which has made this country a great national commonwealth, composed of "free, convenient, and independent governments," bound together by ties of permanent territorial interests,—the credit of originating this policy belongs to Maryland, and to her alone." And here quoting from "The Instructions" of Maryland to her delegates which were read in Congress, May 21, 1779, and after the accession of Delaware . . . which left Maryland as the only colony that had not joined the Confederacy, again on page 26 Dr. Herbert B. Adams wrote:—

"We are convinced policy and justice require that a country unsettled at the commencement of this war, claimed by the British crown and ceded to it by the treaty of Paris, if wrested from the common enemy by the blood and treasure of the thirteen States, should be considered as a common property, subject to be parcelled out by Congress into free, convenient and independent governments, in such manner and at such time as the wisdom of that assembly shall hereafter direct. . . ." We have seen how Congress exercised its "wisdom" in constituting the Legislatures of the various States carved from the Northwest Territory dealt with in the abortive Ordinance of 1784 and in the one enacted in 1787. And, finally, Herbert B. Adams wrote on page 52 of that pamphlet:—"The Ordinance of 1787 is but the legal outcome of Maryland's successful policy in advocating national sovereignty over the western lands. The leading principles of this Ordinance are now recognized in all parts of our country, but those principles were long ago approved of by Maryland, although in a somewhat singular manner."

And it is Daniel Webster who in his speech in 1830 in reply to Hayne confirms to us the vast importance of that Ordinance of 1787, as follows:—

"We are accustomed to praise the lawgivers of antiquity; we help to perpetuate the fame of Solon and Lycurgus; but I doubt whether one single law of any lawgiver, ancient or modern, has produced effects of more distinct, marked and lasting character than the Ordinance of 1787. We see its consequences at this moment, and we shall never cease to see them, perhaps, while the Ohio shall flow."

[The reading of Mr. Thom's paper has revived the ancient dispute on religious toleration in Maryland and the motives which prompted it. It is certain that religious toleration was an accomplished fact in early Maryland, and it is immaterial whether the motive was founded on policy or religion. It is equally certain that after the Protestant Revolution and the establishment of the Church religious toleration departed the land for a century. It remained for the Revolution of 1776 to restore the civil and religious freedom of the Catholics; and fifty years later the disabilities of the Jews were removed by the act of 1825.—Editor.]

BERRY FAMILY OF CHARLES COUNTY.

ARTHUR L. KEITH.

Probably all the Berrys of Charles County prior to 1800 are derived from and connected with Samuel Berry who first appears on the records of this county in 1690 and is called an old man in 1732 and died before 1753. There were other Berrys in Maryland as far back as 1652. The only Berry whose importation is shown prior to 1680 is that of William Berry, son of James Berry, whose importation is placed at 1652. He appears to have settled in Calvert County. Richard Preston of Calvert County in his will, Sept. 16, 1669, prob. Jan. 8, 1669/70, mentions his grandchildren William and James Berry. They probably belong to the William Berry of 1652. William Berry (grandson of Richard Preston) left issue who may be traced in Calvert, Prince George, and other counties. James Berry (grandson of Richard Preston) disappears from the records unless he is identical with the James Berry of St. Mary's County who in 1686 had recently married Anne, widow of Dr. John Wynne of Popular Hill St. Mary's County, whose will is dated Jan. 22, 1683/4, prob. March 10, 1684/5. I hope to prove in my forthcoming Cawood article that before she married Dr. John Wynne she had been the wife of Stephen Cawood of Charles County, who died in 1676. The significance of this point lies in the fact that the Berry family of Charles County and the Cawood (also the Smallwood) family were closely connected in the records.

The first Berry record found in Charles County is that of Sam Berry who brought suit against John Wilder, 1690 (Lib. R fol. 19). In 1697 William Hutchinson made deed to Humphrey Berry. So much we get from the index but Liber W (for 1697) to which the index refers has been lost, so no further information is to be had from that source. If he is identical with the Humphrey Berry (son of Samuel) he must have been very young at that time. No other Humphrey (unless this is an exception) aside from the son of Samuel has been found. On Oct. 2, 1704, Stephen Cawood (son of the Stephen Cawood who died in 1676, and about 1695 he returned from St. Mary's County) and wife Mary sold to Doctor Samuel Berry 100 acres, part of "Hull" (Lib. D No. 2, fol. 75). In March, 1713 Stephen Cawood and Samuel Berry sued James Maddox. Cause and issue not shown. In 1732 Samuel Berry petitioned to be levy-free. Petition was granted. He died before 1753 leaving no record of his death. In 1753 one Samuel Berry was the possessor of the 100 acres of "Hull," bought in 1704 of Stephen Cawood, but he was not the Samuel Berry who bought the land but the son of Humphrey Berry whose will probated in 1772 (see below) confirmed his son Samuel in the possession of this land. From this fact we may deduce Humphrey Berry as a son of Dr. Samuel Berry. Another Samuel Berry died in 1776 mentioning in his will his brother Humphrey's son Samuel, and sisters Elizabeth Berry and Ann Berry. These add other children to Dr. Samuel Berry. Also Sarah Roby of Charles County is described in 1734 as the daughter of Samuel Berry. I believe also that William Berry who died in Charles County in 1733 was another son. I shall speak of him later.

"Hull," patented for 600 acres by Stephen Cawood in 1675, lies in the Mattawoman River about three miles northwest of the village of Waldorf and about twenty miles south of Washington. It was bounded by early Smallwood tracts, and other Smallwood, Cawood, and Berry lands later were in the immediate vicinity. The writer visited the place in July, 1926, and "Hull" (it still goes by that name) is partly possessed today by men of the name Berry.

Dr. Samuel Berry (no clue has been found as to his wife's name) had the following children:

1. Humphrey Berry.
2. Samuel Berry.
3. Sarah Berry.
4. Elizabeth Berry (apparently died single).
5. Ann Berry (apparently died single).

and probably also

6. William Berry.

1. Humphrey Berry (son of Dr. Samuel) made will in Charles County, Sept. 19, 1770, prob. Jan. 22, 1772. Wife Ann is named extx. He leaves to son Samuel Berry "Mt. Paradise," part of "Hull," and "Berry;" to son Humphrey Berry he leaves "Smallwood's Plains;" to son Hezekiah Berry he leaves "Nutwell" and "Discord;" to son Benjamin Berry he leaves "Batchellor's Forest" and "Berry's Lott;" to son Joseph Berry he leaves one negro. Testator mentions daughter Martha Smallwood, son-in-law Samuel Smallwood, and granddaughter Letitia Smallwood. The will was witnessed by Samuel Hanson, Geo. Lee, and Matthew Moore, Jr. Humphrey Smallwood married 1. Mary Smallwood, daughter of Thomas Smallwood (see Maryland Historical Magazine, XXII, 151) and had two children:

7. Humphrey Berry (for his descendants see Maryland Historical Magazine, XXII, 171).
8. Thomas Berry (died without issue before 1779, probably before 1770, since his father's will of that date does not mention him).

Humphrey Berry married 2. Ann Lovejoy, daughter of Joseph Lovejoy of Prince George County. They had the following:

9. Samuel Berry.
10. Hezekiah Berry.

11. Benjamin Berry.
12. Joseph Berry.
13. Martha Berry (she married Samuel Smallwood. For her descendants see the Maryland Historical Magazine, XXII, 176).
14. John Berry, born about 1752 (not mentioned in his father's will).

2. Samuel Berry (son of Dr. Samuel) deposed on Aug. 2, 1774, in regard to "Berry's Hazzard" of Thomas Berry, that he was 56 years old. His birth may be set at about 1718. Before 1742 he had married Ann Thomas, daughter of Daniel Thomas. He made will in Charles County, Sept. 7, 1775, prob. March 18, 1776. He leaves to sister Elizabeth Berry 50 acres on Cool Spring Branch; mentions sister Ann Berry; cousin Samuel Berry, son of Humphrey Berry; Elizabeth Willett (relationship not shown); and son

15. Thomas Berry, "his only heir."

His will is witnessed by Ben Cawood, Jr., Thomas Smallwood, Jr., and Mary Cawood, wife of Benjamin Cawood.

3. Sarah Berry (daughter of Dr. Samuel) married before 1734 to ——— Roby. Their descendants have not been traced. Berry Robey appears in the 1790 census of Montgomery County. There was also a Berry Robey, Jr., who in the same county married Lucretia Barton, Aug. 19, 1801. These two Berry Robeys probably descend from the marriage of Sarah Berry and ——— Robey.

4. Elizabeth Berry (daughter of Dr. Samuel) made will in Charles County March 18, 1794, prob. April 7, 1794. She made bequest to nephew John Berry, his wife Elizabeth Berry, and their children William Berry and Mary Berry.

6. William Berry (probably son of Dr. Samuel) died about 1733. His account was presented in Charles County, Feb. 9, 1733 by his wife Esther Berry. No mention is made of children but here probably belongs one Esther Berry, born in Charles County in 1729, died in March, 1828 in Washington County, Virginia. She married Stephen Cawood, born Aug. 6, 1724 (son of John Cawood, son of Stephen, son of Stephen who died in 1676). They reared a large family of whom I shall treat in my Cawood article. Because of the close relations between the family of Dr. Samuel Berry and the Cawood family it seems almost certain that Esther Berry, born in 1729, was of that family. Among the many children of Stephen Cawood by his wife Esther Berry was one Berry Cawood who served in the Revolution under Gen. George Rogers Clark, and who was the ancestor of the Hon. C. Bascom Slemple of Virginia.

9. Samuel Berry (son of Humphrey, Sr.) had the following children as shown by the Piscataway Parish records:

- 16. Joseph Berry, born Aug. 7, 1751.
- 17. Samuel Berry, born Jan. 2, 1753.
- 18. Benjamin Berry, born Feb. 21, 1756.
- 19. Mary Ann Berry, born May 7, 1758.

10. Hepekiah Berry (son of Humphrey, Sr.) married and had the following children:

- 20. Hepburn S. Berry.
- 21. George M. Berry.

11. Benjamin Berry (son of Humphrey, Sr.) is probably identical with the Benjamin Berry who made will in Charles County, July 2, 1802, prob. Nov. 6, 1804. He mentions wife Chloe Berry, daughter Linder (Verlinde?), "my single daughters," and "all my children." The will is witnessed by Jacob Roby, Hezekiah Berry, and Jerom Osburn. (It is possible that the Benjamin of this will was not the son of Humphrey, Sr., but of Humphrey, Jr., or of Samuel, son of Humphrey, Sr).

14. John Berry (son of Humphrey, Sr.) is not mentioned in his father's will but must belong here for the reason that Elizabeth Berry (sister of Humphrey, Sr.) calls him her nephew, and Thomas Berry (son of Samuel, 1718-1776) in his will, dated Oct. 24, 1778, calls him "cousin John Berry, son of Humphrey Berry." The Prince George County census of 1776 gives the age of John Berry as 24, and makes him a neighbor of William Smallwood. John Berry was born, therefore, about 1752, married Elizabeth ——— (see will of Elizabeth Berry, above) and had:

22. William Berry.

23. Mary Berry.

15. Thomas Berry (son of Samuel who died in 1776) apparently died single. He made will in Charles County, Oct. 24, 1778, prob. Oct. 31, 1778. His will contains a wealth of suggestions which if properly followed out would solve some of the doubtful connections of the Berry, Smallwood, and Cawood families. He makes bequest to aunt Elizabeth Berry, aunt Ann Berry, to cousin John Berry, son of Humphrey Berry; to Mary Eleanor Atchison (no relationship shown); to Anne Conner, wife of Richard, during her life or until married (sic!); to William Smallwood (of John) "the upper part of my plantation in Prince George County * * * so long as he conducts himself properly as a tenant;" to Charles Inness, 100 acres where he now lives, to remain as a tenant; to Samuel Berry Atchison, son of Mary Eleanor Atchison, lands called "Duck Pond," "Porkhall," and "Batchellor's Delight" (the last two were once Smallwood holdings), lying in Charles County, also certain negroes; to Benjamin Cawood, Jr., land on east side of Duck Pond where the said Benjamin Cawood now lives. Good friend Benj. Cawood, Jr., is appointed exor. The will is signed "Tho Berry of Samuel." It is witnessed by Notley Ford, John Ford, and John Acton, Jr. On Aug. 4, 1802, Samuel Atchison Berry sold part of "Porkhall." I regard him as identical with Samuel Berry Atchison of Thomas Berry's will. No record has been found showing that the change of name had been made legally.

I next give records of Berrys who apparently belong to this line but whose exact place has not yet been found.

Bassil Berry and wife Jemima Berry had daughter Elizabeth Berry, bapt. April 10, 1768, in St. John's or Piscataway Parish, Prince George County. In 1778 Bassil Berry was living in Montgomery County.

Verlinda Berry owned part of "Hull" in 1782.

Ann Berry made will in Charles County in 1798, mentioning daughters Lyda Marlow and Verlinda Acton; grandchildren Hanson Marlow (son of John Marlow), William Marlow, John Marlow, and Barbary Acton.

Benjamin Berry is mentioned as son-in-law in will of William Brawner, 1802-03, Charles County. Lucy Berry is at same time mentioned as testator's daughter.

Samuel Berry was granted license to marry Ann Berry in Prince George County, Jan. 30, 1810.

A much earlier reference is found in the will of John Contee, gentleman, whose will was probated in Charles County, Aug. 21, 1708. (See Baldwin III, 111). In this will he mentions sister Agnes Berry of England. In the probate of the will depositions are taken from Col. James Smallwood, Eliza: Berry, spinster, aged 30, and others. The association of the names Berry and Smallwood is very suggestive. This may be a valuable clue to those who wish to trace the Berry family back to England, assuming of course that this Elizabeth Berry is of the family of Dr. Samuel Berry.

Other Berry references may be found in my article on the Smallwood family. See Maryland Historical Magazine, XXII, 139.

COLONIAL RECORDS OF CECIL COUNTY.

Contributed by LOUIS DOW SCISCO.

Cecil County was created in 1674. The present court house at Elkton, completed in 1791, has been inadequate for public needs for many years. A fireproof addition to the main structure houses the record offices of the court clerk and register of wills but its space is very limited and quite inadequate. The county authorities are considering a reconstruction of the court house.

The deed book series of the county records is shelved in the congested office of the court clerk. In the court house proper, two unused rooms of an upper floor serve as storage places for disused records, one containing court clerk's records, the other treasurer's records. The earliest of this stored material dates back to the last decade of the 18th century, but the greater part is of the middle 19th century. It has been piled in disorder and has accumulated dirt since its deposit. Its future is in question. In a third room of the court house proper are wooden cupboards, three of which contain discarded deed and court records, shelved in an orderly way but without arrangement as to time. Many of these are delapidated. In date they range from 1674 to about 1870. There are some 800 record books here, a large portion being docket or fee books of former court clerks.

The conveyance records of the clerk's office seem to have been entered separately from the court proceedings from the beginning, instead of being intermingled, though sometimes both kinds of records were placed in the same volume. The earliest volume marking was alphabetical, in a series that extended from Liber A to Liber H. Sometime about 1710 the clerk John Dowdell introduced the idea of using for volume indication the initials of the recording clerk and this plan has since been followed. Joseph Baxter was clerk from 1790 to 1805. He probably found the accumulated record volumes somewhat the worse for wear, for he carried on a systematic transcription of the older records. Of the 14 volumes of colonial deed records now on the record office shelves 13 are Baxter's transcripts. The original books, mostly in bad condition or worse, are among the discarded material in the storage rooms. The colonial records shelved in the record office are as follows:

Liber M No. 1, with shelf number 1, is a transcript of conveyances derived from Libers D and G. It has 512 pages. (a) Pages 1-123, from Liber D, carry deeds entered from September, 1674, to about March, 1678-79, with three added papers of 1678, 1679, and 1680. Edward Williams and Swithin Welles were clerks. (b) Pages 124-216 presumably came from Liber G. They carry entries by Daniel Pearce, clerk, made from about November, 1698, to about March, 1699-1700.

(c) Pages 217-480, probably also from Liber G, carry conveyance entries by John Dowdell, clerk, made from September, 1702, to about September, 1705. (d) Pages 480-512 have addenda of 15 papers entered at intervals from 1708 to 1710 by Dowdell.

Liber J D No. 2, numbered 2, is a transcript with 401 pages, made from old conveyance Liber H and old Liber J D No. 2. (a) Pages 1-55 carry deeds recorded by William Wyvill, clerk, from about April, 1701, to about June, 1702. (b) Pages 56-401 bear deeds recorded by John Dowdell, clerk, from about September, 1705, to June, 1716.

Liber J D No. 3, numbered 3, is a transcript of 540 pages, taken from the older book of like title. Pages 1-185 have entries by John Dowdell, clerk, made from June, 1716, to December, 1718. Pages 185-540 are entries by Stephen Knight, clerk, from December, 1718, to March, 1722-23.

Liber D K No. 1, SK No. 6, WKL No. 3, with shelf number 4, shows by its compound title that it is a transcript of three earlier books. (a) Pages 1-380 carry entries of April, 1723, to May, 1733, made by Stephen Knight, and entries of May, 1733, to March, 1733-34, made by William Knight. (b) Pages 381-548, derived from original Liber W K & L, contain entries made by William Knight from March, 1737-38, to April, 1746, by Francis Lee from April, 1746, to January, 1749-50, and by Matthias Bordley from January, 1749-50, to November, 1751.

Liber without back-title, not shelved with the deeds series but kept in the record office, has pencilled cover legend "Land Division Record Book." Its 363 pages carry decisions on property bounds made from November, 1724, to November, 1751, for which there is an index of 90 references. The book also has 15 folios of writs issued in 1699.

Liber W K No. 2, numbered 5, has 539 pages of transcribed conveyances, all entered originally by William Knight, clerk, in the period from March, 1733-34, to April, 1740.

Liber W K N No. 11, numbered 6, is a transcript of 486 pages with conveyances recorded by William Knight from April, 1740, to June, 1745.

Liber F L No. 13, numbered 7, is a transcript of the former book so titled. It has 547 pages. Pages 1-401 are entries recorded from August, 1748, to September, 1749, by Francis Lee, clerk. Pages 402-547 are entries of October, 1749, to June, 1753, by Matthias Bordley, clerk.

Liber marked "Land Commrs No. 5 T K 1752," not shelved with the deeds series but kept in the record office, is a record of decisions on property boundaries made from November, 1750, to June, 1775. It has 341 pages and an index of 74 references. An inside entry gives F K No. 5 as its title.

Liber M No. 8, numbered 8, is a transcript volume of 550 pages of conveyances. Pages 1-411 are entries by Matthias Bordley from June, 1753, to October, 1756. Pages 411-550 are entries by Francis Key, clerk, from October, 1756, to June, 1758.

Liber M B, numbered 9, has 484 pages of transcribed conveyances entered originally by Francis Key, clerk. The period covered is from June, 1758, to August, 1762.

Liber F K No. 2, numbered 10, has 483 pages of transcribed conveyances originally recorded by Francis Key. Record was made from July, 1764, to May, 1767.

Liber F K No. 3, numbered 11, is a transcript of 550 pages of conveyances entered by Francis Key from May, 1767, to May, 1770.

Liber F K No. 3, numbered 12, is a transcript volume of conveyances with 183 pages. Pages 1-47 are entries by Francis Key from May, 1770, to January, 1771. Pages 48-183 are entries by Benjamin Young from January, 1771, to June, 1772.

Liber B Y No. 2, numbered 13, has 459 pages of transcribed conveyances entered by Benjamin Young from June, 1772, to August, 1774.

Liber B Y No. 4, numbered 14, has 352 pages of conveyances, of which pages 1-189 are entries of Benjamin Young from June, 1774, to August, 1776, and pages 189-352 are entries of Baruch Williams from September, 1776, to December, 1779. This volume is an original record. It contains also 167 pages of court proceedings for the sessions of August and November, 1769.

The discarded records of the court clerk have no shelf separation of deeds from court records, but for convenience of reference they are presented separately in the following lists.

Liber D is an original book of conveyances recorded from about June, 1674, to about January, 1679-80. It has 181 pages.

Liber remains consisting of two fragments of a book of conveyances, embracing pages 123-179 and carrying entries made from June, 1703, to April, 1704, are probably the remnants of old Liber G.

Liber remains embracing pages 131-243 of an original deed liber are probably part of old Liber H. The fragments have contents recorded from April, 1704, to May, 1709.

Liber with damaged back binding still showing "1714" has pages 15-197 of conveyances recorded from April, 1713, to June, 1716, together with 74 unnumbered pages of writs of 1698 to 1700, and 4 pages of surveys entered in 1707. It is probably part of old Liber J D No. 2.

Liber J D No. 3, with back binding missing but with flyleaf title, is a book of conveyances recorded from June, 1716, to March, 1722-23. It has 362 pages.

Liber D K No. 1, has back binding missing but is identified by flyleaf title. It contains 202 pages of conveyances recorded from April, 1723, to January, 1725-26. In the volume are also 165 pages of court proceedings from April, 1717, to November, 1718. Accompanying this book, though not properly a part of it, are the remains of old deed libers with entries of 1702, 1738, 1750, and 1751.

Liber W K No. 2, marked "1734 to 1739" as back-title, is identified by flyleaf legend. It is a parchment bound book of 329 pages. Contents are conveyances entered from March, 1733-34, to February, 1737-38.

Liber remains of a conveyance record are without identifying legend, but are probably Liber W K L No. 3. Pages 23-144 are present, carrying entries of December, 1740, to March, 1750-51.

Liber W K No. 11, marked "1740 to 1765" as back-title and identified by flyleaf legend, is a parchment bound book of conveyances extending from April, 1740, to June, 1745.

Liber F L No. 13, is a volume of 505 pages with conveyances entered from August, 1748, to June, 1753. Some loose folios of deeds of 1740 and 1751 are with it.

Liber M B, identified by flyleaf legend, is without back binding. Contents are 748 pages of conveyances recorded from March, 1753, to August, 1762.

Liber remains without covers embrace loose folios 1-517 of conveyances extending from 1764 to 1767. Probably it is F K No. 2.

Liber without back-title carries conveyances recorded from May, 1767, to May, 1772. This is an unusually large liber and all its leaves are vellum. Evidently it was constructed to serve as the parish register of the famous London parish whose name it bears, but was diverted to colonial uses. Its front cover has a panelled legend, "The Register Book of Marriages, Christenings and Burials in St. Margarets, Westminster."

Liber without covers has 237 pages of conveyances recorded from May, 1772, to May, 1773. It is probably old liber B Y No. 2.

Liber B Y No. 3, marked "1773 to 1774," has 296 pages of conveyances recorded from May, 1773, to August, 1774.

The old libers of court proceedings that are among the discarded records are mostly in poor condition, the original bindings having never been renewed. These court libers, in a few cases, contain some groups of conveyances.

Liber marked "1683 to 1692," is a parchment bound book of court proceedings without page numbering. It contains sessions of August, 1683, to September, 1692. In it are two loose folios of the session of March, 1692-93.

Liber marked "1692 to 1696," is also a parchment bound book, and is unpagged. It carries court proceedings from November, 1692, to January, 1697-98, together with 29 pages of court orders in probate matters from 1690 to 1692.

Liber E, marked "1700 to 1716," is a parchment bound book of 393 pages with session records from January, 1708-09, to March, 1716-17. It contains also 11 pages of conveyances of 1693 and 1696, and 15 pages of treasurer's accounts of 1695 to 1700.

Liber SK No. 1, marked "1718 to 1721," is identified by flyleaf legend. Contents are 466 pages of court records of sessions from March, 1718-19, to March, 1721-22.

Liber marked "1723 to 1730," and with cover legend "SK Court Proceedings," has 564 pages of session records from June, 1723, to November, 1730. It is parchment bound.

The office of the register of wills has its records shelved in modern steel cases. There are eleven volumes of colonial material in good condition. Ten of these were originally arranged in a series bearing roman numerals. At some later date they were renumbered in three groups, each with a series of arabic numerals. The bindings are much worn and identification of the volume is sometimes difficult.

EXTRACTS FROM ACCOUNT AND LETTER BOOKS OF
DR. CHARLES CARROLL, OF ANNAPOLIS.

Maryland September 20th 1748

My Lord

Among others you have taken an Assignment from M^r Samuel Hyde of a sume of money said to be due from me to him amounting to £465.. 3.. 5 at the time of makeing that assignment and long before I had a demand on M^r Hyde on account of an Insurence on a Vessell here and hence to Barbados there and Back again to the Port of Annapolis in Maryland the Premio and Comission on which Insurence be Charged me in Acc^t and I did to Him & can to yo^r Lordship or any unbiassed Person prove a Loss I sustained in the Voyage and which by his own Letter He Promised to make good.

I had also at the time of makeing the said assignment Effects in His hands and made him Remittance before any Knowledge of His Failing to the amount of about Eighty Pounds sterling which He Credits me with in a subsequent account transmitted to me by Captⁿ Jerningham Biggs and in which acc^t He Charges me with the said account assigned Y^r Lordship and therein strikes a Ballance which account no doubt will appear on his Books.

Altho the Loss I sustained on the Insured Voyage aforesaid was very Considerable more than what I am now to Propose to y^r Lordship to take yet for avoiding Litigation or Contest with y^r Lordship which I abhor with any; If in that account assigned to you, you will Credit me for one Hundred an thirty Pounds ster. for the said Dammage sustained as also Credit me for the Effects and Remittance made M^r Hyde before notice of the old assignment amounting to about Eighty Pounds which will appear by his Books I will Pay y^r Lordship the Ballance upon the first Notice from either M^r John Philpot or M^r William Black merchants in London to either of Whom you will Please to Communicate y^r answer.

If this Proposeal will not do I will Refer the whole to the Determination of the four merchants nominated Commissioners In London in this suit Commenced against me in y^r Lordships High Court of Chancery here in Maryland, and Whatever they Determine therein I will Comply with and Immediately Pay y^r L^{dsp} in the Hands of the two fore mentioned merchants.

I have that opinion of Y^r Lordships love to Justice Honour and Candour that you would not use any means or Permit any to be used which might tend to oppress any of His Majesty's Subjects within Y^r Province.

That I am a Good and faithfull Subject to His Majesty my Neighbours will testify and Your Lordships accounts, Rent Roll, and Improvements contributed to be made by me in Your Province will shew me to be a Good Servant to Your Lordship and therefore Deserve Your Protection. . . .

To The Right Hon^{ble} Charles Lord Baltimore

Maryland Sept. 20th 1748

Gentlemen

We In this Province can have Recourse to None others than Gentlemen in trade with whose Characters or Persons we are acquainted in such Cases as is the Present betwixt the Lord Baltimore and myself, therefore I hope you will Excuse me the Trouble I presume to Give you on the occasion and Wherein I must Request y^r assistance so far as is Consistent with Justice. The Inclosed Letter Seal'd for the Lord Baltimore I desire you will have Delivered to Him by a sure Hand, Copy of w^{ch} I likewise inclose for Your Peruseal that thereby you may Know the offer I make him which I hope you will Judge with me to be Reasonable. In Case His Lordship accepts thereof I desire you will jointly let Him Know that you will Pay Him any Ballance not Exceeding Three Hundred pounds ster and which ssume I conceive to be the utmost can be due, and which I will Keep Lodged in Your Hands for that Purpose.

Inclosed is Copsy of Mr Hydes last account transmitted to me since His assignment to Lord Baltimore nor Could I Know before the Remittance made of such assignment or failure of Mr Hyde, I make no Doubt but you will find His Books stand agreeable to this Copsy and which I Desire you will Examine. As to the matter of the Insurence I wrote so fully to Mr Black before that I think I need not Enlarge and I make no Doubt but He will Explain the Whole to you, His Lordship, or the Commissioners in Case His Lordship will Refer it, but if any thing Further be Needfull as Proof from Mr Carrington my merchant in Barbadoes who had the Dammage Viewed and Proved & in London Delivered to Mr Hyde such Proofs and offered any further satisfaction in the Case to whom Mr Hyde answered, that what He had Delivered was sufficient. I can have it from Him on the first Notice Transferr'd to Ye to London from Barbados.

And any Proof Needfull from Hence as to shipping the Goods or Effects on the said Vessel or any other Necessary to Explain the matter if Needfull. The Lord Baltimore has Certainly more than Enough assigned to Him for His satisfaction Exclusive of this Demand on me Wherefore I think it Hard that His Agents here should Insist on more from me than is Bona fide Due from me to Mr Hyde what is I am very Ready to Pay if more be taken I must attribute it to being overpowered.

I am not upon an Equal Footing here with my antagonist therefore I hope you will Endeavour to have the matter adjusted there which I am sure you can with a little trouble and some address do.

In Case His Lordship will not agree nor Refer as before I hope you will Procure the Comission to be Kept open till I instruct what is necessary to be Proved there from Mr Hydes Books and His Letters and answer to Mr Black on the subject and other Matters which require Proof there.

I hope for a Line in Relation Hereto by the first opportunity with yr sentiments. . . .

To Mess^{rs} John Philpott & William Black

Annapolis Sept^r 21st 1748

Captain Le Gras from M^r Black by Way of Port Mahon was at my House, He has a large ship many Hands and attended with great Expencc M^r Black by His Letters Expected He might Load with Tobacco & I suppose at High Freight Adequate to the Rate of Wages when fitted out; I am of opinion that it is Impossible for him this Winter or Perhaps till late in the Summer to Load such a ship; and as the Charges of lyeing ten months will be very great will it not be well for you and M^r Blacks friends to Consider and Advise Captⁿ Le Gras to make a Voyage by which M^r Black may not be, a Certain Looser as he will by His the s^d Le Gras Lyeing Here.

The Captⁿ tells me He Can be sure of a Freight of Masts &c from Casco Bay to Brittain in the Government Service where He may be time Enough to be Here before tobacco is Ready, and then Come out as to Less Expencc as to Wages and other Incidents. I Know you have M^r Blacks Intèrest at Heart, How far you would interfere here in I do not Know but Really it is a Pitty the Gentleman for want of Good Intelligence or some Persons here to advise or who have Power absolutely to order should be a Certain Looser as he must be if the ship lyes Here w^{ch} by an other Voyage may be Prevented.

I thought Proper to give you this Hint not Knowing but you may be able to sett the matter Right which I wish may be done. . . .

To Dr Geo Buchanan

Maryland Sep^r 22^d 1748

Sir

Two Days past Cap^t Le Gro's was at my house being just Arived from Port Mahon in your Winchester, I fear it will be very diffecult for him to get a Leading to Answer you with Respect to time, the Tobacco being Chiefly gone; and what is not Engaged by the many ships now in & dayly Expected, w^{ch} will likewise make Freight so low that Ships Fited out at the Wages yours was, can not make common Charges. The Cap^t told me he could get Freight of Masts yards &c for the govern-ment Service at Casco Bay, where he could be in good time to Load and get Home if he had any power so to do.

I wrote to your friend Doct^r George Buchanan Recomend- ing the Consideration of the matter to him and your other Friends who had any Power from you to direct.

The Cap^t might be here Early enough in the Spring for our present Crop w^{ch} will not be shiped very Forward by Reason of the Inspecting, And then no doubt fited out on easier Terms Than he is now, how your Friends will conclude this matter I do not know, but I wish the best for your Interest. . . .

To M^r W^m Black Merc^t In London

Maryland Octo^r 6th 1748

Gent

On the 4th Instant I drew a Sett Bills Exch^a on you payable to Mess^{rs} John Philpott & Lee in C^o for forty pounds on account of Th^o Slye w^{ch} I desire you will pay and charge to my acct^t.

 Mr. David Ridgely Howard, December 29th, 1927,
 Mr. J. Bannister Hall, January 7th, 1928.

The attention of the members was called by the President to Article III, Sec. 8, of the Constitution, which provides the following:

“Nominations for the officers, trustees and members of committees named in this Article shall be made viva voce at the stated meeting in January by members entitled to vote, and shall be registered by the Recording Secretary.”

The following nominations were made:

President—W. Hall Harris.

Vice-Presidents—Van Lear Black, DeCourcy W. Thom, and Clinton L. Riggs.

Richard M. Duvall was nominated for a Vice-President by Mrs. Hester Dorsey Richardson.

Corresponding Secretary—J. Hall Pleasants.

Recording Secretary—George L. Radcliffe.

Treasurer—Heyward E. Boyce.

(For Committces see Annual Meeting.)

The President then introduced the speaker of the evening, Mr. William Ingle, who read a paper entitled “Money: Its Nature and Function.”

At the close of the very interesting paper the Society extended a vote of thanks to Mr. Ingle.

February 13th, 1928.—The regular meeting of the Society was held tonight at its rooms with the President in the Chair.

The following persons, previously nominated, were elected to membership:

Active:—

Mr. Eugene A. Slack, January 9th, 1928,
Mr. Edward M. Hammond, January 12th, 1928,
Mr. William F. Lucas, Jr., January 31st, 1928.

Vice-President Thom reported for the Special Committee, consisting of the three Vice-Presidents of the Society, which was appointed to confer with the Municipal authorities concerning the recognition of the Two Hundredth Anniversary of the Founding of Baltimore. He stated that the Committee secured a meeting with the Mayor, who assured them of his appreciation of the attitude of the Society, and said that in due time he would avail of the pre-offered services of the Maryland Historieal Society.

Mr. Thom the speaker of the evening was then introduced. He read a paper entitled "Three Foundational Serviees of Maryland."

Mr. Duvall moved that the Society extend to Mr. Thom a vote of thanks and appreeiation for his most interesting and instructive paper.

In seconding the motion Dr. James M. Magruder discussed the subject and said that the Colony was not founded upon religious toleration, but more for financial reasons, but allowed freedom of worship.

Mrs. Hester Dorsey Richardson was then recognized by the Chair and stated "that as Dr. Magruder took the view that Cecil Calvert did not found the Province with any thought of religious toleration, but more for his financial reasons, she wished to endorse Mr. Thom's statements which were based on a letter from Charles 3rd Lord Baltimore, to the Board of Trade at London, in which he declared that his father had promised freedom of worship without penalties to all who would go to Maryland as first settlers; saying that she also had a copy of this letter and in addition to this, one from Earl of Arundel, father-in-law of Calvert, in which he said Lord Baltimore had so impoverished himself in setting forth his Plantation of Maryland, that he had to support him and his family." Mrs. Richardson then stated "that she thought it would be a pity to throw doubt upon Cecil Calvert's good intentions as declared in these records, but on the contrary they should be acknowledged and stressed at the Ter-Centennary of Maryland."

The motion having been seconded, discussed quite at length, it was unanimously carried.

There being no further business, upon motion seconded and carried, the meeting adjourned.

ANNUAL MEETING.

February 13th, 1928.—Immediately upon the adjournment of the monthly meeting, the Annual Meeting was called to order.

Attention was called to Article III, Sec. 8, of the Constitution which provides for the nominations of officers, trustees, etc., at the regular meeting of the Society in January. This was done, and the Ballot printed, and a copy sent to each member of the Society. It was stated however, that several discrepancies appeared on the Ballot:

Van Lear Black was re-nominated for a Vice-President, but as he withdrew his name this was not shown on the Ballot.

Dr. J. Hall Pleasants was nominated for Corresponding Secretary, but declined nomination and his name did not appear on the Ballot.

It was also stated that the present incumbents of the Committee on Genealogy and Heraldry were re-nominated without the nomination of someone to fill the vacancy on the Committee caused by the death of Dr. Thomas E. Sears. The President stated that these vacancies would now be filled by the Council.

Hon. Walter I. Dawkins made the following motion :

That, the Secretary be directed to cast the Ballot as printed, as there was to be no contest for any office.

The motion was seconded and unanimously carried.

The Secretary then announced that the election of officers and members of Committees had resulted as follows :

Acknowledgment was made of the Annual Report of the Council and the several Standing Committees.

Vice-President Thom made the following motion:

That, all the Reports be taken as read, as they are to be printed in the March issue of the Magazine.

Hon. Walter I. Dawkins seconded the motion. Discussion followed and the following amendment was offered by Mr. Thomas Foley Hisky:

That, all reports be accepted as read, with the exception of the Report of the Council.

The motion and amendment were unanimously carried.

The President then read the report of the Council.

There being no further business, upon motion duly seconded and carried, the meeting adjourned.

REPORT OF THE COUNCIL.

The Council reports, in so far as it is prepared to do so, upon the basis of such of the Reports of Committees as have been submitted:

The Permanent Endowment Fund has been increased four thousand three hundred dollars by a legacy under the Will of Mrs. D. M. Hite, and certain life memberships. Under the watchful supervision of the Treasurer and the Finance Committee, the finances of the Society continue to be in satisfactory condition.

The Society is indebted to its friends for many and valuable additions to its collections, among which may be noted, from The Colonial Dames of America, Chapter I, its Membership Chart; from the Estate of the late Mrs. Thomas B. Gresham, handsome silver candelabra and China; from The Maryland Branch of The National Society of Colonial Dames of America, Collections of American War Songs; from Mrs. Henry Stockbridge, books and documents from the collections of the late Vice-President Stockbridge; Dr. Clapham Pennington, large collection of genealogical charts and papers of historic interest; Professor Raphael Semmes, who has added to his already large donations of manuscripts, books, etc., from the collections made by the late John E. Semmes.

By the courtesy of General Lawrason Riggs, the Society has been permitted to continue on exhibition the valuable and interesting collection of early portraits of members of the Calvert family, secured by him in Italy and which he has had restored with unusual success.

The Bonaparte Room has been moved to the first floor and the space it formerly occupied is being furnished by Mrs. Francis T. Redwood, with an interesting collection of historic value.

The Society has taken an interest in the proposed recognition of the three hundredth anniversary of the Founding of the Province of Maryland and the two hundredth anniversary of the Founding of the City of Baltimore, as well as in the acquisition and preservation of the Flag House in Baltimore, and the undertaking of St. John's College, involving the purchase, restoration, refurnishing and preservation by it of the Hammond-Harwood and other colonial homes in Annapolis.

It has been found practicable to make very extensive changes and improvements in the lighting system of the buildings, to the especial advantage not only of the Library but of the Print and Civil War Rooms as well. Also to provide for some additional clerical service and for somewhat increasing the compensation of the members of the working force.

Assistance has been rendered the Governor in connection with enquiries made of him by The Stone Mountain Memorial Commission and to many persons seeking authoritative information upon historical and genealogical matters. In these cases, as in others of almost daily occurrence, the Society constantly recognizes the serious loss it has sustained by the death of its Corresponding Secretary, the late Mr. J. Appleton Wilson. Council has not yet filled the vacancy.

Some valuable work has been done in the photostat department of the Library, but difficulty is experienced in securing the services of competent and skilled operatives.

Volume 45 of the State Archives covering the Journal and Correspondence of the State Council, 1780-1781, has been completed and distributed. Volume 46 is well under way.

There is under consideration a tentative suggestion of coöperative work with certain of the Patriotic Societies, looking to more extensive card-indexing of valuable matter in the possession of this Society than its present resources permit.

Respectfully submitted, for the Council,

W. HALL HARRIS,
President.

REPORT OF THE LIBRARY COMMITTEE.

Your Committee takes pleasure in reporting that the accessions to the Library during the past year have been many and valuable, largely due to the interest and generosity of our membership. Statistics are neither interesting nor enlightening, but for purposes of record it may be stated that the donations included 140 volumes of books, 110 pamphlets, 600 manuscripts, 15 photographs, several photostats and some 500 pieces of local sheet music. Through the generosity of Mr. H. Oliver Thompson we have been able to acquire by purchase an eighteenth century volume of the Maryland Journal and Daily Advertiser, 1778-79, which closes a large gap during an important period. The Society is under special obligation also to Mrs. Mary B. Redwood, Mrs. Henry Stockbridge, Dr. John Donaldson Murray, Dr. Henry J. Berkley, Dr. Clapham Pennington, Mr. R. Brooke Hopkins and Mr. Raphael Semmes, all of whom have given largely and liberally. Miss Ellen Howard Bayard has deposited the Bayard Papers, consisting of pamphlets, account books, letters and documents concerning various members of the Bayard and Howard families, a collection of great value and interest. Accompanying the deposit were Herman's Map of Maryland and Virginia, 2 cornices from Belvedere Mansion, 2 rolls of maps and plates, 1 navy sword and 1 dress sword.

Our sheet music collection is now a rather imposing one. It will be remembered that from 1800 to 1870 Baltimore was one of the largest music publishing centers of the country; and aside from the interest as local imprints, these sheets, many of which bear interesting lithographed covers of historic places long since vanished, contribute materially to our knowledge of local iconography. And to the seeing eye they may also contribute fragments of information from which to piece out obscure biographical details.

The restoration and repairs of the manuscript archives was interrupted for a number of months by the serious illness of the principal worker, but for some months past the work has been resumed and three persons are now engaged on it. It is hoped that another year may show a substantial increase in this important undertaking. Through volunteer work, many thousands of State papers have been flattened out, sorted by months and years and boxed, so that reference to them is comparatively easy. Much remains to be done, but real progress has been accomplished.

The cataloguing has gone steadily forward and a second cataloguer has been added to the force. Segregation of duplicated material will enable us to dispose of the surplusage by sale or exchange and at the same time gain a little space on our crowded shelves. An order has been placed for two new newspaper stacks in the basement, which also will help to relieve the congestion.

Your Committee has sold a mass of duplicate pamphlets for the sum of five hundred dollars, a price, in the judgment of experts, very advantageous to the Society. No special mention is made of the Genealogical accessions, as they will be reported in detail by the Committee on Genealogy and Heraldry. The photostat machine has been operated under adverse conditions and the output, while quite considerable, has not been entirely satisfactory. Plans for its improvement are under consideration.

Respectfully submitted,

L. H. DIELMAN,
Chairman Library Committee.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON GENEALOGY AND HERALDRY.

The Committee on Genealogy and Heraldry regrets to report the loss of two of its most valuable members during the past year, Francis B. Culver, who served for many years as its most capable chairman, having resigned because of his removal to Washington, D. C., where he is now devoting his entire time to the office of Registrar General of the National Society, Sons of the American Revolution, and Dr. Thomas E. Sears, who died December 21st, 1927. Dr. Sears was the Secretary of the Maryland Society of the Cincinnati and devoted much time in the library of the Maryland Historical Society, searching original records, and he had acquired considerable data on many of the Colonial families of Maryland. Dr. Sears became a member of this Society in 1894 and had served on the Committee of Genealogy and Heraldry since 1904. He was noted for the care and accuracy with which he compiled his notes and was not only a diligent and enthusiastic member, but was always willing to aid others with data and suggestions.

During the year the Vestry Proceedings of the following Churches and other records have been indexed by Miss Harrison:

Vestry Proceedings of St. Paul's Parish, Queen Ann's Co., Md.

Vestry Proceedings of St. John's Parish, Prince George's Co., Md.

Vestry Proceedings of St. John's Parish, Caroline Co., Md.

Vestry Proceedings of St. Peter's Parish, Talbot Co., Md.

Vestry Proceedings of St. Michael's Parish, Talbot Co., Md.

Vestry Proceedings of Queen Anne's Parish, Prince George's Co., Md.

Vestry Proceedings of Stepney Parish, Somerset Co., Md.

Vestry Proceedings of Coventry Parish, Somerset Co., Md.

Ann Arundell Co. Rent Rolls 1675-1774.

Corporation of Annapolis, Md., 1757-1765.

Corporation of Annapolis, Md., 1765-1772.

Survey of lots in Annapolis, Md.

The work of photostating the lists of persons who took the "Oath of Fidelity" during the Revolutionary War has been almost completed and if time permits these copies will be bound and indexed during the coming year.

Through Dr. Arthur B. Kinsolving, Rector, and Clarendon I. T. Gould, Registrar, the original records of Old St. Paul's Church were deposited with the Society and permission granted to photostat such records that had not been previously copied. Photostat reproductions have been made of the records covering the years 1838-1925. These have been bound and are now being indexed by Miss Harrison. The records of the Parish from 1713-1837 were copied and indexed by Miss Harrison in 1904.

This Committee respectfully suggests that the Genealogies of Maryland Families, compiled by Hester Dorsey Richardson and Emily E. Lantz, and published in the Baltimore Sunday Sun from 1903-1908, be photostated. These articles were cut from the papers at the time of their publication and mounted in scrapbooks, but due to their frequent use and the natural disintegration of the poor quality of paper on which they were printed, they are falling to pieces and unless photostated immediately they will have to be withdrawn from use. We would further suggest that each article be bound separately and filed in its proper place with the other classified genealogies in the Society's collection.

Photostat reproductions, handsomely bound, of the genealogical charts of the members of Chapter I, Colonial Dames of America, were presented by that Chapter.

The card index of genealogical "source material," which is being compiled by Miss Kennedy, has been added to considerably during the year. The principle object of this index is to make readily accessible the location of data relating to Maryland families, especially in "out-of-the-way" places. It has proven very useful, and is a great time saver.

The following list of genealogies have been presented to the Library during 1927:

Vol. 3 of Ball Family records containing the Pennsylvania Pioneer Line. MS. compiled by the donor, Henry L. Kirk.

Genealogy of the Brown Family of Virginia. MS. compiled by the donor, Henry L. Kirk.

Utah Genealogical Historical Magazine, Vol. 27, 1926. Presented by Heber J. Grant, through Dr. Alfred A. Burdick.

Tatum Narrative 1626-1925, by Richard J. Tatum. Presented by Mrs. Richard Parry Tatum.

Barroll Family Bible. Presented by Miss Mary Barroll, Mrs. Maud Livingston Barroll, and Mrs. Thomas Dannallan Barroll, through Mrs. H. Irvine Keyser.

"Fourth Annual Christman Plea." An historical and genealogical narrative, compiled by the donor, Scotland G. Highland.

Publications of the North Carolina Historical Commission. Records of the Moravians in North Carolina. Fries. (Vol. 3, 1776-79.)

Genealogies of the Adams in London, Virginia and Maryland. Type-written MS. compiled by the donor, Mrs. Lida Bosler-Hunter.

Preston Genealogy, Orange County, N. Y., with sketch of the compiler, David C. Preston. Presented by Mrs. David C. Preston.

History of Foster Family, by D. I. Foster. Presented by Mrs. A. F. Anderson.

English Ancestry of the Wayne Family of Pennsylvania. Compiled by the donor, Edwin Jacquett Sellers.

Genealogy of the Whitney Family. MS. compiled by the donor, Mrs. Robert Richardson Gum.

Descendants of Robert Taylor. Compiled by the donor, Mr. Alfred R. Justice.

A History of the McMaster Family of Maryland. Typewritten MS. presented by John D. McMaster and Katherine McMaster.

National Society Daughters of Founders and Patriots of America, Vols. 8, 9, 10, and 16.

Genealogy of the Endress Family. Compiled by the donor, William F. Endress.

Worcester County, Md.—Tombstone Inscriptions. Typewritten MS. compiled by the donor, Millard F. Hudson.

Genealogy of the Fishbach Family. Compiled by the donor, Reuben D. Fishbach.

"Savage Tisdale and Allied Families." Genealogical and biographical. Presented by the American Historical Society.

National Society Daughters American Revolution. Lineage books, Vols. 88-92.

Hollyday and Denwood Genealogy. Compiled by the donor, Caroline R. Hollyday. MS.

General Society War of 1812. Proceedings 1922-1925.

American Clan Gregor Society. Year Book, 1924-1925.

Genealogical Records of the Randall Family. Compiled by Dudley A. Randall. (MS.) Presented by Dr. Mary Mead Dean.

The Lawrence Chase Townly Estate. The Mystery Solved. Compiled by Frank Alden Hill and presented by W. Meade Hollyday.

Winston of Virginia and Allied Families. Compiled by Clayton Torrence. Presented by Mrs. Charles Stinson Pillsbury.

Ancestry of Arthur Orison Dillon and Poems. Compiled by the donor, Arthur Orison Dillon.

Talbott Family of West River, Md. Compiled by the donor, Ida M. Shirk.

The Bache in Warley, by H. P. Kendall. Presented by John L. Sanford.

Gravestone Inscriptions in Ronaldson's Philadelphia Cemetery Co., Cumberland County, Pa. Marriages, 1761-1800. Presented by Miss Mary Atherton Leach.

Mallet Genealogy, 1694-1894. Compiled by Anna S. Mallet. Presented by Dr. Walter R. Steiner.

"The Huguenot," published by the Huguenot Society Founders of Manakin in the Colony of Virginia. Publication No. 3.

Stetson Kindred in America, Book No. 6. Compiled by the donor, Nelson M. Stetson.

Respectfully submitted,

JAMES E. HANCOCK,

ENTERTAINMENTS.

The Committee on Addresses and Literary Entertainments reports that during the past year, to wit; from February 1, 1927, to February 1, 1928, the programme at the different meetings of the Society was as follows:

February 14, 1927.—“Exhibition of a Group of Eighteenth Century Calverts and Their Story,” by Dr. J. Hall Pleasants.

March 14, 1927.—Presentation of a volume of Genealogical Charts on behalf of Chapter I, Colonial Dames of America, by Dr. Joseph S. Ames. An article on “William Claiborne,” by DeCoursey W. Thom, Esq., read by John L. Sanford, Esq.

April 11, 1927.—“The Lord Fairfax Stone and the Settlement of the Long-Disputed Western Boundary of Maryland,” by Mr. W. McCulloh Brown.

May 9, 1927.—“An Address on the Magna Carta,” by John L. Sanford, Esq.

June 30, 1927.—At a special meeting of the Maryland Historical Society the Eastern Shore Society awarded prizes in an historical essay contest and a paper was read on “The Literature of the Eastern Shore” by Mr. John H. K. Shannahan.

October 10, 1927.—“Economic Beginnings of Maryland,” by Raphael Semmes, Ph. D.

November 14, 1927.—“Baltimore in Maryland,” by Hon. Walter I. Dawkins.

December 12, 1927.—“Colonial Homes of Annapolis Purchased by St. John’s College,” by Dr. James Bordley, Jr.

January 9, 1927.—“Money; Its Nature and Function,” by Mr. William Ingle.

Respectfully submitted,

JOHN L. SANFORD,

Chairman.

REPORT OF THE TRUSTEES OF THE ATHENAEUM.

The Trustees of the Athenaeum submit herewith their financial report for the calendar year 1927.

The budget allowance at the beginning of the year was $4,500. We have expended in maintenance and improvements to the Society's building, wages, fuel, insurance premiums, etc., $4,956.36, leaving a deficit of $456.36. By action of the Council, December 9th, 1927, you, as President, were authorized to pay any deficit of the Trustees caused by the unusual expenses during the year. We do not anticipate any extraordinary expenditures during the year 1928 and the budget allowance should be sufficient. The following is a statement of our account. All bills have been paid.

Allowance.....		$4,500.00
Wages	$1,700.00
Special lighting authorized by the Council in the Library, Print room, Civil War room, Redwood and Bonaparte rooms.....	834.53
Electricity	237.19
Repairs to skylights, furnace, radiator hood covers and general repair work.....	377.18
Painting hallway from Park Ave. entrance to landing on stairs in main hallway; Bonaparte and Cohen rooms; and painting skylight.....	307.00
Fuel	1,080.00
Removing ashes from the cellar.....	70.00
Insurance premiums.....	158.56
Water rent.....	56.50
General wiring repairs.....	42.00
Miscellaneous	93.40
		4,956.36
Allowance		4,500.00
		456.36
Deficit.....		456.36

Respectfully submitted,

JESSE N. BOWEN,
Chairman.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON THE GALLERY.

Because of the short time this Committee has been acting, with its present membership, there are few accessions to report.

An eighteenth century chest-on-chest of native workmanship, bequeathed to the Society by Mrs. H. T. Beacham, has been placed in the upper hall.

Means are being considered to protect from dust the more valuable paintings in the hall.

Because of the crowded condition of the galleries, it is becoming more and more difficult to place new acquisitions. It will not be long before the Society will be unable to accept even the most desirable objects offered to it, because of the impossibility of properly placing them.

Respectfully submitted,

LAURENCE H. FOWLER, Chairman.
