

THE SENTINEL.

BROOKVILLE, MD.

FRIDAY, JUNE 1, 1860.

National Democratic Nomination

FOR PRESIDENT.

Hon. John C. Breckinridge,

FOR VICE-PRESIDENT.

General Joseph Lane.

THE NOMINEES OF THE NATIONAL DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

"With pride and exultation, we place at the head of our paper to-day, and shall keep it to the last, the people decide, in November next, the names of the Hon.

John C. Breckinridge, of Kentucky, for President, and Gen. Joseph Lane,

for Vice-President.

John C. Breckinridge,

General Joseph Lane.

Sentences to Vice-President

Lane.

Washington, June 20th.—A large body of people, accompanied of a band of music, proceeded to attend the reception of Vice-President Breckinridge, and to serenade him to honor of his nomination for the Presidency.

In response to repeated calls, Mr.

Breckinridge at length appeared, and addressed the crowd, saying that he felt deeply the manifestation of the loyalty of the nation to him.

He accepted the nomination of the national Democracy assembled at Baltimore, and with them believed in the equality and rights of the States, under the constitution. None exceeded him in loyalty and devotedness to his country, and for the perpetuity of the Union, he was willing to lay down his life.

The General was warmly applauded throughout his remarks.

He was followed by Mr. X. M. Y., who said the country was in a crisis from which it was the duty of the Democracy to retrieve.

He spoke at some length, and was frequently applauded.

The demonstration continued beyond midnight.

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.—This body, which assembled in the city of Baltimore, on the 18th instant, remained in session until Friday evening last, when it became evident that the discordant elements of which it was composed, and the varied and conflicting views of its members, could no longer remain quiescent; and every mother's son of them, through the means of pretended mass-meetings, as were built up. In all, the rump, when making its pretended nomination, embraced less than two-thirds the number of electoral votes in the whole electoral college, and by subtracting from the total number present the logans votes from Louisiana, Arkansas, Alabama, Massachusetts, and Maine, manufactured for the occasion, and also the minorities of Northern (Republican party) States delegates constrained to permit their votes to be recorded for Douglas by the successful perpetration of the unity-vote fraud at Charleston, and it will be per-cuted that he (Douglas) received but a negligible minority of votes, really—legi-itimately elected either to the Charleston Convention or to the Baltimore Convention as adjourned to Baltimore.

In another point of view, an analysis of the rump may not prove convin-ctive. Thus, we have to say that from the moment President Cushing declined to preside longer over its proceders, those proceedings became simply the acts of a mobious mass meeting, without the government of any rules other than the momentary will of the most brutal and brazen-lunged, who took part in the uproar in front of the stand. Mr.

Todd, who at once stepped into the position vacated by President Cushing, er-rorized a gentleman of right intentions, proved wholly unequal to the task. It was plain from the start that the rump entertained as little respect for him as for itself; for, though the authority of President Cushing had previously always been obeyed most remarkably, that of Mr. T.

Smith was as abhorrent of results other than to increase the confusion and the rule of brute force, as an attempt on his part to exercise similar authority over as many delegates as possible.

It was plain from the start that the rump had been around last evening for the purpose of witnessing the effect of the nominations at Baltimore upon the citizens and sojourners here. The Douglases made an effort, on Saturday evening, to get up a crowd to wait upon the "small giant," and congratulate him upon his nomination as the candidate of the "rump" convention. After much and ample time, they succeeded in drumming together about two hundred of all sizes and colors, who, headed by a band of music, proceeded to his residence, where they performed the usual office of cheering. This brought out the "little prolly," who thanked the patriotic assembly for the honor in a brief and very spirituous speech, evidently mortified at his own position, as well as at the similarity of the demonstration around him.

It is sometimes happened that men are placed in a position when they are reluctant to act and expose themselves to censure if not to extermination; they do not met. But we must be prepared to meet such occasions in this life. All men can more forward with dignity and calm than with fear.

Another resolution of the series adopted, instead of breaking up the Union, seems to be a pledge by the power of organization to unite by iron bands its different parts. He hoped this would be speedily and grandly realized. He saw nothing sectional there from any of the States.

Our peace, said Mr. Breckinridge, is to be maintained.

Another resolution of the series ad-

opted, instead of breaking up the Union,

seems to be a pledge by the power of

organization to unite by iron bands its

different parts. He hoped this would be

speedily and grandly realized. He saw

nothing sectional there from any of the States.

Another resolution of the series ad-

opted, instead of breaking up the Union,

seems to be a pledge by the power of

organization to unite by iron bands its

different parts. He hoped this would be

speedily and grandly realized. He saw

nothing sectional there from any of the States.

Another resolution of the series ad-

opted, instead of breaking up the Union,

seems to be a pledge by the power of

organization to unite by iron bands its

different parts. He hoped this would be

speedily and grandly realized. He saw

nothing sectional there from any of the States.

Another resolution of the series ad-

opted, instead of breaking up the Union,

seems to be a pledge by the power of

organization to unite by iron bands its

different parts. He hoped this would be

speedily and grandly realized. He saw

nothing sectional there from any of the States.

Another resolution of the series ad-

opted, instead of breaking up the Union,

seems to be a pledge by the power of

organization to unite by iron bands its

different parts. He hoped this would be

speedily and grandly realized. He saw

nothing sectional there from any of the States.

Another resolution of the series ad-

opted, instead of breaking up the Union,

seems to be a pledge by the power of

organization to unite by iron bands its

different parts. He hoped this would be

speedily and grandly realized. He saw

nothing sectional there from any of the States.