Poetry.

AN APPEAL.

See ye the poor that wait,
At the fairy city's gate,
Hungry for bread?
Hear ye the wailing cry
From those who starve and die
When hope has fled?

Know ye the thousand hearts
That breaks, when life departs
Freighted with grief,
Temptations, griefs and fears,
And human anguish tears,
With no relief?

The children! who can tell
Where little children dwell
Who have no homes?
Who teaches them to pray
At eve, and dawn of day,
Beneath the dome.

This be our work to do,
As life we journey through,
All bruised reeds
To bind; all hearts to cheer;
Be to the mourner near,
Plant flowers for weeds.

Selected Miscellany.

How Sal Disgraced the Family.

A traveler in the State of Illinois, some years ago, came to a lone log hut on the prairies, near Cairo, and there halted. He went into the house of logs. It was a wretched affair, with an empty packing box for a table, while two or three old chairs and disabled stools graced the reception room, the dark walls of which were further ornamented by a display of dirty tin ware and a broken delf article or two.

The woman was crying in one corner, and the man with tears in his eyes and a pipe in his mouth sat on a stool, with his dirty arms resting on his knees, and his sorrowful-looking head supported by the palms of his hands. Not a word greeted the interloper.

"Well," he said, "you seem to be in an awful trouble here: what's up?"

"Oh, we are most crazed, neighbor," said the woman; "and we ain't got no patience to see folks now."

"That's all right," said the visitor, not much taken back by this polite rebuff; "but can I be of any service to you in all this trouble?"

"Well, we've lost our gal; our Sal's gone off and left us," said the man in tones of despair.

"Ah, do you know what induced her to leave you?" remarked the new arrival.

"Well, we can't say stranger, as how she'd so far lost as to be induced, but then she's gone and disgraced us," remarked the afflicted mother.

[illegible] neighbor, and not as I should say it as I'm a-thar but then [illegible]

[illegible] there are a dozen families in the village. The devil only knows how they are to earn a living!

SHOOTING ON THE WING.

It is astonishing how stubborn young sportsmen are to believe in the principle that it is necessary to fire in advance of a distant flying object for the purpose of killing it! They persist in the foolish notion that almost on the instant of pulling trigger the shot reaches the object aimed at. Many years ago I was among that stubborn class, until convinced of error in a simple and extraordinary manner, which I relate for the purpose of endeavoring to impress upon my readers the importance of this fundamental principle. I was out shooting one day, in the month of October, in a large turnip field, with my dogs and gun, when a brace of patridges rose at the distance of fifty-five or sixty yards; they flew rapidly to the right, in direct line, one behind the other, at a space of about two feet apart. I took deliberate aim about two inches in advance of the leading bird and fired; when to my surprise, the hindmost bird fell dead, and the leading one, which was the object of my aim, flew away untouched. At the moment I fel so astonished at the result that I could not recover myself soon enough to discharge the other barrel at the bird which had flown away. On picking up my bird, I found that the shot had struck it in the head and neck; so that my aim, which was at least two feet six inches in advance of the bird killed, was not any too much at the distance, and rate at which they were flying. I felt so forcibly the erroneous principle upon which I had made my own error, that I felt as if a curtain had risen before me and exposed the true secrets of the art of killing cross shot. And I can truly assert that this simple but singular discovery did more towards improving me in the art of shooting, than all the advice and instruction I had received from practical and venerable sportsmen. Some of my sporting friends shortly afterwards on congratulating me on a "very sudden and wonderful improvement in my shooting in long ranges," inquired to what school of instruction I had been. I then related the circumstance above recorded; and, as they said, "very much to their edification."—The Dead Shot.

A WARNING TO EUCHRE PLAYERS.—A young man of Milwaukie, who is very fond of a daughter of a "piller," in one of the popular churches, was taking tea at the house of his adored a short time since, and had some fruit cake offered him. Being somewhat confused on account of his situation, as the cake was held out, he cried out "I pass." The father hearing him, and having played some in his younger days, was horror-struck at the young man's infatuation of the game, and thought he would teach him a lesson, and said bluntly, "You pass do you? then I order you up, and there's the door!" The young man sloped, saying "I go it alone."

An Important Letter
from Rev. JACOB STECKER, well known and highly respected throughout the State of Pennsylvania:

HANOVER, Pa., February 16, 1859.

Messrs. S. W. FOWLE & Co., Boston.—Dear Sirs: Having realized in my family important benefits from the use of your valuable preparation—Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry—it affords me pleasure to recommend it to the public. Some eight years ago one of my daughters seemed to be in a decline, and little hopes of her recovery were entertained. I then procured a bottle of your excellent Balsam, and before she had taken the whole of the contents of the bottle, there was a great improvement in her health. I have in my individual case, made frequent use of your valuable medicine, and have always been benefited by it. I would, however, caution the public against imposition, for since there is a good deal of spurious Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry and the genuine.
JACOB STECKER.

MEDFORD, Del., October 27, 1859.
S. W. FOWLE & Co., Boston.—Please send me a supply of Wistar's Balsam, as I am entirely out, and there is a great demand for it; it is doing wonders: it cures Croup, Asthma, Whooping Cough and Consumption, with ease. There has never been any of the genuine here until you sent me a lot some time since, but plenty of the counterfeit.
Yours, truly, JACOB Y POUCH.

☞ REMEMBER, purchasers, all who seek health, that the only genuine has the written signature of "I. BUTTS," as well as the printed name of the Proprietors, SETH W. FOWLE & CO., Boston, on the outside wrapper. Take no other; it were money wasted and health jeopardied.

HAGERSTOWN ADVERTISEMENTS.

GEISER'S
PATENT SELF-REGULATING
GRAIN SEPARATOR,
CLEANER AND BAGGER,
AND THE LATEST IMPROVED
Iron Tripple-Geared
HORSE-POWER,
All furnished Complete, if desired, on Four Wheels.
THE subscribers desire to call the attention of the Farmers and Threshermen of Montgomery and adjoining counties to their Improved Machine for the present year. This machine has now been before the public for six years, during which time it has earned for itself the reputation of being the best Separator in use; and we have made some very important improvements and additions for the present year, which renders it still more perfect; and we take pleasure in recommending it to the public, knowing that it cannot fail to give general satisfaction. We are now manufacturing two different sizes, as follows:
No. 1, the largest size, 10 8-horse power, 36 inch Iron Cylinder, Trunk 32 inches wide, with Stacker, delivering the straw 30 feet beyond the feeder and upon the stack 36 feet high, and can be easily managed either to carry the chaff with the straw, or deliver it in a separate place if required. It begs the grain, by reasonable management, sufficiently clean for market, and its capacity, under ordinary circumstances, is from 20 to 40 bushels per hour, or from 200 to 300 bushels per day, using eight horses and the same number of hands; but to force the work, under the most favorable circumstances, it will do considerably more, or, with the same number of horses and less hands, it will thrash and clean as much or more grain per day than any other machine now in common use and with as little increase and unpleasantness to the hands.
No. 2 is the same as No. 1, except something less in size and capacity; it is from 7 to 8-horse power, 30-inch Iron Cylinder, Trunk 24 inches wide.
Persons having good Threshers, can have Separators, suitable to their capacity attached, at a comparatively small cost. All our machines are sold under a warrantee.
We having practical mechanics, and being engaged in the manufacture of these machines for the last five years, and one of us having the advantage of twenty years practical experience in the threshing machine business, and having in our employ the most skilful workmen, and using the best material we flatter ourselves that we are now prepared to manufacture the most reliable machines in the most substantial manner.
REPAIRING done in workmanlike manner. All our work warranted to give satisfaction, or no sale. Orders respectfully solicited.
