

bays, came to this country about 35 years ago, and that the Piankashaws offered to divide with them their lands upon condition of their uniting with them against their mortal enemies the Chickasaws, with whom they at that time waged a bloody and unsuccessful war. The Piankashaws on the contrary assert, that the Delawares were only to have the use of the country to live and hunt upon, in conjunction with themselves, but that they had no right to sell it. The dispute however has been happily adjusted and a treaty was yesterday signed by governor Harrison, as commissioner on the part of the United States, and the chiefs of the Piankashaw tribe, by which the whole right of the latter to the country above described is vested in the United States.

BALTIMORE
WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 3, 1864.

The reader is requested to correct an error in the statement given yesterday of the SEVENTH WARD—the returns for elector of mayor and members of the first branch of the city council ought to stand thus:

Electors of Mayor. &c. Dr. John Coulter 216, Caleb Smith 78.

COUNTY ELECTION.

Murray's District.
Congress.
N. R. Moore, 215
William Mac Creery, 189
Tobias E. Stansbury, 210
Alexis Lemmon, 186
Moses Brown, 174
George Harryman, 162
Amos Ogden, 81
Charles Rudgeley, (of Wm.) 37

We have not received the complete returns from the county; but we learn that Messrs. Stansbury, Lemmon, Brown and Harryman, all republicans, are elected as delegates to the assembly—to the exclusion of Mr. C. Rudgeley (of W.) a member of the last representation, and a federalist.

When 'A Citizen' finishes the other parts of the tune he is now indulging his friends with, he shall then hear from us.

In answer to "a card" which appeared in the Gazette of yesterday, we would inform "A Citizen," that neither "accuracy, veracity or patriotism," would prompt any gentleman, to contradict the statement we gave, relative to the piece handed us, Signed "A Citizen."

The President of the United States has arrived at the city of Washington.

A man of business in Dublin, finding it impossible to get in his book debts advertised them to be sold by auction, pledging himself at the same time to prove each debt for the purchaser; the alarm which this excited was such, that in less than a week not a single debt was to be found uncrossed in the books of the Advertiser.

The permanent bridge, at the middle-ferry, over Schuylkill, will be so far completed, that the citizens may be gratified by walking over it to-morrow, (Sunday.) (Phil. paper.)

A gentleman lately dining on a very tough piece of beef, began scratching his plate with his knife; and being asked the reason he replied, to set his teeth on edge.

How to improve impoverished Land.
Put in two successive crops of buck wheat, and when in bloom, plow them down; this may be done in one season, and in the fall sow your wheat or rye, and you cannot fail of having a promising crop of grain the next year.

A letter from an officer, late of the United States frigate Philadelphia, dated Tripoli, March 28, 1804, mentions that an impostor had appeared there who pretended to be authorized by Commodore Preble, to negotiate for the ransom of the prisoners; that he was closeted some time with the Bashaw, upon the business, but understanding that the Constitution was expected off that place, and apprehending detection, he abruptly broke off the negotiation and took his departure. He was on board the vessel, which sailed from Tripoli, under British colours and was captured by the Syren, but he escaped in a boat to Malta.
The same letter mentions, "The Commodore writes us, that the ship we chased off and which was the cause of all our misfortunes, he has since captured, and upon investigation proved to be a Pirate under Ottoman colours, and that the captain of her, who was extremely active in plundering us, with several of her crew, have been condemned as Pirates—I hope will ere long pay the forfeit of their lives.—The writer also says, it is said that Bonaparte has written a long letter with his own hand to the Consul here, warmly in our behalf. When the French Consul received his dispatches, he went off to the Constitution and remained on board the frigate several hours; he was also closeted with the Bashaw and Minister till after midnight.

"Since the dismissal of the English Consul, we have for very obvious reasons grown into favour with the Bashaw.—A few days since Captain Bainbridge was at the Palace and the Bashaw being in a very good humour, kindly told him that whenever he wanted to amuse himself with a view of the sea, to let him know and the balcony fronting the sea should be fitted up."

A letter from the same, dated April 20, 1804, says our squadron so closely blockade this port, that few vessels can enter or depart and those that are bound here generally clear out for some other place so as to deceive our cruisers—consequently we don't hear often from our squadron and seldom have a conveyance for our letters to America.—My turn of walking out generally comes round 2 or 3 times a week, when we take a ramble into the country most commonly to the Bashaw's Gardens; the flower garden to the country Palace is not laid out with any taste and the flowers in it are of the most common sort; but the Orange Orchard adjoining it is delightful beyond what you can imagine, and where we lull two or three hours under the shade of the orange trees, enjoying the cheerful fresh air and feasting upon the most delicious fruits.

A letter from the same, dated May 14, 1804, says, "we have not heard a syllable more respecting Bonaparte's interference in our behalf, and another of the 22d of May observes," we anxiously wait the arrival of Commodore Preble off this town with his dispatches to open negotiation for our ransom. Our consolation under our so long deferred hope is that it seems impossible for it to be many days more now ere we see him.

GUN-BOATS.

We are assured, from good authority that 12 new gun boats are ordered to be built for the service of the United States, upon the model of those in Messina which are supposed to be the best now in use. And had the appropriations been larger, it is probable the number would have been increased. These boats possess superior advantages to frigates or larger vessels.

1st. A gun boat that will carry cannon as heavy as a two & thirty pounder, with several smaller pieces, will not cost over 3 or 4,000 dollars.

2d. As they are calculated to draw only 4 or 5 feet of water, and sail remarkably fast, they can easily pursue their enemy into shallows and in rivers, and will serve to protect harbors which may be attacked by a fleet of ships.

3d. Fit gun boats are a better defence than five or six frigates for particular stations, and they can be maintained at one third or a quarter of the expense.

They may be so constructed as to keep the open sea, and even go upon a cruise into the West Indies, if necessary. Indeed it has been supposed we might build them in this country and send them across the Atlantic, to the attack of Tripoli, in Barbary, without any risk of losing them on the passage, provided the voyage was undertaken in the summer season. Old seamen say that a vessel from 60 to 70 tons burthen, (our fishing vessels are of that tonnage) is as safe a sea boat as a man of war, and there is no doubt of the fact. These gun-boats will measure 80 or 70 tons, have decks, and are in every respect complete vessels.

Why then are they not capable of keeping the sea in the worst weather? A frigate, when fitted for sea, will cost 150,000 dollars at least. This money will build 40 or 50 large gun-boats.—They may be stationed at our capital seaports; 3 or 400 would guard the American coast from Georgia to Maine. (Salem Register.)

DEAFNESS.

A correspondent who, has the misfortune to be deaf, has communicated the following simple expedient for still enjoying the pleasures of music under the pressure of that calamity:—"In my early days I was a great admirer of music; but having lost my hearing many years ago, I likewise lost those delightful charms which not only please the ear, but give delight to the heart even in its saddest moments. Having some old instruments by me, and my children springing up, I was desirous they should learn; but not being able to know when they were right or wrong, it put me up on the trial of many methods. The best I have yet found is by placing a straight small lath, any convenient length, one end against the instrument played upon, the other against the upper teeth (the under teeth have no effect) or against the nerve close behind the ear. Persons deaf will be agreeably surprised to find they can distinguish every note as distinctly as when they had their perfect hearing. It must be observed, that only stringed instruments are here meant." (London paper.)

By JAMES MADISON, Secretary of State of the United States.

PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given, in pursuance of the Act of Congress passed on the 26th March last, entitled "An act supplementary to the act, entitled "An act relative to the election of a President and Vice-President of the United States, and declaring the officer who shall act as President, in case of vacancies in the offices both of President and Vice-President."—That the amendment proposed, during the last session of Congress, to the constitution of the United States, respecting the manner of voting for President and Vice-President of the United States, has been ratified by the legislatures of three fourths of the several states, to wit: by those of Vermont, Rhode Island, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, Ohio, Kentucky, Tennessee, North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia, and has thereby become valid as part of the constitution of the United States.

Given under my hand at the City of Washington, this twenty fifth day of September, 1804.
(Signed) JAMES MADISON.

Died on Sunday morning last, after a short illness of fifteen days, in the 25th year of his age Mr. LLOYD NORRIS. A numerous circle of friends will have to mourn in concert with his relations their loss. His habits were strictly moral, and the general tenor of his conduct promised him to be at a future day, an ornamental member of society.

Died, at Philadelphia, on Saturday morning last, in the 76th year of his age, MICHAEL HILLEGAS, esq. late one of the Aldermen of that city.

Died, at Savannah, on Thursday night, the 13th ult. JOHN WALLICE, esq. British Vice-Consul, for the state of Georgia.

A MEMORIAL

Will be presented to the next General Assembly, praying that a Law may pass to authorise the Levy court of Baltimore County, to levy, on the assessable property of said county, such sum of money as may be necessary to build a Court-House.—The same to be levied in three equal annual assessments. September 28, 1804.

The different Printers in this city are requested to insert the above in their papers.

It is the wish of the editor of the NATIONAL INTELLIGENCER to engage an individual well qualified to REPORT THE DEBATES OF CONGRESS. Immediate application, with the terms that will be agreeable, is requested.
