Valuable Lands, &c. for Sale,
 ON THE 19th JUNE NEXT.
 IN compliance with the will of Engelhard Yeiser, esq. lately deceased, will be sold at public auction, on the premises, at 12 o'clock, on the 19th June next.

ALL that valuable PLANTATION whereon the deceased lately resided, containing about 331 1/2 acres, distant about 4 1/2 miles from the city of Baltimore, and adjoining the lands of Gen. Smith, Daniel Bowly, esq. and others. On this land are erected a comfortable Dwelling-House; a convenient stone Barn, 33 feet in width and 75 feet long; a Still-House, with two stills; and a Spring-House, the lower part stone, the upper part brick; exclusive of several other tenements, and every other necessary out-house; good Apple and Peach Orchards, of excellent fruit; also, good kitchen gardens. About half the land is clearthe other half is young thriving wood; a considerable quantity of meadow, a constant stream of water running through it. The upland is kind for all sorts of grain. This property is a healthy, handsome, and pleasant situation.
 Also, at the same time and place will be sold at auction, as of record.

All that well known valuable FARM, late the property of the deceased, called Grace's Quarter, situated in Middle-river Neck, at the conflux of Gunpowder river and Salpêtre creek, by which two waters it is almost surrounded. It contains about 424 acres of arable wood and meadow land. For fertility of soil, this place is equalled by few. To point out the number of natural advantages attending it, would far exceed the bounds of an advertisement. There is on it a good comfortable House, almost new, with Kitchen, Negro Quarter, Spring-House, with necessary outhouses, and a large frame Barn (erected in the summer of 1804) with stables, cow-houses, &c. underneath it. Likewise, two apple-orchards, two peach ditto, of the best of fruit, with cherry and plum trees, and about 20 remarkably fine pear trees, from the fruit of which alone considerable sums have been made. In fact, no place in the country can be better situated, either for the grazier or planter, for nearly the whole of the farm can be put into meadow at a small expence. The fishery on this place, in the season, is extremely profitable; and the shores are lined with wild fowl of all kinds. It has the advantage of an elegant prospect of the river and adjacent country, and good water. The distance to Baltimore by land is 16 miles, and by water 4 or 5 hours sail.
 Persons disposed to purchase, are invited to view the above property.

Both the said farms will be laid off and divided into smaller farms, to suit purchasers.
 Plans of the same will in a few days be left at the auction room of Mr. Thomas Chase.

Mansion-House Hotel,
 SOUTH 3d STREET, PHILADELPHIA.
 W. RENSCHAW,
 UNDER the impressions of the most lively gratitude, makes his acknowledgments to the public for the patronage he has received in his establishment at the MANSION-HOUSE HOTEL—and respectfully informs them, that he has recently fitted up a house in addition directly opposite the Hotel, in Third-street, which enables him to make up FIFTY BEDS, in a comfortable manner; and that his house is provided with every thing necessary for the entertainment of LADIES & GENTLEMEN TRAVELLING, and others who may please to honor him with their commands.
 He further begs to assure his friends that his WINES and LIQUORS are of the first quality, and the accommodations such as will (he trusts) give general satisfaction.
 The above Hotel is commodious and agreeably situated for business, being near the Public Banks and the Custom-House, and from its being unconnected with any other building, and having large grounds neatly laid out with gravel walks and well shaded with trees and shrubs, is allowed by every one to be far more pleasant and healthy during the summer months, than any other in the city; the proprior begs farther to assure the public, that no exertion on his part shall be wanting, to render the above in all respects agreeable to his customers, and hopes by his diligence and attention to merit a continuance of public favor.

LOSS OF THE BOSTON.
 Communicated by Capt. HILL, from Canton.

ABOUT two months after my arrival on the coast of North West America, I received a letter (by the hand of an Indian Chief, named Uilla) the purport of which was, that the ship Boston, commanded by John Salter was taken by Maquinnah, and his warriors, at Nootka Sound, on the 22d March, 1803, and that the captain together with his officers and crew, (excepting Jewitt and Thompson,) were inhumanly butchered. The letter was dated at Nootka, and signed by John Rodgers Jewitt, and John Thompson, and earnestly entreated whoever received the letter, would come and deliver them from their miserable situation.
 As my business was of a commercial nature, I could not, consistent with my duty, pursue any measures whereby the success of my voyage might be endangered; yet common humanity demanded that an attempt should be made to relieve these unfortunate men.
 The contents of the above mentioned letter was made known to the several commanders on the coast; but the idea of an attempt to recover the men, was generally deemed rash and imprudent.
 Whether for want of judgment or that my humanity got the better of discretion, I do not pretend to say; but it appeared to me, it could not be thought rash or imprudent to go to Nootka, and take a view of the harbour and discover whether the natives were disposed to be friendly or not. With this view I failed from Newetta, on the 11th July, and arrived at Nootka Sound on the 16th. With the help of my glass, I observed six pieces of cannon mounted on a kind of rampart, in front of the village, at the head of Friendly Cove.
 —Having ascertained that there was neither men nor guns on Hog Island (which commands the entrance) I stretched into the cove and anchored in a position to command the passage to Hog Island, and about two hundred yards from the village. In the course of twenty-four hours after my arrival, I recovered the two above mentioned captives, and the guns, anchors, a few muskets and some other articles of less consideration; these were all they had left in their possession, belonging to the Boston.—They were very unwilling to deliver up the two men; when they were about to embark in the canoes, to come on board, a council was held on the beach wherein several of the Chiefs advised to kill them both, and hazard the worst rather than suffer the particulars of their conduct, relative to the capture of the ship to be known; but they were given to understand that if they did not immediately bring the men on board, alive and unhurt, I would most assuredly punish their chiefs and destroy the village. This had the desired effect; and I was happy in recovering the men together with the guns and ammunition without entering into a quarrel which would have occasioned the loss of the lives of many young Indians who were entirely innocent. I had kept Maquinnah on board, until my business was finished; when I informed him he was at liberty to go on shore whenever he pleased; this was more than he expected as he had reconciled himself to the idea that he should lose his life; but when he was repeatedly assured to the contrary he thanked me in a very earnest manner, and made many promises of good behaviour in future: In what manner he will regard these promises, I cannot pretend to say; I have since visited him at Nootka, and he and his people behaved very well.

According to the best information which I have been able to collect on the subject, the following are the particulars relative to the capture of the Boston—Captain John Salter, arrived at Nootka Sound on the 12th March, 1803, and anchored in a small cove, or balon, situated about four miles north of Friendly Cove, on the western shore of the sound; this place is called by the natives Ahookha. This is a safe and convenient harbour; except that it is too much confined for hostile neighbours. This was the first port that he had entered on this coast. Here they were employed in procuring wood and water, and making preparations to sail for a more northerly port, the first opportunity: and during their stay here, the most friendly intercourse had hitherto existed between captain Salter, and the chiefs of Nootka. On the 18th March, Maquinnah borrowed a double barrelled musket of captain Salter, for the purpose of shooting fowls; he returned on the 19th; bringing several pair of ducks of which he made a present to Capt. Salter; at the same time presented him with the musket and informed him he had broken one of the locks—capt. Salter used some very harsh threats in the occasion and taking the musket by the barrel he struck Maquinnah on the head with the breach of it Soon after this, Maquinnah, and his attendants went on shore;—the news spread through the village of the high affront their king had received.—The chiefs and warriors assembled on the sandy beach, fronting the sea, to the S. W. of the village,—here the nature of the abuse was heightened with all the effect of savage eloquence—not by Ma- quinnah;—he fat silent and attentive to the orator, who after he had set forth the unjust & unprovoked manner in which their king had been treated by captain Salter, proceeded to remind them of their forefathers and kindred who were slain by capt. Hannah some twenty or twenty-five years past—He said their spirits cried loudly for revenge, and had never been gratified with the blood of whitemen: He concluded by observing that now was the time to appease the injured spirits of their forefathers and take revenge for the abuse offered to their king. A deep silence ensued—At length a warrior named Yanpangta, rose up, and first offered to make one of the party in the bloody attack: He said he had lost a father by the cruelty of the white men; and now he was ready to revenge his death. His example was followed by another and another, and finally by the whole council, except one man named Popashot- tah: This chief declared that himself nor his family should aid or assist in the affair; he was accordingly expelled the council of warriors, and despised as a traitor;—but it seems he persisted in his first resolution. The council next proceeded to lay down a plan of operation, which being settled, the council broke up.

On the 22d March the weather and wind seemed to promise a favourable time to proceed northward; and capt.
 Salter had made known his intention of sailing that afternoon; the Indians had visited the ship daily, and it appears that captain Salter had not entertained the least idea of any serious affront having been given to Maquinnah. About 10 o'clock in the forenoon of the 22d March, Maquinnah went on board the Boston, attended by a number of his chiefs and warriors; Maquinnah was painted, and had on a mask in imitation of a bear's head: When they came along side of the ship they all shouted several times and Maquinnah performed a kind of mystical ceremony with an empty bottle, which he had under his garment: These ceremonies took place in their canoes, along side; after this they went on board, and remained very quietly until noon: when capt Salter invited Maquinnah to dine with him which he accordingly did:— While they were at table Maquinnah observed to capt. Salter, that there was great plenty of salmon in Friendly Cove and expressed his surprize that captain Salter did not send his officers and people to take salmon, which he said other captains had often done:—capt. Salter immediately turned to Mr. de Louisa, the first officer, and expressed a wish for some salmon.—Mr. de Louisa set out immediately with nine men, in the pinnace accompanied with the drum, and five in order to take salmon in Friendly Cove. Let us now take a view of the crew on board.—The armorer was at work in the stercage, cleaning muskets—the sail maker between the decks repairing sails—the steward on shore washing clothes—and the first officer with nine men gone to Friendly Cove: At this juncture, capt. Salter ordered the second officer, Mr. Ingraham to hoist the launch and get ready for sea, by the time the pinnace returned.—Mr. Ingraham called the men from below, viz the armorer and sail maker, to assist; but capt. Salter ordered those men to remain at their work; and when his people were redy to hoist away, the Indians were defired to assist. The men being placed at the tackle fall, and the orders given to hoist away, the signal was given by Maquinnah, who at the same instant seized capt. Salter, and threw him overboard, where the old women in the canoes along side, killed him with their paddles, and he expired crying out, "Whacoh, Maquinnah," while Ma- quinnah, looking over the ship's side, laughed at the face of the old women beating Salter's brains out with their paddles! As for the officers and crew on deck, they were dispatched in a few minutes, with knives, there being no opportunity for making resistance in the situation they were placed in, with three or four Indians to every man.
 Jewitt and Thompson were both wounded in the attempt to come on deck, and the Indians immediately shut the hatches which secured them below.—The ship being now in their possession, they gave a general shout, and sang the song of victory. They next
