An infallible cure for the Tooth Ache.

I know that various opinions exist concerning my advertising the price of curing the tooth ache—some suppose I am joking with the public, others say if I have really discovered a cure for that tormenting malady, I ought at least for the sake of humanity, to make it public, and support the fact by all necessary and convincing evidence: I have taken their advice, and therefore

1st. Declare that I have given my newly discovered Essence of Sulphur, I think to near one hundred different persons, who were afflicted with the pain arising from hollow or decayed teeth, and I do not know of one instance where it has failed in producing a cure, nor do I believe it ever will, if used according to my directions; for I am persuaded, from a knowledge of its nature and effects, that this essence has power to remove the pain of hollow or decayed teeth, to as great a certainty as water has power to extinguish fire.

2d. I do know that it has no tendency to destroy the enamel of the teeth, or injure the gums, but on the contrary believe it will prevent the scurvy in the gums, and preserve the teeth from decay.

3d. It may be taken inwardly with safety; I have swallowed it often, and will at any time drink it, to remove the scruples of the timorous.

4th. If ever the above mentioned essence should fail in producing the desired effect, and the tooth or teeth for which it was taken to cure, should at any future period be extracted, all money received by me for such cure shall be returned, and double the sum if required.

FRANCIS GUY.
Personally appeared Francis Guy, before me the subscriber, one of the justices of the peace for the County aforesaid, and made oath on the Holy Evangelists of Almighty God, that the facts stated above, relative to the tooth ache, are just & true to the best of his knowledge and belief.
JOHN AISQUITIL.

Certificate of Samuel Vincent, Esq. justice of the Peace.
Baltimore, 7th Aug. 1807.

Some time in the spring of the present year, I was very much troubled with the Tooth ache. I had thoughts of having it drawn; I by chance happened in conversation with Mr. Guy, to whom I related my intention.—He advised me to avoid extracting the tooth, as he presumed he had a specific, and requested me to make a trial; when he mentioned this to me, I recollected that I was told by some person that he had cured him of the Tooth-ache; I determined to give it a trial, and made use of his solution, perhaps three or four times, and have not had any return of it.

About three months since, a coloured girl of mine was also afflicted with the same pain. I sent her to Mr. Guy, who also furnished her with I presume the same solution, and after three or four washings, the pain was removed, and no complaint since.

SAMUEL VINCENT.
Certificate of the Rev. Alexander M'CaIn.

I hereby certify that I was afflicted with the Tooth ache from about the first of last March to the beginning of June; at which period I was on my way to a Dentist, when I met with a friend, who, understanding where I was going, advised me to go to Mr. Guy and he would cure me. With much persuasion I agreed to make the trial, not believing, however, I would derive much advantage (if any) from it. But to my great surprize and satisfaction I was perfectly cured, by applying his Tooth-water only twice, since which I have been as free from the Tooth-ache as I have been at any period of my life.
ALEXANDER M'CAINE.
Fell's Point, Aug 7th, 1807.

Baltimore, Aug. 7, 1807.
This is to certify, That about four months past I had a severe Tooth-ache, for three nights and days without intermission, and by washing my mouth with what Mr. Guy calls his Essence of Sulphur, I obtained immediate relief, and have experienced no return of pain from that time to the present.
ELI HEWIT.

We the subscribers, having, in both our families experienced the beneficial effects of Mr. Francis Guy's Essence of Sulphur, as a cure for the Tooth-ache, feel bound to declare, (judging from what we have witnessed) that we believe it really possesses every virtue which the inventor ascribes to it—and that it is a sovereign remedy for this tormenting complaint.
NILES & FRAILEY,
(Editors of the Evening Post.)
Baltimore, August 10, 1807.

The respectable names above render it quite unnecessary to incur the expence of publishing more certificates.
The price of cure, one dollar and fifty cents, unless the circumstances of the applicant should induce the proprietor to make a deduction.
