SOLILOQUY.

[A PARODY]
To be or not to be—in Fortune's Wheel—
That is the question—whether 'tis nobler To retain ADVENT'RING, and hug Care's arrow;
Or, with a TICKET arm'd, 'gainst myriad troubles,
By a LOTTERY end them!—To buy a SHARE—
No more—and by a PRIZE to say we end The plague of duns, and thousands sheriff shocks
That debt is heir to—'Tis a consummation Devoutly to be wished—To dream of PRIZE—To wake and hear of Blunt—Ay, there's the rub;
For through that blank what mental plagues
may come,
When thus our hopes of wealth are shuffled
off;
Must give us pause.—There is the retrospect
That makes ADVENT'RING look calamitous.
Yet who would bear the afflictions of the times;
Monopolizers' gripe—the purse-proud anier—
The pangs of despair—love—the law's delay—
The insolence of office, and the spurns
Which distress meets at gate of pamper'd greatness,
When Fortune's wheel might his quietus make And sudden elevate to bliss supreme
By a PRIZE of THIRTY THOUSAND DOLLARS.

Prize Shooting.

Or the proper Exercise for Volunteers.
WM. FINN, ever studious to promote the public good, and his own too, has conceived a plan for maturing the military talents of the newly raised volunteer soldiery of this city. He has appropriated an era of 160 feet in length, where every Saturday and Monday, from three o'clock until sunset, he invites the attention of every ambitious soldier to instruct himself in the science of sharp shooting at a man-like target, when prizes will be distributed agreeably to the respective merits of the candidates.
Every man can prime, load, cock and draw a trigger—but surely he is the best soldier who can spend his ammunition to the best advantage. In order, therefore, to promote a system of this indispensable part of a soldier's education, the advertiser has made the above arrangement. Prizes will consist of shoes, boots, hats, greece and turkeys, with many other articles too tedious to mention; and on the first day of January, 1868, a gold medal of the value of twenty dollars will be awarded to the best shooter of the day. Those who may not have their guns at hand can be accommodated on the spot; but it is expected that every gentleman will bring his own gun.
WM. FINN
N. B. Flints, powder and ball will be furnish-
