

falling into Disorder, were at last obliged to break. The Engagement was very long and very obdurate between our Left Wing and in the Centre, with the Austrians and Hungarians who engaged them; the latter was several Times broke, but they rallied and returned to their Charge. The Fire of the small Arms, accompanied by that of the Field Artillery, was extremely warm, and well served on one Side, as well as the other. After half an Hour after Ten, when the Battle had lasted somewhat more than five Hours, several Corps of the Enemy that had been most exposed to the dreadful Fire of our Infantry and Field Pieces, began to give Way. Our Grenadiers improved this Opportunity, and by a vigorous Push, threw them into Confusion. The Enemy being routed, were obliged to abandon the Plain, and to retire as well as they could thro' the Defiles by which they had entered it. We pursued them in their Retreat about an Hour and a half; did not quit our Pursuit 'til all the flat Country was cleared, and they were got entirely back into the Mountains; where it was not judged expedient to follow them. The Advantage our Troops have gained, is of the utmost Consequence. The King, who commanded his Army in Person, and who directed all its Motions, was himself exposed to the warmest Fire; as were likewise his Brethren, the Prince Royal of Prussia, and Prince Henry; yet his Majesty and their Royal Highnesses are in perfect Health. The Number of the Killed and Wounded left by the Austrians and Saxons on the Field of Battle cannot fall short of 4000. It does not appear that we have lost on our Side above 1200. As to the Prisoners we have made, they amount to above 5000; including six Generals, and thirty Officers of Distinction. We have taken at least sixty Pair of Colours, ten Standards, and eight Pair of Kettle Drums. We have likewise taken forty Pieces of Field Artillery. The Austrians and Saxons have been both obliged to leave a great Part of their Baggage, Equipage, and Ammunition Waggon behind them. The King is extremely concerned for the Loss of Lieutenant General Count de Truches-Waldbourg, who was killed by a Cannon Ball at the Beginning of the Engagement. The Colonels Massow and Schwerin are dangerously wounded; as are the Lieutenant-Colonels Bodenbroek and Kalhbutz. Lieutenant-Colonel Bertikow is among the Number of the Dead, with some other worthy Officers.

L O N D O N, June 4.

We have Advices from Mons, that almost all the Wounded of the Troops of the Republic, who were sent to that City, are dead; and upon a narrow Enquiry into the Cause, it has been found that they were wounded with Pieces of Glaes, or Bits of old Iron; Part of these infamous Materials that have been taken out of the Wounds have, it is said, been sent to the Enemy, upon Sight of which 'tis assured the French Monarch turned pale, but whether from the Guilt of having been Privy to such diabolical Practices, or with Horror at their having been made Use of, is not explained.
