SALES TO TAKE PLACE. Wednesday, Oct. 5th .- Wm. M. Risteau, suctioneer for Col. Paniel Jenifer, at 'Good Hope:" horses, cows, heifers, hogs, pigs, wagons, carts, farming implements, household and kitchen furniture, books, china and glassware, &c. ------rord's Grand Opera House-- Week of October 7th, "Sweet Lavender," from the Lyceum Theatre, N. Y .- One of the most pronounced of modern successes is Pincro's great comedy "Sweet Lavender," which will be produced at Ford's Grand Opera House during the week of October 7th. This delightful comedy occupied the boards of the Lycerm theatre, N. Y., nearly the whole of last sea son and is now to be produced in the larger cities under the anspices of Mr. Daniel Frohman and by one of his own companies. It will prove the theatrical event of the season. "Sweet Lavender" is a tender and a pretty story, halves with simple human emotions, and gives miss of duplicating the record of "The Wife, 'oo much praise cannot be given to Mr. Daniel Frohman for the admirable way in which "Sweet avender" has been placed on the stage, and the presentation is a triumph for the Lycenin Theatre. As the high license and temperance movements gress, are considerably worked up, a few words on the use found to consist. Use and abuse have been and are so often, confounded with each other that it seems difficult for those who are complaining of the latter to draw the dividing line and show where have not heard one yet that speaks favorably of it, the proper function of the former ends and the legitimate effect of the latter begins. The singular thing, however, is, that when the subject is treated from a physiological standpoint it is narrowed down not only to a discussion of the effects of liquor, either ordinate or inordinate, on the human system, but to particular kinds of liquor styled place were to have an excursion to Druid Hill Park, stimulating in order to distinguish them from but the day set proved so very inclement that the others which are believed to be merely exhibara-ting or refreshing. But in the temperance literature of the day (and some of it, strangely enough, comes from men who ought to know more of the subject on which they are writing) all the ills that flesh is helr to are laid at the door of alcoholic liquors. The imagination and the fancy are asked o run rampant in picturing the results which are airy flowing from the use of such stimulants, and it should happen, as it sometimes does, that these esults are not borne out by the facts, then we are sked to console ourselves with the reflection that it is so much the worse for the facts. Meeting of the Confederate Societies .- The meeting of the Society of the Army and Navy of the Confederate States in Maryland and the Maryand Line Association was held in Baltimore on the lst inst., Gen. Bradley T. Johnson, President, Capt. Winfield Peters, Secretary.
Lieut. Joseph Packard, Jr., of the Ordinance Department Army of Northern Virginia, offered the following minute as to the death of Lieut. Col.

Wm. Allan: The Society of the Army and Navy of the Confederate states in the State of Maryland deems in proper to give some formal expression of the feeling of its members at the recent death of Lieut.
Col. Wm. Allan, late Chief Ordinance Officer of the Second Corps of the Army of Northern Virginia. His comrades in the army bear willing testimony to his soldierly courage, his gentleness and courtesy. comrades mourn that a career so useful to his country is closed. They cannot but feel, however, that their own loss in his death is peculiarly severe .-They have lost in him the man who, by the accuracy, the fairness, the insight, and the graphic power of his sketches of certain periods of the war etween the States, has done more than anyone else to bring to the attention of students of the art of war, and to place in a true light the story of some of those great campaigns. They grieve that the labor which he spent in this cause for the love of his countrymen and to their great advantage has come to an end. Not less they grieve to think that at the annual reunions of this Society, which he loved to attend, they shall see his kindly face no more. Capt. Randolph Barton, Adjutant General Stone wall Brigade, reconded the resolutions and said I have been asked to unite in the tribute of r spect which this Society is about to pay to Col. Allan's memory by the passage of the resolutions which have been presented. Deploring as I do, with so many others his untimely death, some relief is experienced when we have made to his friends and to his family our hearty acknowledgement of the high esteem in which we held him. The links which tie us to the haloyon days of lirginia are one by one breaking. To me Col. Allan's presence always recalled the time when the young men of Winchester, returning for the sumner's rest from the University of Virginia, would with whole souled heartings, award to him the foremost ground in their race for the honors of the College. I recall with pleasure the enthusiasm of some very near and dear to me when speaking of some very near and dear to me when speaking of his progress as a student.

It took little power of prophecy then to see in his future a useful and an honorable career. Hardly had he attained the full equipment for civic life when he joined the stream of Virginia's best men in her line of battle.

of the case by Cooper had worked no severance of the cases. The counsel for the defense contended that the removal of the case on the affidavit of the accused was a severance to all practical intents and purposes, and the Court took that view and granted the motion to sever. The Attorney General noted an exception to the ruling of the Court, and then announced the case ready for trial. The impannelling of the jury was proceeded with and the following from the regular panel were sworn in the case: William H. Burns, Aquia Chilcoat, Armistead R. Hobbs, Daniel Welsh and George A. admitted the declaration. Judge Watters said:

"This is an interesting question, and the Court has listened attentively to the argument of counsel, and we appreciate the responsibility placed upon us of a man being tried for his life. We do not propose to aplayed the avenues in such triels of the adpose to enlarge the avenues in such trials of the admissibility of evidence in such case. The laws governing the trials for homicide are clear and unmistakable, and have been well recognized for years, and in this line dying declarations have always been omitted. A combination of reasons exat why this declaration should be admitted. The man who made the declaration knew that he was mortally wounded, and in this apprehension of death he made this declaration. We find the Justice of the Peace there, a clergyman, a physician and members of his family. And the fact of his being mortally wounded had been communicated to him, and the statement he gave was made in all consciousness of approaching death. If he made this statement believing he was going to die, it ought to go to the jury for what it is worth, and we therefore conclude that the evidence is clearly

Dr. Donovan was then called to the stand and produced the paper, but before he read it it was handed to the counsel for the defense who examined it, and, finding that there was no signature to it, they objected to it as being a mere memorandum made by the Justice of the Peace and not a dying declaration. The objection was overruled by the Court, and the counsel for the defense noted an exception to the ruling of the Court. The paper was then read as follows: "I, John T. Lloyd, being duly aworn on the Holy Evangely of Almignty God and believing myself to be mortally wounded and about to die de male this work and reserved. about to die, de make this my dying statement: I went up Light street to the corner of West street and found Samuel Cooper and three or four others standing on the corner. I said to Sam Cooper, 'Dentemake so much noise; the proprietor of the drug store will come down and complain,' when Cooper said: 'What are you talking about?' and without further prevention, he pulled out a pittol and shot me, firing three shots. Then he said Edward Doyle, whom I recognized, jumped on me.' The witness said he wrote this at the officer's dicta-tion, read it to him, made a slight correction, and he said it was correct, and I put it in my pocket. There was a lengthy cross examination of the witness, but nothing further was adduced.

Mr. Chas. B. BALTIMORE, Oct. L. 1889. Editor Maryland Journal: That was a good notice you gave Mr. G. W. W. Smith, Jr. in your last issue. I refer to his letter which you published in full. He speaks of the large salaries received by phonographers. Large salaries are the exception and not the rule. Can h name one in Baltimore who receives $50 per week not for a few weeks or months. He speaks of Ben Pitman's system as being the best. Opinions differ on this point, some preferring Graham's, some Isaac Pitman's, some Ben Pitman's, some Munson's, some Mrs. Eliza Burnsz's and others. Has Mr. Smith ever looked into the others? he not know that when you have learned the "Cor-responding Style" you have to forget certain things on going into the "Reporting Style?" What is the use of putting false hopes into the breasts of our youths? It is easy enough to speak of large salaries; to get them is quite another thing. It is quite easy enough to speak of writing 260 words per minute; to do it is quite another affair. I will bet Mr. Smith five hig apples that he cannot write 150 words. Smith five big apples that he cannot write 250 words a minute; also that he cannot write 200 words minute for 10 minutes unless he uses Munson's sys tem—the apples to be divided between the five prettiest girls in the Towson High School, the winne select the system to be taught. Of course Mr. Smit) is to transcribe his notes.

PERSONAL. Messrs. John B. and H. C. Longnecker, of Towson were among the visitors to the York county, Ps. Fair during the past week. Mrs. James H. Lytle and son Elmer, of Towson are spending a week's vacation with relatives and friends in Harford county. Mr. Edward Craumer, of Baltimore, formerly a esident of Towson, accompanied by his wife, visited a parents at this place on Sunday last, 29th inst. Mr. Hanson P. Jordan, formerly a citizen of Ba timore county, but for many years past a citizen of Baltimore and a member of the bar, was married to Miss Sarah A. Barber, daughter of the late Dr. Barber, of Anne Arundel county, on the lat inst. Mr. Thos. Shepard, a former resident of Towson, paid a visit to friends here on the 27th ult., and held nite a levee. There were many kind expressions f friendship tendered him during his visit.

Children's Fair.—The Children's Missionary Society of Trinity P. E. Church, Towson, will hold a Fair in the room over Mr. Alex. Parlett's Carriage Shop, on Thursday next, October 10th, from 4 till 10 o'clock P. M. The public is cordially in-vited to attend. Admission free. Refreshments and other attractions. This is a children's fair, but grown people will find it to their advantage to be present. Come and buy your Christmas and Birth-lay presents from usi Wedding Cards.—Mr. and Mrs. Wm. S. Disney have issued cards of invitation for the marriage of their daughter, Edith Estelle Disney, and Mr. Rob-ert H. Wright, at First M. E. ORDER OF PUBLICATION. WILLIAM CHECKLEY SHAW THOMASINA H. GIST.

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR BALTIMORE COUNTY, IN EQUITY. The object of this suit is to procure a decree of this Court to take jurisdiction in the case, and decree that the land mentioned in the Bill was sold accordance with law by Samuel I. Donaldson and William George Krebs, the Trustees named in the Bill, under the decree in the cause therein men tioned of Krebs vs. Gist in the High Court of Chancery. That the sale of the same was duly reported to and finally ratified by the said High Court of Chancery, and that the deed from said Trustees to Peterrine Shipley was executed in pursuance of aid decree and final order of ratification. The Bill states that William Checkley Shaw is the present owner of the land mentioned in said Bill; from said I rustees named in said Bill to said Shaw, and by the will of Samuel H. Bleakley, and recor-ded in the Offic of the Register of Wills in Baltimore County, and by sale by his Executors under That said deed from said Trustees to said Shiple ecites the sale of land of which this is a part in oursuance of a decree in the cause of Krebs vs. Gist in the High Court of Chancery, subsequently removed to the Superior Court of Baltimore City and the final ratification of said sale : that a copy f the docket entries of said cause filed as an exhibit in said cause, show a decree for the sale of land and several reports of sales and final ratifica-tion of the same. The Bill also recites that the papapers in said cause were never recorded, and were taken from the Superior Court of Baltimore City by Samuel I. Donaldson, and are presumably lost; that Thomasina H. Gist is the only child and heirat-law of Thomas II. Gist, who died seized of said land, and that she is a non-resident of the State of Maryland, and that she has virtually admitted that said sale was regularly made and that her Trustees received the money for the same. The Bill also charges that it is to be presumed from the docket entries and from said deed that said decree was for the sale of the said land, and that the sale was regularly made and finally ratified, and that the said deed to Shipley was made in pursuance of said de cree and ratification, and that all the estate and in terest of said Thomasina H. Gist was sold under said decree and legally conveyed to the said Ship ley by said deed, and that she received the benefit f the purchase money. That there is a cloud on the title of said property on account of the loss of the said chancery papers It is thereupon, on this 31st day of August, A. D. 1889, ordered by the Circuit Court for Baltimore County, in Equity, that the plaintiff, by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in said county once in each of four successive weeks before the 7th day of October, 1889 ject and substance of this bill, warning her to appear in this Court in person, or by solicitor. Un or before the 23d day of Vetober new to show cause, if any the has, why a decree ought not be passed as prayed.
