AMUSEMENTS. Ford's Grand Opera House-Week of Feb ruary 3d-"The Wife."-Next week, beginning Monday, February 3d, for six nights, with Wednesday and Saturday matinees, Belasco and De Mille's great society comedy will be presented by Daniel Frohman's Company, and include all the scenery and accessories made from the original models.— The following is from the New York Evening Sun: "The Lyceum travelling company was the attraction at the Lee Avenue Academy in "The Wife." The cosey little theatre, in spite of the rain, was crowded to the doors. The play was enacted with all the vim characteristic of Mr. Frohman's forces and will undoubtedly draw well during its present run. The audience was very demonstrative. The scenery used in the original production in New York was used, and added much to the effect. The company is an excellent one, and full effect is given to the strong scenes in which the play abounds."

Exceptions Filed to the Opening of Cowpens Avenue.-Mr. R. R. Boarman, as counsel for the Maryland Central Railroad Company, has filed exceptions to the returns made by the Examiners to the County Commissioners for the opening of Cowpens Avenue, alleging an unfair and excessive essment, and also because that Company is not liable to assessment for benefits on account of its being benefited at all by the making or opening of the road; because of irregularity in the proceedings and papers; because the assessments for damage and benefits are not fixed upon a proper and equitable basis of assessment, and because the public convenience does not require the opening. The railroad company was awarded $21.50 damages and assessed $121.50 benefits.

A Reprehensible Practice .- On Monday morning, 27th ult., as the 7.38 A. The son cannot dispose of the land in any way, mortgage it or in any manner use it to his own advantage, except as to what is produced upon it, and he wants to get possession of it absolutely. Her sister, a beautiful little child of 2 years of age, standing by, received a part of the cap on the forehead, tearing ture to extend the jurisdiction of Magistrates in Baltimore county, and also to regulate and increase the fees of county Justices. to oppose the measure by speech and vote, and to advocate the principles of Prohibition for the State. As to the Sheriff's Fees .- The following comnunication addressed by the County Commissioners to the Judges of the Circuit Court for Baltimore County fully explains itself: "We desire to call your attention to a matter of which we presume Box 812, Portland, Maine. you have not been cognizant whereby the county are losers to a considerable amount. The general aws allow the Sheriff a fee of 50 cents to serve warrants and $1 to serve attachments; whereas the ocal laws of Baltimore county allow the Commisioners discreationary power to give further compensation where in their judgment they deem it necessary. The Sheriff claims that he could not erve them at the price allowed by the general laws without loss to himself, and in view of this we have been allowing the Sheriff such compensation as we deemed just and equitable. The loss to the county occurs in this way, that the Clerk of the Court in charging up costs makes them from the generals laws instead of considering what the Sheriff receives. Cannot you instruct the Clerk that in his charges of cost to consider the amount ordingly? If this cannot be done, then we must onsider our action illegal, and hereafter pay only what the Code allows under the general laws. Prof. Hapkins' Stereopticon.—Prof. Hopkins exhibited his stereopticon to quite good audiences in Towson M. E. Church, on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings of this week. His pictures of European, Japan and other foreign with an evening devoted to America, was highly appreciated. The Professor's description and his singing are cheerful accompaniments to his lectures. We think if the Professor would inter-sperse an evening with foreign and American scenery would enhance his agreeable lectures very much. Our Western country is a splendid field for his stereopticon. Outside his pictures the Professor is doing much good among the people in a moral aspect, in which he should be, and is, encouraged.
