Mewlesses Riverts, Mister River Stater, of this place, went into the pellar after something a few days ago, and while hunting around fund some blasting powder and also some fuse. He procured a small bottle, filled it with powder, inserted the fuse, laid the freworks under a board, applied a match and awaited the result. The combustible not going off as soon as desired he went to investigate—followed with the usual result. Master River's face is badly scorehed and blackened and his hands cut from the flying glass. He does not invest heavily in fireworks at this time.

Mr. John Darbey, clerk in the store of Mr. Thos.

r. John Darbey, clerk in the store of Mr. Thos J. Miller, met with a slight accident a few mornings ago, the like of which does not occur often. He is a very early riser, and almost the first thing he does is to get a pitcher of fresh water. On the morning in question he was returning with his pitcher, and it being quite dark he encountered a wheelbarrow which stood in his way. This, no doubt, woke up the barrow and made him mad who, in turn, fell over Darbey. John came out second best. He broke his pitcher and skinned his knee, which he is now carrying in a sling. The barrow was not hurt. We can only wouch for part of the story.

The M. E. Church of this place was somewhat neglected on last Sunday night, it being rather cold and not well lit up. It is said that the sexton and his wife are both sick, which may have led to the trouble. The Rev. S. M. Alford preached his last sermon before Conference, but had to cut it short on account of the uncomfortable condition of the church. Mr. Alford expects to be returned for There are two new comfortable buildings at Cor bett's nearing completion. One is to be occupied by Mr. Jacob Fisher and the other by Mr. Henry Stutskey.

Manor News .- Departures from well-beaten and time-worn paths are frequently agreeable, enervating and elevating, and instead of attempting an essay upon Roadism, or berating those awfully-awful muddy roads, we propose to tell of a hunt—a beautifully beautiful hunt. This usually quiet corner was the scene of plessurable excitement on Saturday afternoon, 15th inst. Few patrons and visitors to the "Manor" store and post office could not fail to read upon the accommodat ing bulletin board the announcement of a fox hunt, to start at 2 P. M. This mode of bringing in such a general way before the public the chance to engage in such rare sport had the desired effect to whet up a keen apnetite for the fray, and a large whet up a keen appetite for the fray, and a large concourse of people gathered so much shead of time as to render behind time an impossibility.—
Some came on horseback, others in gigs—in fact, many travelled in indiscribable rigs. About ten days ago a bevy of gentlemen set forth to seek beneath the sod a treasure from which they anticipated to see a pressure from which they anticipated to see a pressure result of the second s pated to reap an immense wealth of pleasure.—
After touring around through mud. slush, mishaps and the inevite ble likes of explorer's life, the goal vas reached and King Reynard led forth, not to the slaughter but to be the fostered guest of our young merchant, Mr. T. M. Pearce: or, in other words, laid away until a more convenient season of usefulness. Promptly at the appointed hour the captive was loosed, and, quickly following upon his trail, came the eager hunters and hounds. Soon the air was filled with the yelps of the dogs, producing more melody upon the ears of their masters than the sweetest notes of Mendelssohn's songs without words could possibly have created. From rome unknown cause (most likely due to the over-kind care bestowed upon Heynard during his days of captivity) the run was by far too short for the eager huntsmen who followed their prey in his circuitous route over hill and fences. The distance covered was about one mile. Very soon poor Mr. Fox was captured and "brushed," the much courted trophy being won by Mr. Nicholas J. Hutchins.-As "Mr. Nick" represents the famous Walter A. Wood Machine Company, we are gratified to find he can reap other "goals" than the bright golden grain in harvest. Much might be said of Mr. T. M. Pearce's disposition to promote and encourage ocial feeling among the folks of "My Lady's Manor" in the way of innocent pleasures—checkers gun club, etc. at this his residence and place of business. A whole voiley of thanks will be showered upon him for his latest event, from which scores, beside the thirty horsemen, gathered grains f pleasureable recreation. Events of interest seem to be at low tide in this vicinity at present. It would be telling an oft-told tale to refer at length to the marriage ceremony set for the evening of the 18th inst. at St. James Church. The Will i Goose Sign.—If there is anything in the old sign, in this latitude at least, that the departure from the Chesapeake Bay, for northern and colder climes, of wild geese, presages an early spring, it is quite likely we are soon to be gratified, as on Sunday and Monday nights of this week the squaking of these migrating birds could be plainly heard as they flew over Towson in a direct northerly course. However, on Friday morning, 21st, the weather was sufficiently cold to eatisfy the desire of any reasonable goose, who don't want an Arctic atmosphere in which to reside.

Philip Grace. Verdict in the Kuniquada Retz Murder -The trial of Kunigupda Betz for the murder of Mrs. Margaret Schneider, came to an end on Sat urday, 15th inst. The jury were out about three hours, when they brought in a verdict of guilty o manslaughter. Kunigunda held up her right hand when told to do so, but did not show any concern when the verdict was read to her. Her mother and sister seemed greatly relieved, and her counsel were very much pleased. Kunigunda sat through the argument with her usual stolid appearance.— While the jury was out, the Betz family had a reunion in a corner of the Court Room, and Kuni gunda and the grandmother were served with bowls of soup. The baby and the sister's little child seemed to be in good humor all the morn ing. When Kunigunda was called to the stand to hear the verdict, she looked mad. She had wanted to go on the stand in her own behalf. She contended that the negro man's story was true, and she wanted to tell it to the Court at first hand. She got very mad with her coursel because they would not let her do as she wanted, but she has cause to con-gratulate herself that they carried the day. The verdict is looked upon as a big victory for her attorneys, Colonel M. B. Joyce, of Baltimore, and Mr. John F. Gontrum, of Towson. Both are young men. On Friday 21st inst. she was sentenced to 6 years in the Maryland Penitentiary. Father Lenaghan's House at Texas Burned. -About half past 3 o'clock on Thursday morning. 20th inst., the dwelling of the Rev. Father Lens ghan, at Texas, was discovered to be on fire, and so rapidly did the flames spread that Rev. Father P H. Lenaghan and the man who is employed by him as sexton, Richard McNicholas, escaped but partly dressed. Everything in the house was burned up. The house was of stone with a tip roof, and a frame addition, and being situated near the church it was only by diat of hard work on the part of persons present, who went to work manfully with buckets and carried water and poured over the church edition. The dwelling was valued at about $5,000, upon which there is a policy of insurance in the German Fire Insurance Company of Baltimore.-

The cause of the fire is unknown.

Secretary of the Baltimore County Agricultural Society.—Mr. Wm. B. Sands, who has been the Secretary and Treasurer of the Baltimore County Agricultural Society ever alooe its organization, has resigned the position and the Board of Directors have tendered the place to Mr. H. C. Longnecker, of the Baltimore County Union. The retiring officer, (Mr. Sands) was indefatigable in hisendeavor to make the exhibitions of the Society a success and his labors were herculean, but he got success, and his labors were herculean, but be got through with his tack and left nothing undone to build up the Society. His genial, pleasant ways will be missed by the many people with whom he has been associated in the past. No doubt the new Secretary will throw all his business knowledge and energy into the place and will endeavor to keep up the pace so well started by his predecessor
