

The enlarged means of diffusing learning by the machinery and system of the institute, and its beneficial adaptation to the business of education in large cities, may be readily conceived and comprehended. Apart from the consideration of its extrinsic merit, the exalted reputation of the learned author, and his especial knowledge in the high concernments of his profession, derived from the experience of many years, give ample assurance of great ability to devise, and to carry into effect and operation, a plan of instruction replete with consequences most essential to the permanent prosperity and happiness of the people of this state. The committee, therefore, present the following resolution:

Resolved, by the General Assembly of Maryland, That we approve of the plan of improvement in education, under the style of the City Institute, proposed by the Reverend Samuel Knox, A. M. principal of the Frederick Town Academy, and recommend the said improvement to the favourable consideration of such populous communities as are most susceptible of its beneficial adaptation.

By order, Jacob S. Smith, Com. Clk.
