Ring-lore is a curious subject, says the New Yor. Will and leads one into all softs of historical highways and by-ways searching for information. In former times, according to an old writer, it was esteemed highly improper for single or unuarried persons to wear rings, "United fine year elections on the part of the wearer.

For all but these dignitare such an unwarranted ornament was considered an evidence of "vanity and pride," and was looked upon as a great piece of presumption on the part of the wearer.

Another authority dwells upon the fact of affianced persons being allowed this honorable decoration, and cites it as an evidence of the high honor in which the state of wedlock was then held, that those about to enter it might be so adorned. But while finger rings have figured conspicuously in the political, court and reclesiatical history of all times, it is their record as love tokens and marriage emblems which lends the greatest interest to these prefty of priceless (as the case may be) baubles of mankind.

Traditions tells that the first of these mystic circles was invented by Prome.

Having branch houses and lab ratories seven different quarters, and there fore having a world wide experience, we. H. H. Warn & Co., justify ourselves in making the following statements:

& Co., justify ourselves in making the following statements:

First.—For the produces of we have held that 33 per cent. of disease originate in the kidneys, which introduce arts acid into the system, a poison that is in jurious to every organ, attacking and destroying first the organs which are the weakest. We have also held that if the kidneys are kept in perfect health most of the ordinary utinesats will be presented, or, it-contracted, curel. Other prastitioners have held that extreme kidney disease is incurable. We have proof to the roatrary, however, in hundreds of thomsands of cases in every section of the gletz.

Second.—The kidneys being the sewers of the human system, it is impossible to keep the entire system in good working order unless these organs are doing their full duly. Most people do not believe their hidneys are ut of order because they never give them any pain. It is a previlarily of kidney disease that it may long exist without the knowledge of the patient or of the practitioner. It may be succeeded if there is any gradual departure from ordinary health, which departure increases as age comes on.

Third.—We do not cure every known disease from one bottle. This is an impossibility.

Fourth,—Warner's Safe Remedies have

Sixth.—Ask your friends and neighbors what they think of Warner's Safe Cure.

Mathematics and Arithmetic.

"Like most ordinary mortals, mathematicians are inclined to shirk dealings with figures. Even Newton, the great master of the most abstrase calculations, could not, we are told, cast up a sum in addition; and the works of M. Stas, said to have never had an equal in exactitude, have been found to contain an astonishing number of arithmetical slips. Prof. Huxley has given the weight of air on a square mile as about 500,129,971,200 pounds, containing not less than 3,031,870,103 pounds of carbonic acid, in which is 571,475 tons of carbon.
