

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Some News Collected at the National Capital by Our Regular Correspondent. WASHINGTON, July 30th, 1900. What one of the bloodiest wars in history is to be fought in China about the general belief in this region, but much better news is being received by the people supposed to be allied against us before anything important is to be accomplished. The jealousy, open and secret, between Russia and Japan is believed to be largely, if not entirely, responsible for the delay in starting the allied army from Tokyo to Peking. The safety of the foreign ministers is no longer the most important factor. Even accepting the Chinese assurances of their safety, the known massacre of other foreigners has made the occupation of Peking by a foreign army necessary in order to teach the Chinese a needed lesson in good behavior as well as to compel the payment of a suitable indemnity. If the other powers declare war on China, the resident will have to call an extra session of Congress to decide what the government will do. The Spanish first country to be benefited by a terrible thrash, but there is no doubt of its having benefited largely by its American ally. Testimony to that effect is the visit of Spanish business men, who returned from a trip through the Spanish provinces a new era of prosperity, militating defeat in her complete revolution in the United States which at the time of a calamity, has been shut down for several weeks on account of no water in the pond, has added steam and is now running on full time. NEWS OF THE WEEK.

Local and Other News of Interest for Our Readers in a Brief Way. You will never find any other pills so prompt and so pleasant as DeWitt's Little Early Risers. J. S. Denny. Now for peaches and cream, peach dumpling, peach pie, peach ice cream and the girl who is as sweet and nice as a peach. The recent rains have rendered the ground in splendid condition for plowing and farmers have been busy breaking fall. We or Golden Run Camp opened yesterday morning with the prospect of one of the most successful meetings of recent years. The census man, it is safe to say, learned more about human character in thirteen days, than some psychologists find out in a life time. Mothers endorse it, children like it, old folks use it. We refer to One Minute Cough Cure. It will quickly cure all throat and lung troubles. J. S. Denny. Mr. Marion C. Legg, having decided to discontinue the mercantile business, is offering his immense stock at greatly reduced prices. See adv. in another column. The annual tournament for the boys of St. Peter's Catholic Church, will be held at Mr. Lord's Gift farm, near town, Wednesday, August 29. Full particulars next week. Many of the towns are making a crusade on the worthless curs which infest the streets and make the nights hideous by their howling. Some good work can be done here. Mr. W. O. Brown, proprietor of Sallie Harris mills, who has been shut down for several weeks on account of no water in the pond, has added steam and is now running on full time. See adv. The quicker you stop a cough or cold the less danger there will be of fatal lung trouble. One Minute Cough Cure is the only harmless remedy that gives immediate results. You will like it. J. S. Denny. The Queen Anne's Railroad Company will run one of those delightful moonlight excursions to Rehoboth on Wednesday, August 8, 1900. The train leaves Queenstown at 12:00 M. Seventy-five cents pays the fare both going and coming. The Denton Journal makes the following kind remarks: "According to the last report published, the amount deposited in the Queenstown Savings Bank was $10,528.69. Over $11,000 had been loaned. The bank will be a great advantage to Queenstown." The five-year-old son of Mr. J. D. Dudley, the absence of his three children, a bottle of carbolic acid and drank a small quantity last Saturday. Drs. Cockey and Fordley were summoned. The little fellow much improved, but his mouth is still burnt. The heavy shipment of peaches, the Steamer B. S. Ford has been withdrawn from the day route and will be used as a night boat. The steamer Emma A. Ford will stop at Bogue's and Kent Island, while the Gratitudine will be put on the Centreville route. In India, the land of famine, thousands die because they cannot obtain food. In America, the land of plenty many suffer and die because they cannot digest the food they eat. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat. It instantly relieves and radically cures all stomach troubles. J. S. Denny. Although the weather is hot our patrons should bear in mind that we are still doing job printing. We have just received 200,000 XXX envelopes which we purchased as a job. We print your business on them while they last—for $1.25 for 500. If you want a thousand or more we will make the price about the cost of raw material. The laws of health require that the bowels move once each day and one of the penalties for violating this law is taking. Keep your bowels regular by taking DeWitt's Little Early Risers. Stomach and Liver Tablets when necessary and you will never have that severe punishment inflicted upon you. Price, 25 cents. For sale by B. E. Cockey & Co. Thos. R. Brown, whose name was prominently mentioned in connection with the murder of Samuel Rash, is in trouble again. Tom went into the "one-tell" business in Baltimore and after giving the woman 50 cents worth of talk she reported him to the police, and this relieved him of $25 and costs. He'll be good when he is dead. Millions will be spent in politics this year. We can't keep the campaign going without money any more than we can keep the body vigorous without food. Dyspepsia used to start themselves. Now Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat and allows you to eat all the good food you want. It radically cures stomach troubles. J. S. Denny. The Kent News says one of its citizens threshed out 22,000 bushels in 22 days, and want to know who can beat it? This gentleman may have a fast rig for Kent, but when you cross the river it is a back number. Mr. Saml C. Courcy threshed out 22,763 bushels in 14 days and lost several hours each day to spell his men on account of the extreme heat. Numerous papers, all over the country, are advocating—for the comfort of suffering mankind—the adoption of the fashion of men going without coats during hot weather. The suggestion "has been eagerly seized upon and the shirtwaist man has come to stay. An ordinary sight nowadays is to see a shirtwaist man in public amusement, is a man who has been dressed in a suit and is taking a walk to wear

NEWS FROM THE SOUTH.

A Former Resident of Queenstown Writes of His New Home in South Carolina. Georgetown, S. C., August 1, 1900. Messrs. Editors:—When leaving Queenstown, after a pleasant association of nearly five years, I promised a great many of my old friends that I would keep in touch with them that they might know my whereabouts and what I was doing. To write personally to every one, of course, would mean the waste of considerable time, something one cannot well afford when busily engaged, but presuming to think that a general letter would meet the requirements of my promise, I herewith submit a few impressions of the sunny South, which I trust you will deem worthy of publication. If you will scan the map of the Southern States, running your eye down the Atlantic coast, you will observe a spot in the extreme eastern part of South Carolina, just about Charleston, that marks the city of Georgetown—old historic Georgetown, of Revolutionary fame, the same place where Lord Cornwallis was made to suffer the pangs of defeat and compelled to surrender to the American forces many years ago. The history of this battle and the surrender is too familiar to every school boy to permit of further mention, and even though I should care to do so, my failing memory might cause me to indulge in too many inaccuracies. There are still visible evidences of Cornwallis' occupation of the city. I visited St. George's P. E. Church, the building that was used for stabling the British forces' horses and saw the many bricks that were broken by the hoofs of the animals there quartered. Whether it is because of the lack of funds, or that the good citizens do not care to have them disturbed that they do not have the broken bricks replaced with new ones I do not know. The church proved of great interest to me, not alone for its historic association, but because of its style of architecture. It is quite a large edifice, much larger than any I have seen in Maryland outside of Baltimore city. The old family box pews are still in use—something never seen in modern places of worship—and the floor is paved with six inch square red bricks, imported I presume from some European city at the time of construction. Directly opposite the church stands a very pretty monument erected in memory of our Revolutionary heroes. So it is here in this old town that I have taken up abode with the Georgetown & Western R. R., which takes the Atlantic Coast System at Laus, S. C. That this is to be one of the leading sea coast cities is evidenced by the rapid strides that have been made in the last 18 months. Millions of Northern capital is here invested, and a great boom is on. Within a short space of time, tremendously large plants have been put in operation, machine and repair shops, hotels, freight and passenger stations, about 500 dwellings and storehouses have been erected. Other plants are in course of construction, and are also covering operating boys, more dwellings, those already finished being totally inadequate to accommodate the inquiring workmen and their families. The Atlantic Coast Lumber Co., of which I am employe, owns to-day nearly 300,000 acres of timber lands, and is fast absorbing the smaller concerns operating in their territory. The amount of business done is enormous, but it is nothing as to what will be done even a year hence, as it is but in its infancy. There is plenty of work, but there are plenty of willing hands to do it, each train bringing in scores of men seeking new fields of employment. If the climate was different I would suggest that any young man out of work, who was willing to get up and hustle, that he try his luck here, but the prevalence of swamp fever is a barrier. The stagnation of water in the submerged rice fields renders it extremely unhealthy and dangerous to a person at all susceptible to malaria trouble. The company has regularly employed two physicians, and they are on the go day and night, studying their patients with large doses of calomel and quinine. I am informed that the fever is a lingering nature, and once in the system, is hard to get rid of. The weather, of course, is very warm, and the heat through the day at times is intense, but the nights as a rule are very pleasant, especially if the breeze is off the ocean. I find the drinking water the most objectionable feature. We drink artesian water, forced from a depth of about 700 feet. It is clear and sparkling, but very much impregnated with soda. Draw and let remain in a vessel for several hours the sediment can readily be detected. Local physicians assert that in two years' constant use the lining of the stomach will be seriously impaired, if not totally destroyed, but experts disagree with them and proclaim it healthful. As the brewer would assert, "it is but another illustration of the evil of the habit of water drinking." There is here in effect what is known as the dispensary law, where in a man to secure stimulants must need go to the dispensary and there register his name, giving age and place of birth, in other words answering about the same questions that a census enumerator would ask, besides putting in the cash. As yet they are ignorant of my pedigree. HERMAN L. REED. [To be continued in next issue.] "Through the months of June and July our baby was teething and took a running off of the bowels and sickness of the stomach," says O. P. M. Holliday, of Denning, Ind. "His bowels would move from five to eight times a day. I had a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in the house and gave him four drops in a teaspoonful of water and he got better at once." Sold by B. E. Cockey & Co. It will surprise you to experience the benefit obtained by using the dainty and famous little pills known as DeWitt's Little Early Risers. J. S. Denny.

SOL ROBERTS MURDERED.

The Colored Servant of Otho H. Williams Found in a Straw Stack Killed. Solomon Roberts, the trusted colored servant of Mr. Otho Williams, who resides at the "Hermitage" farm in Tilghman's Neck, was murdered on Friday night of last week by some unknown person. His body was found Monday, about noon, buried in one of the straw stacks on the farm with his skull crushed. The wound was inflicted by a blunt instrument. The scalp was cut on the left side, the wound being about five inches long and reaching to the bone. This was evidently made by a sharp instrument. Friday night of last week Solomon Roberts left the kitchen of the "Hermitage" residence at about 9 o'clock and started toward his house—about 150 yards distant—whistling. When he reached the wood pile it was noticed that he ceased whistling. On Saturday morning, when Roberts failed to make his appearance at breakfast time, search was made. He being a favorite servant, unusual efforts were made to find him. A messenger was dispatched to every station along the railroad depot in the vicinity to see if he had been seen. Friday the creek adjoining the farm was dragged for the body. Every hand on the farm—about 20 in number—joined in the search. Monday about noon the attention of the women servants of the house was attracted to some razzards lying over some old straw stacks, where it was made in that quarter, which was discovered that an arm of a man was protruding from the straw. A messenger was at once dispatched to Centreville to notify the sheriff. A jury was summoned, and, with Coroner J. W. Woodford and State's Attorney W. Harper, they proceeded to the "Hermitage" farm. Mr. Alphonius H. Wright was selected as foreman of the jury. Roberts was lying in the side of the stack, with his left arm protruding, but none was to be found. He had been attacked by the buzzards. Mr. Charles E. Moore, the overseer on the farm, stated that he was around the straw stacks, Sunday and saw no evidence of the man. The negroes gathered around but refused to talk or to give any opinion. The coroner examined all of the employes on the farm, and all of them stated that Roberts never had an enemy to their knowledge. The sheriff thoroughly searched the five tenement houses inhabited by colored people in search of some clues, but none was to be found. Mr. James Bordley was the first witness summoned, and he stated that the front bone of Roberts' skull had been crushed; that this wound alone was sufficient to cause death; that the scalp cut was not sufficient to cause death, and that this wound was made with a sharp instrument other than a razor. Dr. Bordley left the house after the inquest was held and went up to the mansion house and on his way found an ax with blood on it. The handle had been scraped, but a portion of it still contained blood. The ax was taken in charge by the Attorney, who will send it to an expert to find out if the blood is that of a human being. Whoever committed the crime covered his tracks well. It is believed that there is a woman in the county, the opinion of many is that Solomon Roberts was deceived by this straw stack by a woman and there—by prearrangement—murdered. Others think that he was struck dead within 40 yards of Mr. Williams' door and dragged and buried in the straw. There is evidence that the body was dragged, the skin of the back being rubbed from the body and there were bruises on the body. Yet there were no traces of blood by the way. An old colored woman residing in the neighborhood stated that she heard a team coming from the direction of the farm at about midnight on the night of the murder, going at a very rapid gait. A colored man who works on the farm stated that he closed the road gate on Friday night, but on Saturday morning it was standing open. It was usually closed. At 7:30 o'clock the jury adjourned to meet in Centreville at 8:30, when they rendered a verdict that Solomon Roberts came to his death at the hands of some unknown party or parties. The murder has aroused an unusual amount of interest from the fact that Roberts was one of the most highly respected members of his race in this county. This is the first murder to take place in this county since Samuel Rash was shot dead in his house by an unknown man, for which Thomas R. Brown, at present a Baltimore "mail reader" was arrested, tried and acquitted. Roberts was 30 years of age and well educated for a negro. The body was taken in charge by an undertaker and the funeral was held Tuesday morning at Gosdilltown A. M. E. Church by Rev. C. W. Moore, pastor and the remains buried in cemetery adjoining a very large concourse of people. Chinese are dangerous enemies, for they are treacherous. That's why all counterfeiters of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve are dangerous. They look like DeWitt's, but instead of the all-healing witch hazel they all contain ingredients liable to irritate the skin and cause blood poisoning. For piles, injuries and skin diseases, use Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I am here to say it gave immediate relief and complete cure." Sold by B. E. Cockey & Co.

HICKS FOR AUGUST.

Numerous Thunder and Rain Storms Followed by Cooler Weather Generally. A violent storm period, dominated by a mercury period, extends from the 2nd to the 7th. Moon is at first quarter on the 3rd and at greatest south declination on the 6th. One of the swells of temperature, or a heated period, will rise to maximum warmth, passing over the country from west to east during the period, but moon being south declination, northerly atmospheric tides will tend to temper the heat, which otherwise at that time would prove very severe. Falling barometer will also appear at that time, and black, blistering clouds, with thunder, will present a shower of rain in some sections. But the actual rainfall will be short of the amount even in sections where it has been too abundant earlier in the season. Storms and storminess of this period, could be at their crisis about the 10th to 12th inclusive. A heavy high temperature ought to occur from about the 7th, but a mercury mugginess with much cloudiness will prevail all through this part of the mercury perturbations, which is central on the 8th, extending from the 2nd to the 12th inclusive. A heavy storm period in which will fall the culminating effects of the mercury period, the moon being at full perigee, and on the celestial equator on the 10th, 11th and 12th. Although a storm early in the season, for this phenomenon, the chances are that West India hurricanes and cyclones will be felt along southern seas and islands, tangents of which will strike the southern borders of the United States, endangering shipping, and calling for such precautionary measures as are practicable in all low lands exposed to invasion by the gulf and seas under pressure of these tropical storms. Counter storms will develop at this time, also over interior parts of the country with indications of low barometric pressure, heavy thunder gusts and some local rain storms, amounting in places, water-sports. If the tropical storm along our south coast are intense and close enough to induce high barometric conditions from our north and northwest, our interior storms at this time will break up in unseasonable, phenomenally cool weather, over much of our continent northward. Storms at this time, and during the remainder of the month, will partake of the autumnal equinoctial perturbation. The storm period, 14th to 18th, will begin with falling barometer, and the temperature will rise to very readings, progressively from west to east. It is an actual storm area, but after storms of thunder, rain, wind and hail in many localities, look for very sudden and great change to cooler. Remember this is the one marked characteristic of the Venus equinox—first very warm, to hot, followed by vicious lightning and thunder, attended with down-pours of hail and rain, and ending quickly in very high barometer and phenomenally cool weather. A marked reaction to storm conditions will set in on the reactionary storm days, 22nd and 24th, the high temperature will be followed by a cooling and a culminating stage about the time of the new moon on the 24th. The storms of this period will probably continue until they blend with the perturbations of the regular Venus period which covers the 25th to 29th. This is the center of the Venus period, with the moon on the celestial equator and in apogee, all increasing the probability of marked atmospheric turmoil.

"I had a severe attack of bilious colic, got a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, took two doses and was entirely cured," says Rev. A. A. Power, of Emporia, Kan. "My neighbor across the street was sick for over a week, and two or three bottles of medicine from the doctor failed to do him any good, then called in another doctor who treated him for some days and gave him no relief and discharged him. I went over to see him the next morning. He said his bowels were in a terrible fix, that he had been running off so long that it was almost bloody flux. I asked him if he had tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and he said, 'No.' I went home and brought him my bottle and gave him one dose, told him to take another dose in fifteen or twenty minutes if he did not find relief, but he took no more and was entirely cured." For sale by B. E. Cockey & Co. A Cure for Rheumatism. Here is a story that comes from the country and is said to be authentic: "A gentleman from the city, while spending his vacation 'down on the farm,' had a set-to with honey bees. The bees crawled upon his trousers leg and began active business. The gentleman had been a sufferer from rheumatism and most of it was in his right knee. Two of the bees which crawled up the trouser leg stung him on that knee, one on the left and one on the right side. When the stings left him the rheumatism did also, and from that day to this his knee has been as loose as a fiddler's arm and no hint of rheumatism has been felt. It is believed that a radical and lasting cure has been effected, and those afflicted with the disease are advised to get themselves stung upon the seat of pain by a real angry honey bee."—Ez. Canning Houses to Open. Caroline county fruit-packers will begin putting up peaches in about ten days or two weeks. A considerable part of the county's peach crop will be put in cans, as usual, when there is a good supply. Several canning houses will be supplied with the fruit, and some of it will be bought by Baltimore packers, who have been working on peaches for several days, getting their fruit from Georgia and Virginia. The Baltimore packers say the fruit they have received from the South has been nearly all poor, and described as "pie." It is said that it will be several weeks before the packers will be able to can "standards." MED. can be used by using Dr. H. M. Davis' Vitalize $1 per package. LADIES can use with safety Dr. H. M. $3 A MONTH UNTIL CURED.

This special summer price will be continued by Dr. Webster for the month of August. This however will be absolutely the last month of this reduced rate, as it was made by request of many who were unable to come to Baltimore last month. Mrs. Wm. R. Hodges, Rock Hall, Kent Co., Md.: "One month's treatment by Doctor Webster has practically cured my two-year-old daughter of a distressing stomach and bowel trouble that had become very alarming. I consider the results obtained remarkable, as we had tried almost everything, with no benefit, before bringing her to Doctor Webster." Among others who testify to the remarkable cures which Doctor Webster has accomplished are: Justice H. Greninger, Hebbsville, Md. Prof. W. H. Zimmerman, Hatothorpe, Md. Judge Geo. M. Russum, Denton, Md. Mrs. M. B. Kemble, Laytonsville, Md. Mr. Major, the famous cement man of New York, explains some very interesting facts about Major's Cement. The multitudes who use this standard article know that it is many times better than other brands for which similar claims are made, but a great many do not know why. The simple reason is that Mr. Major uses the best materials ever discovered and other manufacturers do not use them because they are too expensive and do not allow large profits. Mr. Major tells us that one of the elements of his cement costs $3.75 a barrel, and another costs $2.67 a gallon, while a large share of the so-called cements and Buid give upon the market are nothing more than six-cent cement, dissolved in water or other acid, and, in some cases, altered slightly in color and odor by the addition of cheap and less materials. Major's cement retails at fifteen and twenty-five cents a barrel, and a dealer tries to sell a substitute you depend upon it that his only object is to make large profit. The profit on Major's cement is as any dealer ought to make, and it does not allow large profits. This is the fact that each dealer gets the benefit of Mr. Major's cement, which now amounts to over $1,000,000 throughout the country. Insist on having Major's cement. If you are at all handsomely likely to find that you have more than you imagine your rubber boots and any other rubber and leather goods.
