WASHINGTON LETTER.

Some News Collected at the National Capital by Our Regular Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Sept., 10, 1900—The President's letter of acceptance now holds the center of the political stage. Opinion differs, of course, as to its merits, but it is admitted by his opponents, as well as his supporters that the President has shown that he possesses the courage of his convictions in discussing the important issues of the campaign. The letter contains no dodges. It assumes the responsibility for what has been done, and argues that the work of the administration has been such as to deserve a continuance in power of the party it represents. The arguments being, from the republican point of view, are naturally not accepted by the opponents of that party, although no one questions the adroitness with which they are put. In these days, when men form their opinion of public policies from the newspaper accounts of the carrying out of those policies, it is doubtful whether such documents as candidates letters of acceptance everchange any votes. In fact, they are not written with that expectation; they are written as guides for the writers and speakers of the candidate's party furnishing the party keynotes of the campaign. In this letter Mr. [illegible] has done for his party [illegible] Mr. Bryan's speeches and letter [illegible] have been doing and [illegible] do for his party workers—furnishing them the information needed [illegible] to come with their leaders. [illegible] far as the government is con[illegible], the situation in China has changed during the past week. Out of nineteen votes cast at the election Wednesday evening for or against a free library for Queenstown only two public spirited(?) taxpayers voted against it, thus hoping to avoid paying the enormous tax of 2½ cents on the $100; as their tenants are not paying them over 20 per cent. on their investment. These are the kind of citizens any town should be proud of, as such people has kept Queenstown from going ahead. They do not want to see any enterprise started unless the spout of the proceeds empty into their coffers.

EMPLOYMENT BUREAU.

A Book Will be Opened at Bureau Room 408 South and Second Sts., Baltimore.

Hon. Thomas A. Smith, Chief of the Bureau of Industrial Statistics, has decided to start a State Employment Bureau under the auspices of his department. The main object of the bureau is to bring the employer and employee together without cost to either party. It is believed that farmers and employers in the various counties of the State, as well as the city, often require help, mechanics, laboring men and women, but owing to the trouble of securing same are compelled to wait until they make a visit to the city or depend upon the various employment bureaus run for a profit. On the other hand, there are many work-people who do not possess the necessary amount of money to pay for enrollment in these bureaus, or whose wages are too meagre to even spare the dollar or two demanded by these agencies after the employment is secured.

It is thought that the Bureau of Industrial Statistics may accomplish this work with little cost, if effort to be made is seconded by the press of the State and the various labor organizations and the work-people generally.

For the present the following programme has been mapped out: A book will be opened at the Bureau, Room 408 Merchant' Bank Building, South and Second streets, Baltimore, from 9 A. M., to 4 P. M., on which the name of any person can be registered seeking employment. The person must apply to the office, stating age, residence, kind of employment wanted and reference. Employers of all kinds of labor are requested to file applications for help by letter or otherwise. The bureau will at once put the two in communication with each other, or where positive instructions are given will send the applicant to the employer at once with letter.

While this is being done a list of labor organizations will be arranged and the officers of such requested to keep the bureau posted as to the mechanics out of employment and how they can be easily reached, so that the wants of the county employers can be quickly supplied.

Of course, as there is no appropriation for the work at present, the effort will be limited, but it is hoped to demonstrate by the next session of the Legislature that this is a work both of practicability and usefulness to the people of the State.

There will be absolutely no discrimination between applicants, the first come being the first served. That is the list which will be strictly adhered to and persons on that list assisted to employment according to rotation. It is proposed to enroll men and women alike, without regard to race, creed or color, and endeavor to help all kinds of labor, from house to house help to factory or shop.

The employers of the State can make the effort a success by tendering their aid and sending to the bureau for help of all kinds, while it remains to be seen whether those out of employment will avail themselves of the opportunity offered.

Dr. Davidson to Locate in Easton.

Dr. Charles F. Davidson has decided to remove to Easton on or about October 1, as his practice will be confined more to office work than of driving over such a large territory as his practice here requires. Dr. Howard R. Hopkins, of Wye Mills, it is said, will take the house and practice of Dr. Davidson here. The Easton Ledger speaks thus of Dr. Davidson:

"Dr. Chas. F. Davidson of Queenstown has rented Mrs. Bruff's house on Aurora street and will remove to Easton to practice medicine and surgery. He is the son of Judge George Davidson and was born near Queenstown, September 29, 1865. He entered Maryland University School of Medicine, Baltimore, in 1885 and graduated three years later. He then went to Europe, to the University of Berlin, and was clinical assistant in the hospital there for a period. Upon his return to Baltimore he became chief of Dr. William T. Howard's gynecological clinic at the University, which he resigned to settle in Queenstown."

Fire in Centreville.

About 3.30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon an alarm of fire was given in Centreville, when it was discovered that the large dwelling and storehouse combined, occupied by James E. Bramble as a grocery store, was on fire. The fire company responded promptly, but not until the fire was well under way. The summer kitchen, where the fire originated, was enveloped in flames and the main building considerably damaged before the fire apparatus could be made effective. Not more than half an hour was consumed before the fire was considered under control and finally subdued. The fire originated from cooking lard, which took fire and spread over the kitchen. Mr. Bramble's loss by fire was light, but his furniture and some of his store goods were damaged by water. Mrs. Annie Price, who occupied part of the upper floor, lost considerable household goods. The property belongs to the Keating heirs and was covered by insurance.

Cured of Chronic Diarrhoea After Thirty Years of Suffering.

"I suffered for thirty years with diarrhoea and thought I was past being cured," says John S. Halloway, of French Camp, Miss. "I had spent so much time and money and suffered so much that I had given up all hopes of recovery. I was so feeble from the effects of the diarrhoea that I could do no kind of labor, could not even travel, but by accident I was permitted to find a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and after taking several bottles I am entirely cured of that trouble. I am so pleased with the result that I am anxious that it be in reach of all who suffer as I have." For sale by B. E. Cockey & Co.

PINEY NECK NOTES.

Some Interesting Items From Bryantown and Winchester.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Dadds spent Sunday in Baltimore.

Mrs. Sadie Slaughter, of Baltimore, is visiting her father, Joseph Dever.

Mrs. Joseph Dever is visiting her friends in Locust Grove, Kent county.

Mrs. W. Washington Nelson and daughter, Miss Etta are visiting in Virginia.

Our section was visited by a gentle and refreshing shower of rain late yesterday afternoon.

Hot weather and mosquitoes are still blessing our section. Are any other folks so blessed?

The rush of peaches is over, yet quite a number of baskets of the late varieties are still being shipped.

Mr. Edward S. Pentz, the State oyster measurer appointed from this place, entered upon his duties, Tuesday.

Miss Martha Wilson, who has been quite sick for several weeks past, we are glad to state is somewhat improved at this writing.

Mrs. Nellie Tompkins while attempting to cut a stick of wood on Monday, the axe slipped, cutting off her great toe and badly cutting the next toe.

All of the summer boarding houses still have a number of guests and if the hot weather continues there will be a good many visitors here during the entire month.

The squirrel law is now out and you can hear the crack of the gun as the boy or man fires away at the little fellow; it is fine sport and thoroughly enjoyed by those who engage in it.

Our farmers are having great difficulty in getting their fall work done. There is a scarcity of farm labor and hands are hard to find, day hands are demanding $1.00 and $1.25 a day for their services.

It seems that trouble never comes singly. A few days after his encounter with a ferocious bull, Mr. Harry Coursey while returning home from oystering, sitting on the side of his canoe, lost the money for his day's work overboard. It dropped out of his hip pocket.

Hardly a week passes but we receive communications from some person who fails to sign his or her name and we are compelled to put it in the waste basket. We don't want to publish your name but we would like to know who is doing the writing. If you don't see your items in THE NEWS you just conclude that you forgot to sign your name. [PUB.]

Every person who has a store, an office or other place of business, and who considers a painted sign over his door necessary, can increase the number of his patrons by newspaper advertising. An immense proportion of the people look to the newspapers for information as to where they can get what they want—a fact which should furnish business men with a strong motive for advertising.

A Labor-Saving Machine for Farmers.

Our reporter while out driving Monday evening, noticed a corn cutter at work in the field of Mr. Thomas F. Shortall. The working of the machine, which was so simple and rapid attracted the attention of our reported who went and investigated it. It proved to be one of those latest improved Deering cutters, whose simplicity of mechanism is such that a boy can manage it, as there is nothing to get out of order and very little to wear; and with care should last a lifetime. It binds and delivers any number of hills the operator desires. It needs no men to catch the corn as the old style ones. It is a money saver to our farmers as they all know the trouble it is to get men to cut corn, besides on a large farm it will nearly pay for itself in one season. Mr. Shortall is well pleased with the machine and thinks about ten acres is an average day's work.

Arrested for Stealing Clothes.

Charles E. Kelley, a white man hailing from Baltimore city, was arraigned before Justice Harry Jones, of Kent Island, charged with stealing clothing belonging to a colored man. Kelley said he had no money and was put off the steamer at Kent Island and, while walking along the road, saw a house with no one at home and, entering it, he found a trunk upstairs filled with clothing and he made a change. The officer caught Kelley with the clothes on. Justice Jones, after hearing the case, thought it would be well for Kelley to have another change of clothing and gave Officer Brown a commitment to the House of Correction for Kelley. Officer Brown left Wednesday with his bird to be imprisoned for two months.

JURORS FOR FALL TERM

Drawn by Chief Judge Pearce According to the New Law of the Last Legislature.

Chief Judge James Alfred Pearce on Monday drew the November jurors in accordance with the new law passed at the last session of the Legislature. Under this law each district has its proper representation upon the juries. The names selected were placed into a cubiform box of the square of thirty inches, which boxes has seven compartments or drawers, which are numbered to correspond with the numbers of the respective election districts of the county. From these drawers the judge drew the jurors apportioned to each districts as follows: First district, 8; Second, 6; Third, 9; Fourth, 5; Fifth, 9; Sixth 5; Seventh, 6, and these names so selected compose the November jurors, forty-eight in all.

Democratic Club Organized.

The Democrats of the Fourth Election district of this county met at the hall of Mr. F. E. Thomas, Stevensville, last Saturday afternoon and organized a Bryan and Stevenson club with a membership of about 50. Dr. W. G. Wallis was made president of the club and Charles E. Kirwan, secretary. Two vice presidents from each school district were appointed as follows: No. 1, H. A. Palmer, P. T. Price; No. 2, Dr. J. R. Benton, James E. Cockey; No. 3, Edward M. Legg, M. T. Gibson; No. 4, Wash. Clough, Roland Carville; No 5, W. H. H. Hopkins, W. S. Palmer; No. 6, B. H. Bright, John W. Parks; No. 7, Emory Marshall and Walter Crouch. The meeting adjourned to meet again at the same place on Saturday, September 22nd.

Opposed to Negro Excursions.

The Town Commissioners of Chestertown have been compelled to apply heroic treatment to the negro excursions which they regard as a nuisance. Last week two excursions of about 2,000 colored persons each landed in Chestertown. Some of them were abundantly supplied with strong drink, and drunken people of both sexes became a nuisance. The police force of the town found difficulty in preserving order, and as three other excursions were scheduled to visit Chestertown this week the commissioners have decided to enforce an old ordinance which precludes excursionists from landing. This ordinance was passed as a result of several mobs of a most serious nature some years ago.

Mrs. James Marshall Dead.

Mrs. Ella Marshall, widow of the late ex-sheriff James E. Marshall, died at her late residence in Wye Neck after a long illness, Sunday aged 46 years. Mrs. Marshall was well-known in this section having spent nearly her entire life here. She was a devoted Christian and always had a kind word for everyone. Funeral services were held at the M. P. Church, Wye Neck, Tuesday afternoon conducted by Rev. Mr. Wooden and interment made in Centreville cemetery. The following gentlemen acted as pall-bearers: Thomas H., and James Dodd, C. Carroll Tilghman, Samuel K. Horney, James E. Carter and William Melvin. Five grown children survive her.

The Lawn Fete a Success.

Taking everything in consideration the lawn sociable was a grand success and everyone who attended showed by their satisfaction that it was one of the most enjoyable affairs socially of the season. The parsonage was finely decorated by bunting and flags in honor of the Old Defenders of North Point and one hundred Chinese lanterns with several of Captain Daniel Friel's searchlights gave a fulness of light in the absence of the out-going moon which seemed to be affected by the Texas storm. Father Kervick returns most cordial thanks to all—the actual workers and those attending. All certainly consider it was a grand success. The net proceeds were $30.

Oyster Inspectors.

Commander T. C. B. Howard, at the recommendation of State Senator James E. Kirwan, has appointed the following gentlemen as oyster inspectors for this county: Charles Brown, J. W. Ringgold, W. H. Morgan and Thomas Collison, of Kent Island; Edward S. Pentz, of Winchester; James A. Sylvester, of Carmichael and Capt. Omer Kendall, of Centreville. The position pays $45 per month for eight—the time of the oyster season—and they give bond to the State in the amount of fifteen hundred dollars for the faithful performance of their duties. They qualified before the Board of Public Works on Tuesday.

Plenty Peaches but Little Money.

The verdict of the average peach grower is that there is no money in peaches. After taking into consideration the loss of the use of the land and the expense of marketing the crop, this year's crop in this county is generally put down as a financial failure. Several instances are reported where large shipments have been made to Baltimore, and the returns brought the shippers in debt. Under these conditions thousands of baskets of fine fruit have been allowed to decay and drop from the trees.

BROKEN BRIC-A-BRACS.

Mr. Major, the famous cement man of New York, explains some very interesting facts about Major's Cement.

The multitudes who use this standard article know that it is many hundred per cent. better than other cements for which similar claims are made, but a great many do not know why. The simple reason is that Mr. Major uses the best materials ever discovered and other manufacturers do not use them because they are too expensive and do not allow large profits. Mr. Major tells us that one of the elements of his cement costs $3.75 a pound, and another costs $2.65 a gallon, while a large share of the so called cements and liquid glue upon the market are nothing more than sixteen-cent glue, dissolved in water or citric acid, and, in some cases, altered slightly in color and odor by the addition of cheap and useless materials.

Major's cement retails at fifteen cents and twenty-five cents a bottle, and when a dealer tries to sell a substitute you can depend upon it that his only object is to make large profit.

The profit on Major's cement is as much as any dealer ought to make on any cement. And this is doubly true in view of the fact that each dealer gets his share of the benefit of Mr. Major's advertising, which now amounts to over $5000 a month, throughout the country. Established in 1876.

Insist on having Major's. Don't accept any off-hand advice from a druggist.

If you are at all handy (and you will be likely to find that you are a good deal more so than you imagine) you can repair your rubber boots and family shoes, and any other rubber and leather articles, with Major's Rubber Cement and Major's Leather Cement.

And you will be surprised at how many dollars a year you will thus save.

If your druggist can't supply you, it will be forwarded by mail; either kind. Free of postage.
