SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 2, 1901.

The way it has been so long lately must make cotton feel that it is once more king.

The Democratic party is not as sick as some of the quack doctors seem to think it is.

It is always hard to get into West Point, but recent developments prove that it is harder to get out—alive.

Ladies who do not care to give pink teas are securing newspaper mention by imitating Mrs. Nation.

They say that some people love Cleveland, not for the enemies he has made, but for the ducks he has killed.

Mrs. Nation is a successful imitator of our first President. She can truthfully say: "I did it with my little hatchet."

The members of the Delaware legislature are still unconvinced by the Adick's brand of argument that any Senator is better than none at all.

Possibly the reason Mrs. Carrie Nation is so vicious in her assaults upon the looking glass is because the mirror is so persistently unkind to her.

Now that Mr. Tesla has invented daylight, the people who have been wondering what we would do when the sun went out will feel considerably relieved.

New York has a new Napoleon of finance in the person of a young man who earned the cotton market. But in this, as in wheat deals, all's well that ends well.

The long-delayed frost has come, much to the relief of the believers in precedent, who began seriously to fear that the peach crop would not be in danger, as usual.

The Supreme Court of New York has shown some gleams of human feeling. In cutting down the income of the Countess Castellan it allows her enough to buy her Easter bonnet.

A woman in Oskosh, Wis., has secured a divorce on the ground that her husband is a cigarette fiend. The Wisconsin court probably didn't realize the danger of such a precedent.

An Indiana legislator wants morphine substituted for hanging in that State. It would be odd to see a lynching party equipped with a hypodermic syringe, instead of the usual clothing.

The Michigan legislature has before it a bill to impose a tax of $5 on all bachelors over thirty years old. Nobody has been able to estimate the number of old maids who have appeared in the lobby in behalf of this bill.

Considering the statement of Adick's, a short time ago, that he found it difficult to restrain the Delaware members from voting for him, subsequent proceedings indicate that a majority of them have been able to restrain themselves.

Bryan's paper, the Commoner, has been lamed and starts out with bright anticipations and what is better a large paid up subscription list. It is, of course, too early to predict what effect the paper will have. It has certainly a brilliant editor and we trust that his journal will be a brilliant success.

The cadet who indulges in an "affair of honor," knowing his opponent has no chance, is not only a gentleman, as a soldier should be, but a coward of a particularly despicable sort, and should be dismissed from the academy, says Harp's Weekly. To make Lieutenant Hobson's brother go about kissing lamp-posts, and to compel this same young man to read aloud accounts of the sinking of the Merrimack, and announce at the end of each paragraph, "Am the Man," is an amusing if somewhat silly proceeding, and is as forgivable as it is natural. But to call out a young man to fight with one who is his superior in physical development, in experience, and in the heroic art, and to brand him as a coward if he declines—is this the act of a savage, and should be treated as such.

The Boers appreciated the character and goodness of Queen Victoria, but they do not let their war with England stop for her funeral. They have just captured a train on the railroad north of Kimberley, in British territory, and with it they took a guard of soldiers.

The Post Office Department at Washington is about to issue the postage stamps to be sold and used during the Pan-American Exposition to be held at Buffalo, N. Y. There are to be six denominations of these stamps, containing a picture printed in black with suitable surroundings. Their central pictures will be a large lake steamer, a train of cars representing fast railroad transportation, an automobile, representing the newest form of transportation.

This is the way an exchange pays its respects to "Mrs. Carrie Nation, the fanatic, who is creating such havoc among the liquor saloons of various Kansas towns, is, in our opinion, doing the cause of temperance more harm than good. The damage she and her little band of misguided followers have done in destroying the fixtures and contents of a number of saloons foots up thousand of dollars, and, so far, Mrs. Nation has gotten off with a few days in prison. Whatever we may hold as to the moral right of the saloon-keepers to carry on their business, they are doing so according to the laws of the state and are entitled to protection. Mrs. Nation is either a dangerous criminal or lunatic. If the former, she should be incarcerated at once, and if crazy, should be sent to an asylum for the treatment of such cases."

Like bad dollars, all counterfeits of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve are worthless. The original quickly cures piles, sores and all skin diseases. J. S. Denny.

Broken Brick-a-brac.
 Mr. Major, the famous cement man of New York, explains some very interesting facts about Major's Cement. The multitudes who use this standard article know that it is many hundred per cent better than other cements for which similar claims are made, but a great many do not know why. The simple reason is that Mr. Major uses the best materials ever discovered and other manufacturers do not use them because they are too expensive and do not allow large profits. Mr. Major sells us that one of the elements of his cement costs $3.75 a pound, and another costs $2.50 a gallon, while a large share of the so-called cements and liquid glues upon the market are nothing more than stone-cent glue, dissolved in water or citric acid, and, in some cases, altered slightly in color and odor by the addition of cheap and useless materials.
