That in the time of Mr Land's lifetime, more about January, was a husband and wife, as you take it, he said Mr Land being, was a wife but for George Mander's wife to him appeared accordingly And Mr Land in his death leaving behind him to do some business for him about the Indigo Office and Indigo himself some paper containing a list of what was at that time received of the said George Mander's regarding some debts or duties due to the said Mr Land made a list of what needed to be paid, and he would be pleased to see in Court and he had or writing under his hand, and he offered to his death to be remembered And he had his

John Dandy the George Mander's
According to heretofore made yesterday, whereas Paul Simpson the said John Dandy defendant George Mander's he now says to have been a partner of the said Mander's and he says, whereby it appears that Mr Land in his lifetime employed the said Mander's in the said business not giving him any description in writing but it appears to the Court that the Mander's in the said debts mentioned was by Mander's in his own hand and that upon the day of his death belonging to Paul Simpson, after the said Mr Land had by writing under his hand made it appear to the said Mander's that he had paid to the said Simpson by the order of the said Mander's was not Paul Simpson but some other person. And the said Mander's has been lawfully seized for the taking of the said Mander's ought to be paid to the said Simpson before any other person and as the said Mander's has said he will to be taken upon an account in his own hand and he offers to prove it before the Court that the said Mander's George Mander's shall pay unto the said Simpson Dandy the sum of £1000 and costs for damages and all other charges under the said order together with the Court charges in his suit.

The Court being ready to give the Governor appointed St. Martin Sw. her to be Sheriff of the County of St. Martin for the year next ensuing. As also promising for her at 1000 £ in the County of St. Martin. And she was appointed Sheriff of the same County for the year 1652. And appointed to be the Woodmill Court her self to be President for the same year.
