

8. What was the indebtedness of your bank to the banks of New York, and also to those of Philadelphia, on the 1st May, 1835, 1st May, 1836, 1st May, 1837, and 1st January, 1838?

9. What was the amount of your loans and discounts to brokers, and the greatest amount to any one of them, on the first discount day of each month in the year 1837?

10. Have you employed any broker or other person since the commencement of the year 1837, to sell your own notes or the notes of other banks, or to sell or purchase gold or silver coin, and if so, to what amount, and at what rates have such sales or purchases been made?

11. What was the whole amount of your loans and discounts to the officers and directors of your bank, on the first discount day of each month of the year 1837, and on the first discount day of the present month; and what was the largest amount to any one of them?

12. Do you distinguish, in granting loans and discounts, between directors and stockholders and others—if yea, upon what terms are accommodations granted to such preferred applicants?

13. Since the 10th of May last, have you borrowed specie from any other bank, or loaned specie to any bank, or broker, or other person, and to what amount, and under what circumstances?

14. Had you any notice or information, before the 12th of May last, of the intention of the Philadelphia or New York banks to suspend specie payments; and if so, from what source was it derived, and at what time?

15. Was any demand for specie made upon your bank, by any bank in either of these cities, or by any bank in Baltimore, in the month of May last; and if so, by what bank, and in what manner, and to what amount, was such demand made?

16. Had you any concert or understanding with any bank in Philadelphia or New York, upon the subject of suspending specie payments?

17. Previous to the Bank Convention in New York, did you receive any suggestion or advice from any of the banks in Philadelphia or New York, as to the policy of continuing the suspension of specie payments, or of declining to fix a day for that purpose; and if so, from what bank did you receive it?

18. What amount of gold and silver coin is now on special deposit in your bank, and what amount is owned by it, and subject to the redemption of its notes?

19. Were you then, or are you now, opposed to naming a day for paying specie; and if so, what are your reasons?

20. Would the resumption of specie payments by the banks of Baltimore, without the adoption of the same measure by the banks in the Eastern cities, be injurious to the banks, or the community?

21. Would such resumption, in co-operation with the Eastern banks, be attended with like injury?
