

FOREWORD

As a joint sponsor with the Library of Congress in the State Records Microfilm Project the University of North Carolina takes great pride in this work, in the great catalogue of materials now available for scholars, and in this guide. It shows the vitality of the Project that it has brought to light so much new material from so many new sources.

I think all concerned would testify to the zeal, the energy, and the genius for this work which characterizes Professor W. S. Jenkins, the Director of the Project. Since his time was the contribution of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, I take personal satisfaction in what he has done. President Frank P. Graham, Acting-President W. D. Carmichael, Jr., President Gordon Gray, and the Board of Trustees gave full backing to the undertaking. But the work is that of Professor Jenkins. And for that we are grateful.

R. B. House

Chancellor

July 3, 1951

University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, N. C.