Queen Anne's Countians Can Do Their Part By Economizing.

Hoover, following his return from England and France, where he reviewed the food saw how American grown crops were helping alleviate the suffering of war byidden Europe. His statement, while praising the work done in 1918, sounds a note of warning that production must be increased next year.

Queen Annes county farmers will, no doubt, be interested in this interview which also refers to crop condition in Europe

"The United States will share with the Allies their sacrifices of food as well as blood in the cause of world democracy," said Mr Hoover "Next] year we must supply the Ailies 4,000,-*000,000 pounds of fats, 900,000,000 lbs. of beef products, 500,000,000 bushels; of cereals and 1,500,000 tons of sugar However, Mr. Hoover added, beginning September 1, there will be no need for drastic food rationing in the Allied countries, except in the case of sugar and beef

In a statement dealing with his observations abroad. Mr. Hoover said in Harvests Abroad.

"The harvests in France, England | and Italy are better than one could expect in the tremendous drain of man power to the front This is due to the women There is no sight in the world that would appeal to the American heart as that of the literally millions of women doing all the work of getting in the harvests while their men are at work in the shops i and driving back the Germans."

Of the foodstuff which America must export. Mr Hoover said:

"After shipping is set aside for the transport of the American Army and for military purposes of the Allies. a definite amount of tonnage is made available for the transport of the program of food for civilian consumption. The purpose of our European food conference has been to determine the amount of food upon which beaith and morale can be maintained, and to determine the nearest possible sources of supply of this food to the Allies.

serden of food supply. While Can grain this year, the major part of the Allied program for next year falls upon us.

"We have also to feed our own enormous army We can do it if we simply have the will to live with every economy and to waste nothing

Flour Mixture.

By the great effort of our farmers our l'nited States harvests are bet ter this year, but in order that we may build up a surplus of wheat this year as against possible crop failures, such as we had last year, we have decided to mix 20 per cent of other grains with wheat flour in all the countries fighting Germany We cannot ask for better bread than France, and we propose the American people should maintain a common standard of bread with them

"Under these arrangements, however, the bread situation in the United States will be much easier than last year, and in Allied countries an enormous improvement Bread to them is of the first importance, as it comprises 50 per cent. of food in-

By supplying them with bread and fats in such amounts as will not necessitate rationing on their side we can rest assured that their courage and strength in the war will remain high during next winter.

"It will be a bad winter in Europe, because coal will be much shorter than even last winter, and the health of their populations cannot be maintained if they, in addition, are to be also restricted in their allowance of bread and fats. Our complete fulfillment of our last year's promises in food and our assurance to furnish even larger supplies this next year have removed from them the least fear of hunger "The German drive and the apprebension of famine last spring brought a great deal of discouragement to the civilian population of England, France and Italy. The arrival, however, of the American army, their instant magnificent performance in action. the gradual overcoming of the submarthe with the assistance of our Navy. together with our assurances of all necessary food, have put a new heart into the Allies. Since the war began have not seen their spirit so high or their determination to finish the job so fixed as it is today.

What is a Branch House?

The Branch House is the place in the packing organization where what the packing plant does for you is put where you can use it.

Both are the natural result of growth and development in the living thing they belong to.

Swift & Company Branch Houses are located in distributing centers all over the country. They are fitted out with refrigerating equipment to keep meat cool, sweet and fresh.

Each one is in personal charge of a man who believes in what Swift & Company is doing for people and wants to help do it.

They are directed by men who have spent years learning how to get better meat cheaper to the places where it is needed.

Meat is shipped to the branch houses direct from the packing plants in Swift & Company's refrigerator cars, in such quantities that it can be disposed of while fresh and sweet. Your meet dealer comes here to buy your meat for you-unless someone else can treat him better then we can.

So you need the branch house in order to live well; and the branch house and the packing plant need each other, in order to be useful to you.
