-A rumor that the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company has succeeded in effecting a foreign loan of five millions of dollars on the Chicago Division has been credited in certain quarters, but if such a loan has been negotiated the executives of the road do not feel themselves at liberty to sanction what they may consider a premature announcement. Other reports place the loan at eight millions of dollars, an amount sufficient to fund the floating debt of the Company and leave a surplus. If the facts were known it is probable that the announcement would prove unauthorized and intended possibly for speculative effect. It is very likely that the negotiation of such a loan at the present time, if it could be secured on liberal terms, would be acceptable to the Company, and in the prevailing state of European feeling regarding American railroad investments, the consummation of such an important financial transaction would be of deep interest and prove a source of much encouragement.
