A THREATENED DREAD VISITOR. This country is threatened with the Asiatic cholera, one of the most dreadful diseases known. A vessel was allowed to pass quarantine at New York this week, with the cholera aboard, and was not ordered back until it had reached the inner harbor. There had been twenty-two deaths on the vessel during its voyage across the Atlantic. The blunder on the part of the health officers, by which the vessel was admitted into New York harbor, was criminal, and it is apprehended that the cholera will appear in the metropolis within the next week or ten days. Cities in comthe plague reach Baltimore, the history make all Maryland exceedingly anxious. vigilance in the matter of sanitation.

The officers of registration give notice in THE TIMES this week as to their sittings in September. Democratic the full party vote is registered and that no name is on the books unless entitled to be there. The Republicans are in the last ditch, but for that very reason will make the hardest fight, this fall, known in the history of their party. This is especially true of the Fifth Congressional district. In this and the Sixth the enemy's money and efforts will be concentrated. Here, if anywhere in Maryland, they expect to make their gains. To offset this it becomes Democrats to be up and doing and give Cleveland. Stevenson and Compton the victory which they have a right to expect.

The school children of Howard are looking up their books and slates and such teachers as have been away are returning from sea-side and mountain, invigorated and freshened we hope for a profitable school year. The school board announces that the schools will open in this county next Monday.

In the September Magazines The September issue of Lippincott's is a Pacific number. Every article in it deals with topics of our western coastchiefly, of course, Californian-or has been prepared by a native or resident of that favored region.

The complete novel, "The Doomswoman," is by Mrs. Gertrude Atherton. It is a vigorous tale of "the grass era" of Spanish occupation, and depicts with vivid brilliancy the manners, amusements, passions, and intrigues of those hidalgos and donnas who ruled the land before its cession. The novel is fully Hubert Howe Bancroft, the distinguished historian of the Pacific coast, furnishes a most interesting account of "California Eras." Next in importance is a sketch of the history of "California Johrnalism," by the veteran editor, M. H. deYoung. Portraits of these gentlemen accompany their articles W. C. Morrow describes "The Topography of California," and Helen F. Lowe gives us a liberally illustrated account of "A Famous Pebble Beach," that William S. Walsh discusses "Mrs.

Atherton's Novels" in the form of a dialogue between a Whig and a Tory. There are short stories by Heine (better known as Joaquin) Miller, and Emma B. Kaufman; and poems by Ina H. Coolbrith, Madge Morris, Martha T. Tyler, Flora Macdonald Shearer, Charles Warren Stoddard, and Nelly Booth

Readers of the September number of the Atlantic Monthly will be attracted by the verses addressed to Oliver Wendell Holmes, on his eighty-third birthday, by John Greenleaf Whittier, now in his eighty-fifth year. Mrs. Deland's new serial, "The story of a Child," opens the number. The opening chapters are devoted to the history of an imaginative child, brought up with some rather formal relatives, in the old town which is the scene of some of Mrs. Deland's other stories. Characters already familiar to her readers are also introduced in Miller has a paper on "The Cliff-Dwellers in the Canon," the cliff-dwellers bethese chapters. Mrs. Olive Thorne ng not a savage tribe of men, but a flock of birds. Mr. Bishop continues his papers on "An American at Home in Europe," and tell about "A French Mov-ing," "A Year in a Mediterranean Villa," and "A House-hunting tour in England." Stuart Sterne has a sonnet called "Night after Night," and Mary J. Jacques a sketch entitled "Catherine," the Cather ine in question being one of those wond erful, model servants which are believed to exist abroad, although in this country appearing only in the pages of fiction. Mr. Hale's delightful papers on "A New England Boyhood," are devoted to his life at home. Mr. S.R. Elliott's article on "The Romance of Memory," Miss Scudder's third paper on "Shelley's Prometheus," Mr. Crawford's installment of his exciting serial, "Don Orsino," not to forget a poem by Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, called "The Lost Colors," are the chief remaining contents of a well composed Senator Voorhees, of Indiana, was in Washington Monday, on his way to Indiana. He had been to New York in consultation with the leaders of his party there, and from his conversation with a representative of the Baltimore Sun it is evident the "Tall Sycamore of the Wabash" entertains no fears of Democratic success next November. "The situation in New York," said he, is most encouraging. It will be started with a big ratification in Baltimore, in which the State committee and city executive committee will co operate. The time and soon as the city committee hold their Secretary Vandiver are engaged in makasked to address the Democratic voters in the several counties in the State. The its session. The meetings will follow in quick succession after the opening meeting in Baltimore. It is the purpose at headquarters to push the campaign vigorously in the State.

That's the Senator's Style. "Individual differences are submerged in the party strife. If a man disliked munication with New York, including Mr. Cleveland and bolted, he would be Baltimore, are naturally apprehensive, simply getting out of the party. Things Producers Would Like to Know. Republican editors, politicians and A. C. Taylor, Ellicott City, Md. Congressmen are proclaiming to the country that the wealth of the nation has been largely increased under the operations of the McKinley tariff during the past two years. Admitting this to be true, we producers would like some Republican editor or statesman to explain to us where this increase of wealth has gone-in whose pockets has it found a stopping place? Has the great mass of producers reaped any benefit from this gain, or has it been gobbled by the protected manufacturers, speculators, trusts, combines and other monopolists?

Another thing we would like the proectionist to explain to us is why, if the McKinley law benefits the mechanic and laborer, they have not had their shares of this great increase of weaith. Why is there so much distress among the laboring classes? Why so many strikes and disturbances to threaten the public peace? The election is coming on and the voter is seeking knowledge so that he may cast his ballot wisely.

A great many farmers are being rapidly convinced that there is something wrong in the operation of the tariff system, and are getting their eyes open to the fact that this law gives the manufacturer and monopolist a powerful advantage over the farmer, because, for one reason, it forces him to sell the products of his labor at prices fixed in free trade England, in competition with the pauper labor of Europe, India and Egypt, and to purchase his necessaries of life from the American manufacturer, who is protected at the rate of nearly 50 per cent, against the value of such goods in the markets where the prices of his produce are fixed. No wonder the farmer is losing ground and the manufacturer growing richer under the unequal operations of the McKinley law, and it s becoming plain to all intelligent, fairminded men that this system which taxes the producer for the benefit of the manufacturer and speculator must be abolished or else the condition of the American farmer and mechanic wil soon be reduced to the level of the vassalage of Europe.-Cor. N. Y. World.

Being a self-regulator, is always ready for business; slacks up at 30 below, and takes a new grip in the shade. Gently persuades a runaway team to reconsider its action. An unruly built is a safe as a canary in its cage. It says to the festive hog,"Thus far shalt thou go," &c. The fierce winds and snow heeds it not. The "trespasser is not led into temptation," and the rail stealer's occupation is gone. Write for circulars and prices. We soil largely of it.
