Or the More .- The Federal government appears to keep its troops on the move. Whether from fear of having them contaminated by the "loyal" citizens of Baltimore, or some other cause \ hest known to themselves, those stationed here are not allowed long to rest. As an instance, the Sixteenth Massachusetts, encamped for some days at the McKim grounds, last evening struck their tents and marching to the foot of Concord street, took the boat for Old Point. Their place vacated at McKim's, was soon filled by the Seventeenth Massachuseits, for the last two or three days encamped at Gen. Steuart's. The Sixteenth left in so much haste, that great difficulty was experienced in finding quarters for one of the members who had been seriously wounded by a comrade a few | Virginia 6's 54 sales | N. SELUCE OF ARMS.-On Saturday morning at two o'clock, fire was discovered in the building known as Marion Hall, on Ensor near Gay street. The members of No. 6 fire engine company were quickly on the spot, and succeeded in extinguishing it without bringing their engine into action. After the fire several of the Federal police entered the Hall, and on examining a closet, found some fifty stand of arms and about an equal number of muskets and rifles. The arms were stored there. by Captain Hiltze, who comtained a volunteer. military company of this city. The arms were taken pussession of and conveyed to the Eastern police station.

HERREW NEW YEAR .- On Wednesday evening ! next will begin the Rash Hashamuch or the He-1 brew new year, numbering the 5,622d year of the record of the faith. BY THE PKILADELPHIA TRAIN. The Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia Inquirer says:

The close proximity of the enemy may be judged from the fact, that from the top of the ship bouse in the Navy Yard the Confederate flag can be distinctly seen, and the Rebel Artillerists can also be seen drilling at their guns on Munson's Hill, near Bailey's Cross Roads.

Every precaution is being taken to prevent Corricting communication between the Maryland and Potomac shores. A strict police is kept up along the river, and craft of every description are removed from the Virginia side and placed where they can not be used for Rebel purposes. The New York correspondent of the Ledger The general superintendent of police, Mr. Kennedy, yesterday issued a circular to the detectives within his jurisdiction, instructing them to natrowly watch all persons expressing secretion sentiments, or in any other way giving aid and comfort to the enemy. Where such persons are discovered, they are to be immediately reported to bead-quarters. These instructions are very strindetective who disregards them. It will be seen that the Government intends to put the foot down firmly in this city, and if the police are but faith-, (as doubtless they are,) you must not be surprised if the transient borders at the model lodging house, Fort Lafayette, down the bay, should have large additions to their company ere long. Loyal as New York is, it is nevertheless true, there are many people within her limits, which, in seasons like these, it will do no harm, if It will do no good, to watch. The war is working wonderful changes in the fortunes and character of many of our city journals. The retirement of Mr. Halleck from the editorial management of the Journal of Commerce, has been followed by such a change of heart on the part of that establishment, as will benceforth relieve it from the pains and penalties of disloyalty: the Postmaster accordingly announces that the interdict, as regards its transmission by the United States mails, is removed.
