

BALTIMORE GLIPPER.

MONDAY MORNING, FEB. 22, 1841.

CORRECT DOCTRINE. We have undergone no little censure from some of the office-seekers, for our firm adherence to the principles which we have always maintained in relation to appointments. Our sentiments on this subject were considered perfectly satisfactory when applied to the proscriptive policy of the adverse party; but now that power is about to change hands, they are pronounced mal-apropos; not by the whig party, but by those who expect to make profit from the result of the political contest.

In what we have said respecting office-seekers, we have desired to be understood as opposing, not the claims of particular individuals, but the proscriptive policy—that policy which has been heretofore so severely denounced by whig writers and the party in general. If we have failed to define our position with sufficient distinctness, it is not now necessary that we should labor the point; for we find our sentiments so much better expressed by the distinguished senators Messrs. Clay and Preston, that it is unnecessary for us to add a word. Whilst we are sustained by such intellectual giants and pure patriots, we shall disregard the denunciations of pigmies.

We copy the following congressional proceedings as reported in the American of Saturday: "Mr. Clay, of Ky. made one of his noblest and best speeches, brief and powerful, in reply to an insinuation from Mr. Sevier, that the Whigs were to be proscriptive, and to remove from office without cause. He said that he had never conceived or uttered such a sentiment in all his life, and he held it as a detestable one. His opinion was that there should be but one inquiry in regard to officers. Was the man honest? Was he capable? Had he discharged the duties devolving upon him with fidelity? Had he kept aloof from executive interference? Had he not prostrated the duties of his office to party purposes? If a public officer had done none of these things, he should be retained in office, and held up as an example worthy of support.

"Mr. Norvell expressed the hope that the incoming administration would make a clean sweep, and leave not one stone upon another of the old administration. "Mr. Preston trusted that the Whigs would do no such thing. The most infamous sentiment he had heard in all his life was that 'the victors belonged the spoils.' It was not his sentiment, and he repudiated it altogether, and believed that neither the head of the new administration nor any one that sustained it would carry out such a principle. The sentiments of the Senator from Kentucky were his—honesty, capability of candidates for office, and a faithful discharge of public duties by them in office should secure them their places if they had not been guilty of interference with the people in their elections. "Mr. Mangum assented to the same doctrine."

THE BANKS. Mr. Graves has taken the banks in hand, and is about to introduce a bill for their better regulation. Some of them stand sadly in need of reformation, and whilst Mr. G. has his hand in, we hope he will do the work thoroughly, so as to place such safeguards over the people's money that "thieves cannot break in and steal." We would hold directors and officers to the strictest accountability; and, if possible, prohibit them from accommodating themselves so largely. It is evident that there must be new principles of banking introduced, if banks are to receive the confidence of the public. The business has been carried to excess and should be restrained. A few banking institutions, with sufficient capitals and well regulated and conducted, would be preferable to numbers pulling against each other.

We know not what are the views of Mr. Graves, but he has an important subject upon which to exercise his skill and judgment. It is a matter which will require great discretion, but no passion. He must be prepared to build up as well as to pull down. If he be judicious in his proposed regulations he may do much good—if rash and indiscreet, his labors will be ineffectual.

CONTEMPTIBLE. In a recent squabble in the house of representatives, some members were guilty of the meanness of reflecting upon a gentleman because of his diminutive size. This is truly contemptible, and detracts from the dignity of those who resorted to so ungentlemanly a mode of warfare. If, however, members will indulge in personal disputes, instead of discharging their public duties, we must not be surprised at their sometimes adopting the language of the canaille, and using epithets at which the common loafer should blush. It would be our last thought to reproach an opponent with the smallness of his stature, for mind and body do not necessarily correspond.

MISSION TO ENGLAND. It is rumored in Richmond, that the Hon. Henry Clay will be despatched forthwith to London, on a special mission to open negotiations for the final adjustment of the existing difficulties between Great Britain and the United States. We know not what credit is to be attached to this rumor, but that the selection of Mr. Clay for such a purpose would be most judicious. We have every confidence in his talents, firmness, and patriotism; and no man understands better the matters in controversy.

MR. WEBSTER. This distinguished gentleman has resigned his seat in the senate of the United States. He will receive the appointment of secretary of state under general Harrison, a station for which he is well qualified by his talents and extensive acquirements.

SMALL NOTES. Mr. Coad has obtained leave to bring in a bill to authorize the commissioners of St. Mary's county to issue notes or scrip under the denomination of one dollar, during the suspension of specie payments.

We have an apprehension that a bill for this purpose will be permitted to pass; for it would open a door which could not be closed again without damage. Every county in the State would ask the same privilege, and counterfeits would be abundant.

Whilst on the subject of small notes, we will recur, for a moment, to the bill reported by Mr. Graves, and which has passed the house of delegates. The first section is in the following words:

Sec. 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, That from and after the passage of this act, no person, or association of persons, or body corporate, except such corporate bodies whose issues are now recognized by law, shall either directly or indirectly issue, pay out, receive or deliver, or attempt to emit or circulate, any bill, note, scrip-note, certificate of deposit or other evidence of debt, intended to circulate as money or currency; and that it shall not be lawful except when specially authorized by law, for any individual, association or corporation to issue, pay out, receive or deliver, or attempt to emit or circulate, any bill, note, scrip-note, certificate, token or device whatever, representing or purporting to represent any portion, claim or evidence of a claim to any share of the stocks of any corporate company, or any bond, or other obligation of any state or corporation whatever, or of any subdivided part of the same, and that any person or persons, or any director, president, cashier, or other agent or officer of any such corporation, who shall violate the provisions of this act, or shall directly or indirectly assent to such violation, for each and every violation shall forfeit the sum of fifty dollars, to be recovered by indictment in the City Court of Baltimore, or in any County Court of this State, one half said penalty to the use of the informer, and the other half to the State.

Now, the question arises whether, by this section, the issues of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company are excluded from circulation. It will be recollected that, by a bill previously passed, the Banks in this State were authorized to receive and pay out the scrip notes of this Company, thus recognizing their issues, and rendering them legal. Mr. Graves's bill expressly excepts from the operation of the law, "such corporate bodies whose issues are now recognized by law," and was designed, as we believe, to prevent the issue of shillings by irresponsible individuals and forger's associations. This is very proper, and we hope that the bill may have the desired effect, though, as we have before said, we think that public opinion will constitute the greatest obstacle to the introduction of such spurious currency. We should greatly prefer a small currency of specie, but doubt whether it would be practicable to keep it in circulation whilst specie remains at a premium. If the effort to accommodate in this respect, were made by the banks and found unsuccessful, it could be discontinued; if it be not made, then it will be incumbent on the banks to reader that currency which the people are forced to accept in consequence of the suspension, equivalent, at least, to their own paper, for bank purposes.

VIRGINIA BANKS. It seems by the following article from the Richmond Star and Transcript, that, although the Virginia banks have the credit of continuing to pay specie, they do not deserve it. We shall take occasion to expose the "manoeuvre" of which the Star and Transcript speaks, so that the banks of that state may have all the credit they deserve—but no more.

OUR BANKS. All concern about specie payments has passed from the public mind; and if the northern shavers and blood-suckers will only keep away, we shall go on, as we now do, without trouble. The arrangement under which the banks preserve the aspect of specie payments, is the only one that is possible under present circumstances, being in fact rather a manoeuvre to avoid specie payments, than a bona fide, thorough business resumption, which is an impossible thing with non-specie paying banks on every side of us. We repeat, that the procedure of the banks is shrewd and skillful in the highest degree, and it only requires that the game played upon the U. S. Bank be not attempted here to make the present posture of bank affairs permanent and safe.

WALRIKE. The following resolution was offered to the house of representatives of Maine, and referred to the committee on the northeastern boundary, on the 13th inst. The sum of $1,000,000, instead of $400,000, has been appropriated for the defence of the state. This resolution was also referred to the committee:

Resolved, That the President of the United States be requested and urged to cause the immediate removal of the foreign armed force, by which our State is invaded, stationed upon the upper valley of the St. Johns, and that the Government of the United States be earnestly invoked to relieve this State from the present heavy and burthen of its own defence.

PUBLIC LANDS. The report and resolutions relative to the public lands, sustaining the principle of distribution, have been passed in the house of delegates of this state by a large majority, and will probably pass the Senate.

We have no doubt that the land bill will be brought before congress at the extra or succeeding session, and that it will become a law.

ANOTHER RAILROAD. The Directors of the Berkshire Railroad Company held a meeting a few days since at Hockbridge, and resolved to commence operations instanter, on the road from thence to Albany. The length of the road is to be twenty miles, and is said to be very easy of construction.

EARLY ASPARAGUS. We received, on Saturday last, from Dr. Edmondson, a present of some excellent asparagus, raised at his country residence. It is early in the season for this delicious vegetable, and we thank Dr. E. for his polite attention.

FANATICISM. A woman in Haydon Bridge, England, lately endeavored to cut off her legs with an axe. She said that they "offended her," and she would do as the bible directed.

A MACHINE FOR SETTING TYPE. On Saturday last we called at Belzhoover's Hotel, and were there shown a machine for setting and distributing type, the inventor of which is a Mr. John D. Hitt. To describe the model as exhibited to us would be almost impossible. The principle did seem somewhat plausible, but as regards the utility of the machine we have serious doubts. The idea forcibly struck us that, admitting it to operate, it would perform less work than a single printer, and at the same time be probably twice or three times the expense. The peculiar feature of the invention consists in a horizontal wheel, the diameter of which may be extended to one, three or five feet. On this wheel is distributed in small grooves the font of type, each kind of letter by itself, set in a perpendicular position. Extending from the said wheel are a number of keys similar to those of an organ or piano, which upon being touched with the finger immediately stops the rotary motion of the wheel, carrying round with it the type, and puts in operation a small piston which strikes upon the end of the specified letter designed for use, thereby placing it in, what is called by printers, the stick. This stick is also caused to move in such manner as to receive the wanted letter.—The machine is designed to work by steam, and the only animated substance necessary to keep it in operation would be an ingenious editor who could finger the keys and compose editorial as the wonderful invention progressed. If the above machine proves effectual (which for the entire consolation of printers we know cannot) art has only one thing more to produce in the way of printing, and that is an artificial editor, who can bring out prose, poetry, blank verse and every other style of composition, such as will suit a heterogeneous taste—thus furnishing material to keep the locomotive type-setter in constant operation.

SHOCKING MURDER. A murder of the most brutal character, says the St. Louis Republican, was committed by one James Layton, on the person of his wife. He was absent the whole day on which the deed was committed, and returned at night; he then, without any provocation whatever, began to beat his wife with a club, beating out her brains and breaking both her legs and arms. The murderer immediately absconded. Several persons were in pursuit, with hopes of capturing him.

ANOTHER. On Sunday, the 14th inst., another murder, if possible of a more brutal character than the above, by a man named Bean, also on his wife, at Brenton, New Hampshire. The previous evening, a friend of the deceased requested her to stop at his house, as he thought that she would not be safe with her husband; she refused, and remained. During the night, she was murdered by her husband; her face and head were horribly mutilated. The murderer is secured, and will undoubtedly be dealt with according to his deserts.

FRONT-STREET THEATRE. We were at Front Street on Saturday night. The house was good; the play went off well. The gas light was not so brilliant as it ought to have been; why, we are not able to say. To-night will be performed "Gil Blas" and "The Hunchback." In the latter, Mrs. Richardson will sustain the character of Julia, and Mr. Lennox that of Master Walter.—As this is a celebrated day, we have no doubt that many will celebrate the evening by repairing to Front street, to enjoy one, at least, among the best plays ever written.

MR. KOSOWSKI'S CONCERT. This distinguished pianist will give a concert at the Law Buildings this evening. Those wishing to enjoy a first rate musical treat should not omit the opportunity proffered them this evening. We refer to the advertisement in another column.

THE INDEPENDENT GREYS' BALL. It will not be forgotten that this patriotic military corps celebrate the birth night of the illustrious Washington in the way of a splendid ball at the Assembly Rooms this evening. We shall drop in and review the company, at the same time take a peep at the fairy forms as they float through the dance.

COOK'S SAW KNIFE. This is a very neat and most useful article, manufactured by Mr. W. Stillman. It is a cast-steel knife about a foot in length, with a set of excellent saw-teeth on the back, by which cooks will be enabled to prepare meat for cooking, with little or no trouble. These knives will prove extremely serviceable in families and on board vessels, and may be had at the kitchen furnishing, hardware and variety stores of this city.

A JULAP. Sutton, of Military Hall, sent us, on Saturday morning last, a "family glass," containing a julap made with fresh green mint! Being total abstinence men ourselves, we handed it over to our old friend "Chips," who pronounced it O. K. Guess making julaps is a poor business these temperance times.

DEATH FROM IMPERMEANCE. Two men, named Murphy and Jones, were recently frozen to death in New York state. Both cases are said to have proceeded from impermeance.

NORTH BALTIMORE TOTAL ABSTINENCE SOCIETY. We refer the reader to our advertising columns, where useful information can be obtained by the perusal of an advertisement having the above caption.

SHOCKING ACCIDENT. A young man named Gifford was killed at Dartmouth, Mass., on Wednesday last, by the bursting of his gun while in pursuit of game.

FIRE. The paper mill near Raleigh, N. C., was totally consumed by fire on Thursday last. Loss about $6,000.

The new Penal Code of Alabama, makes death by duelling murder in the first degree.

[Correspondence of the Baltimore Clipper.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20, 1841.

Last evening, the misunderstanding between Messrs. Pickens and Staley was removed by the friendly act of Mr. Evans, who was in the chair at the time the discussion took place. Mr. E., on leave, recapitulated the facts under which he had suffered the debate to proceed, and said he understood the strong language of Mr. Pickens as applying solely to the arguments of Mr. Staley, and not to his person. Mr. Pickens on being appealed to, admitted that such was the fact, and that his ridicule was intended to apply solely to the arguments of Mr. S. An admission was then made by the latter, and the affair is now considered as settled, although previous to the explanation a note had been sent by Mr. P. desiring an explanation from Mr. S.

This morning the house resumed the consideration of the civil and diplomatic appropriation bill, but without coming to any conclusion thereon. At half-past three a motion to adjourn prevailed.

The Senate was engaged in rather a sulky business, viz: the election of a printer for the next congress. The opposition senators all refused to vote, alleging that the joint resolution authorizing the election for a succeeding congress, had been exploded by the house some years ago. So Messrs. Blair & Rives were re-elected without opposition, but under a motion by the whigs that the election would be set aside so soon as they should have the power.

The resolution of Mr. Clay, for the repeal of the independent treasury law, was next taken up, and after some debate, the senate went into an executive session.

Much dissatisfaction is manifested by the ladies that they cannot be admitted on the floor of the senate. But should a motion to that effect prevail, our senators would all become cross-eyed; for they would certainly be looking at the chair and the ladies at the same time. In the house of commons in England, they are remarkably rigid on such subjects. The speaker, Mr. Mansfield, on one occasion desired that certain ladies he observed should be requested to retire. A member denied that there were any ladies on the floor. The speaker said, "Well, I am sure I saw petticoats." This was a delicate way of avoiding the lie direct.

The weather is delightful, and the numerous visitors are thronging the avenue in high glee. The unfortunate driver of Mr. Adams' carriage, referred to in my letter of Thursday, is dead. I understand he has lived with Mr. Adams more than twenty years.

A WOMAN BURNED TO DEATH. A Mrs. Sarah Twisher was a few days ago burned to death in a shocking manner at a public house in Montgomery Co. N. J. Flames were seen in her room and on some persons repairing thither, found the unfortunate woman lying on the bed which was burning around her. She was immediately removed, but life was extinct.

IRON ORE IN SARATOGA COUNTY. The Ballston Spa Gazette of the 9th inst. contains a communication describing an extensive bed of iron ore in the town of Hadley, which is said to produce iron of the best description, and from its being located on a steep sidehill, can be worked with trifling expense.

AT A MEETING OF THE WHIG MEMBERS OF THE LEGISLATURE OF MASSACHUSETTS, on Wednesday evening, the hon. Rufus Choate was nominated as a candidate for election to the U. S. Senate, to succeed Mr. Webster. The election takes place on Tuesday, the 23d inst.

THE INSANE. The number of applications for admission to the Vermont Asylum for the Insane, has been so great of late, that the present building is too small to accommodate them. The trustees are about adding another wing to the building.

THE BROOKLYN MURDER. Wm. H. Stokes has been tried and honorably acquitted for the murder of Master Phelps, some time ago, in Brooklyn, N. Y. It is thought that he has been the victim of a malicious revengeful conspiracy.

THE DISEASE SPREADING. The cashier of the Public Bank of the Colony was tried at Nassau, (N. P.) on the 23d ult., for embezzling and appropriating to his use the sum of six thousand pounds sterling. Great efforts were made to get him acquitted, but they were unsuccessful.

GUILTY. Mathias Varina was tried at Boston on Wednesday last for the murder of Capt. Jas. Brown, on board the schr. Hero, and found guilty. He will probably be sentenced to ten years in the state prison.

THE STEAMER BRITANNIA. The Boston mail had not arrived at New York when the cars left for the south. It was expected that the detention was on account of the arrival of the steamer. We will undoubtedly have her news to-day.

OFFICE HUNTERS. A pack of these worthies started from New Orleans for Washington with about six bushels of written documents, to prove their claims for a share in the spoils.

COUNTERFEITS. Fives, tens and twenties, on the Bank of Illinois, Shawanetown, are in circulation in that State—letter C. 1339. Be on your guard.

IMPRISONMENT FOR DEBT. A bill is before the legislature of Massachusetts to abolish imprisonment for debt. It is probable it will pass.

THEATRICAL. Backstone and Mrs. Fitzwilliam are still at New Orleans. Ranger is in Mobile doing the thing handsomely.

COUNTERFEITING. A man named Russell has been arrested in Troy, Ohio, last week, for counterfeiting bills of the bank of the United States.

LUXURIES. They had fresh shad and lettuce in the Norfolk market last week.

MARRIED. On Thursday, 18th inst. by the Rev. Francis A. Harden, JOHN L. LANE to Miss ELIZABETH BARLOW, both of Anne Arundel county.

DIED. On the 19th inst. of a lingering illness, in the 62d year of her age, MARGARET ROSSILL, wife of Joseph Rossill.

On the 19th inst. in the 43d year of her age, CATHERINE M. EVANS, wife of Richard Evans.

On the 18th inst. CATHERINE, infant daughter of Hugh and Henrietta Cunningham, aged 7 weeks.
