DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

The complex form of this small building reflects a series of expansions upon a two-story, two bay wide by one bay deep, gable-roofed structure which faces west. The right (south) bay of this section holds the entrance, and two 1/1 sash windows are evenly spaced on the second story. A single 1/1 window is centered on each story of the south gable. A full-height shed addition extends from the north gable; from this, a one-story gabled wing projects to the west. This ell is two bays wide by one bay deep, and has an interior brick chimney at its west gable. A one-bay-square shed addition occupies the crook of the ell.

The building is clad in aluminum siding, with an asphalt shingle roof. The overall size and proportions suggest that this house is at least partly of log construction.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

This building appears to be one of the earliest residences in Odenton, and its several expansions reflect its owners' changing needs over its long period of use.
