Highland Beach, Maryland

c. 1899

Private Residence

The Greene House is a one and one half storey cottage that is located in the historic black town of Highland Beach. It has a stucco exterior finish which is atypical of the houses in this community. It retains much of the original interior plan and materials thereby becoming a critical element in this town for further study and evaluation.

This cottage is single storey, pier foundation house with a stucco finish. It has a control plan with wing extension. An enclosed six bay screened porch supports the overhang from the shed type roof. The Greene House is located in Highland Beach on a block that is bounded by Bay Avenue to the north, Wayman Avenue to the east, Douglass Avenue in the south and Langston Avenue towards the west. It is situated several yards from the sandy beach facing the Chesapeake Bay. The vegetation on the lot is dense grasses and thorny evergreens. Also, there are several full grown trees. The soil is sandy and the land slopes towards the Bay.

The eastern view of the house faces the Chesapeake Bay and it is the principal entrance. The facade is two bays wide and has two symmetrical windows, casement type with four square lights over four rectangular lights. The screened porch supports a shed roof with eaves supported by exposed brackets. The seven bay porch encircles the eastern view of the house and is composed of screen and wood vertical and horizontal supports.

The southern view of the house exhibits the wing which is extended from the central block plan. It is supported by a pier foundation and is one bay wide. Multi-paned windows are recessed into the facade of these views. The finish is stucco and the trim of the house is painted a contrasting color.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

see "Highland Beach Settlement"

Highland Beach, Maryland is a historic black town that was founded by the son of Frederick Douglass. The town was conceived by Haley R. Douglass in the late nineteenth century to be a resort community for prominent blacks. Highland Beach is a unique existing reminder of town planning and architectural history as it relates to vernacular and high style design as exhibited by black people. Most of the architecture in Highland Beach is located on the original sites and building expansions were performed within a ten to fifteen year time frame. This provides us with a concise history of design, space planning, and architecture in a homogeneous, extant community.

All of the cottages that were constructed prior to 1930 are important elements related to town planning and design. It is important that these houses retain their originality in terms of plan design, lot orientation, interior decoration, and architectural aesthetics in order to preserve the concept of space and the dynamics of community development in this historic black town.

The Greene House is one of the thirteen original houses in Highland Beach. It was owned by the son of Frederick Douglass - Joseph Douglass a violinist. This small cottage was typical of many of the second and third generation house types in the community.
