DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

This large frame house is 2 and one half stories high, three bays wide by one bay deep, and faces southwest. The principal facade is symmetrical, with a transomed entrance in the central bay flanked by 1/1 sash, three 1/1 sash above, and a pointed sash window in the central cross gable lighting the attic. A one-story porch with scrollwork brackets extends across the facade. A brick interior chimney rises from the peak of each gable.

This building diverges from the typical late 19th century Maryland center-gable house form in that a full-height ell adjoins the west gable and projects forward. The ell has a gable facade with a central entrance flanked by 2/2 windows and sheltered by a porch with unadorned posts, a single 2/2 window centered on the second story and a round-arched sash in the peak.
